

HOLY HOWLER EXCHANGE SWATS AND JEER PAPERS

Talker of Carbled Tongues Offers His Face to a Sinner and Latter Hits Him in the Eye—Newspaper Man is Invited to Establish a Sheet in Paradise.

"I offered my eye to the sinner and the sinner struck it. I offered the other eye to the sinner and he struck it also. I offered my whole self to the sinner, and he kicked me in the ankles—the very part of the body which makes a person who has not received his penance feel like fighting. But I had received my penance and I did not want to fight.

"No, I took the blows and I would not return them," said smiling in the calm strength of knowledge that he could, were he in the exercise of sinful sinews, have returned three-fold every blow he received, Apostle Brown balanced himself for a second upon his right ankle.

"Brother Brown, the meeting is about to open," interposed a sinner. "Let's go inside and see how things are done at 313 Second street. But, by the way, do you really mean to say that you allowed a man to kick both your eyes and kick you on the ankles?"

Gets Hit in the Eye.

"I do, brother sinner. My friend who is a sinner and who is a small man, rebuked me for joining the tongues. I told him I wished to lead him to the Lord and he smote me upon the eye."

"You didn't hit back?" inquired the sinner with a wistful gaze at the arm that might have a propelling power of 180 pounds to the square inch.

"No, brother, I did not; the spirit was in me. I said to the sinful brother: 'God forgive you.'"

"And the sinner struck again?"

"He did, and he asked me 'how I liked that?' I said to him in reply, 'Glorify be to God.'"

"You didn't ever feel?" ventured the sinner, "like returning the swat?"

"No, brother, no. The sin was out and the spirit was in me, and when I got that kick in the ankles, a kick that when I was in sin would have made me whip three men, I simply said, 'Hallelujah! I took those blows painfully.

My eyes were blackened and shins pained, but I forgave the blows and I felt no desire to strike back."

"Brother Brown," said the sinner, "when you say you had no desire to strike back you may be considered a commendable liar."

"Brother sinner," said Brother Brown impressively, "if I were in a state of sin you are now I would give you an unmerciful swat for making that remark."

Lots of Cheek.

"You have an awful amount of cheek to come around to me and ask me about our religion after the way you have written us up!" exclaimed Mrs. Belle Crawford, a leader of the tangled tongues, when a reporter asked her for some particulars about her soul yesterday. "You have misrepresented us entirely."

"In what way, Mrs. Crawford?" was asked. "The meetings have been reported just as they happened and the speeches and the conversations just as they occurred."

"There was no need of reporting the speeches and conversations. People do not need to know anything about them. We are from the angels. The seal of death is on our foreheads. That is different from the seal of the beast which is planted upon the brow of the union laborer in San Francisco. But the seal of the devil is upon you!"

"You might tell me, Mrs. Crawford, why the seal has been placed upon me, and for the sake of humanity, how it may be removed."

"Oh, brother, by joining our party. Come, brother, and get your Pentecost! Through us sinners get their reward. But Mrs. Crawford, sinners may get their reward only through the unknown escort were sent by her husband?"

"That is as it may be," interrupted another apostle.

"I can talk in the unknown tongues—I know not how it is," said Apostle Hansen, a youth of 33. "I am called upon to speak by the spirit, and when the spirit stops me from speaking, I don't speak. My tongue seems to refuse to work. I talk with other men gifted with the powers and they understand me. The newspapers can't interpret correctly."

"Speak a little in the tangled tongues," was requested.

"I can't move a bit of excitement at the spirit stops me from speaking. I would like to, but the spirit does not move me at present."

MAY MEYERS ARE ONE NO LONGER

Wife Gets Divorce, Alimony and Care of Children by Decree of Judge Sears.

BOTH WELL KNOWN ON OTHER SIDE OF SEA

Husband, a Noted Artist Who Married London Society Girl, is Now Accused of Calling Her a Washerwoman—Divorced Once Before.

Because her husband called her a washerwoman, Mrs. Gertrude May Max Meyer, daughter of an English nobleman, believed that she was justified in suing her artist husband for divorce. Mrs. Max Meyer told the story of her troubles to Circuit Judge Sears yesterday afternoon and she succeeded in making the judge see things her way. The divorce was granted with $15 a month alimony and the custody of the children.

Mrs. Gertrude May Max Meyer is a daughter of the late Lord Justice Willis of the king's bench, who for many years held that exalted position in the British judiciary. She is one of the many descendants of the noted Willis house and every month of her life she is said to receive a remittance of $40 from her family in England. Her husband, by the way, is not so insignificant a personage himself. He is Louis Richard Max Meyer, a descendant of a cultured German family and known in Portland as Chamberlain, which now adorns the capitol at Salem.

Wife Former Society Belle.

The Max Meyers met in London some 20 years ago, when Louis Richard was an ambitious young artist and when Gertrude May was a belle of an exclusive social set. They were married in 1889, sailing soon afterward for America. Both were proud and high strung and family troubles soon arose. Four children were born, but in 1891 there was a divorce. Mrs. Max Meyer resided in Tacoma several years, living on her income from England. Then there was a reconciliation and the two were reunited by Justice Reid of Portland December 27, 1901.

The second term of married life was more stormy than the first. While the artist was chastising one of the children last August the wife intervened and received a blow on the arm from the switch. For this offense the husband was arrested and compelled to appear in the police court. He declared that the blow was accidental, the court believed him and he was discharged.

Picketed His Store.

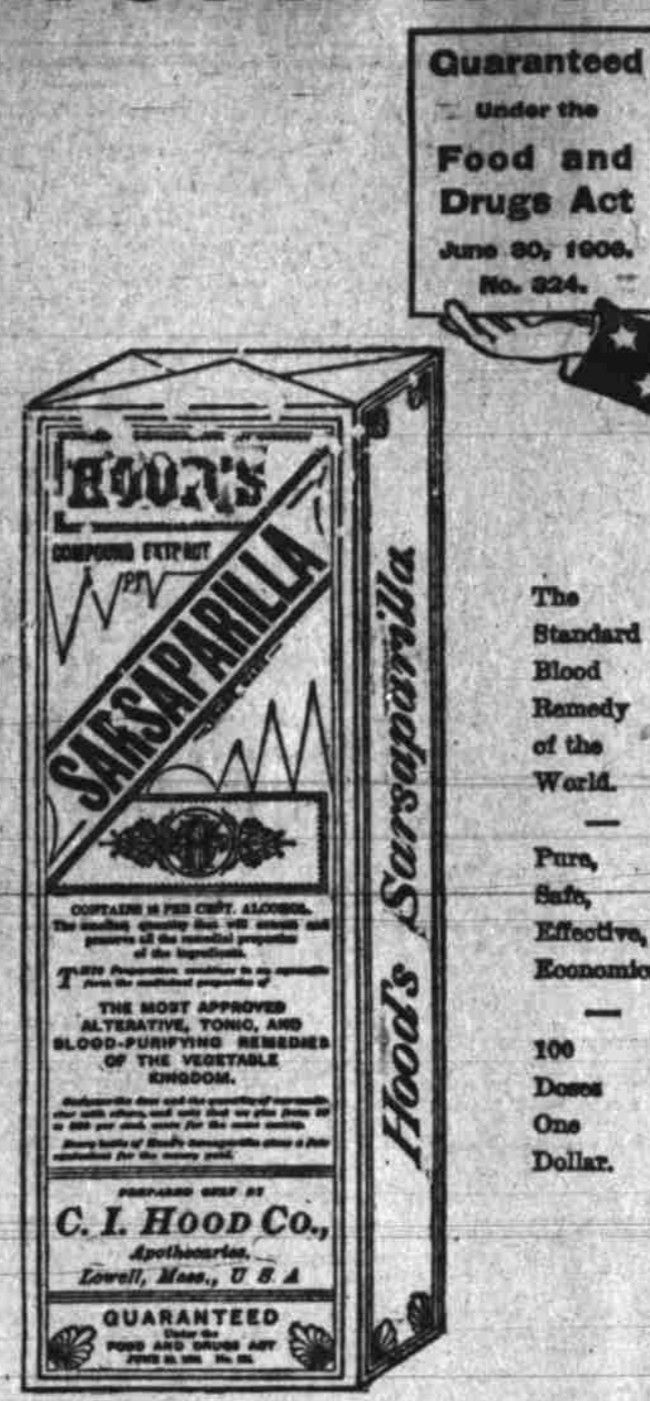

After that there was no more living together for the Max Meyers. The husband swore he had been so humiliated that he could not kiss and make up. An understanding was reached and Max Meyer paid his wife a stipend on the tenth of every month. On January 2, however, she ran out of cash. She called at her husband's store, the "Art of Epitaphs," and asked for the money. He refused to give it and she made a scene. Taking up a position in the center of the store the wife is said to have cried out tragically to the crowd of customers:

"Ladies, this is my husband. He refuses to support me."

When asked while on the stand yesterday to describe in what way her husband had been cruel to her, the plaintiff hesitated for a moment, then cried out:

"He called me a washerwoman!"

PICKETS GET MORE MEN TO JOIN STRIKERS

Trouble is Narrowly Averted, However, When Men Urge Loyal Motorman.

A gang of union pickets, several working carmen and a half dozen policemen caused a bit of excitement at Second and Washington streets last evening. Clubs were swung vigorously by the police, revolvers were flashed by the non-unionists and the strikers succeeded in winning over three recruits.

The incident grew out of the work of a gang of about 40 pickets, who left the carmen's headquarters shortly before 7 o'clock. At Second and Washington several cars were boarded and the platform men urged to leave their posts. Two men quit an Alberta car and one left his place on a Russell-Shaver car, and for a few minutes the crossing was blocked. The pickets swarmed on the waiting cars.

One motorman named Coffey swung his crank at the head of a picket named Collins and the latter grappled him. Others joined in the melee, and had not a number of policemen arrived it is possible that some one would have been hurt. As it was, Collins was roughly handled by the policemen.

Extra Men Ready.

The blockade was broken by Superintendent Palmer, who had been apprised that trouble was brewing and was ready with extra men to move the rolling stock. The whole day relief, which had been held at police headquarters since 5 o'clock in expectation of trouble, was rushed to the scene and unceremoniously broke up the crowd.

The strikers were highly elated with their measure of success. They declare that in all 11 carmen quit the company and joined the union. Manager Fuller, on the other hand, stated last night that so far he has lost but 99 of his regular employes on account of the strike. The whole number of platform men he put at 799.

Soon after the demonstration at Second and Washington a railroad torpedo was exploded at Second and Alder and the loud report caused some more excitement.

APOSTOLIC LIGHT WILL SHINE FROM PORTLAND

Salem, Or., Jan. 12.—Rev. M. L. Ryan, pastor of the Apostolic mission in this city and publisher of the Apostolic Light, official organ of that sect, will move his printing plant to Portland and will publish his paper from that city. Mr. Ryan on December 19 obtained the power of writing in unknown languages, but still writes in pure, virile English for his publication.

"The work of the mission here in Salem is to be continued," said he. "Workers from Los Angeles will be here later."

PLAN TO BUILD TUNNEL UNDER ENGLISH CHANNEL

(Heart News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Paris, Jan. 12.—Plans for the piercing of a channel tunnel progress apace and it will be a matter of a few months before work will actually be commenced. If the consent of the British parliament can be obtained.

The engineers who will undertake the work are most optimistic as to its results, chiefly on account of the evenness of the ground through which they have to bore. Among the strata underlying the channel is one of chalk 40 or 50 yards in thickness.

LASSO DROWNING CHINESE FROM WATERY GRAVE

Floods Cut Off Rail Communication Between Monterey and San Francisco.

(Heart News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Pacific Grove, Cal., Jan. 12.—Five Chinese who were attempting to escape from the floods in the lowlands in Salinas valley had their boat upset in the eddy and were found, almost exhausted, clinging to the willows. They were rescued by vaqueros, who threw their lassoes over them and hauled them to the shore near the railroad bridge. One of the men died subsequently from exposure. Just after the rescue, a relief train from Pacific Grove, with a boat and boat's crew, reached the scene, but their services were no longer needed.

The floods in the lowlands cut off all railroad communication between Monterey and San Francisco.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED BY "ACTINA"

Ninety-five per cent of all cases of deafness brought to your attention is the result of chronic catarrh of the throat and middle ear. The noise in the head, the ringing in the ears, the discharge from the ears, the clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed a cure is impossible. The inner ear cannot be reached by probing or syringing. The ability of specialists to always give relief. That there is a scientific cure for most forms of deafness and catarrh is demonstrated by the use of "Actina" treatment. The vapor current generated by "Actina" passes through the Eustachian tubes into the middle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions as it passes through the tubes, and loosens up the ossicles. The vibrations in the inner ear, making them respond to the slightest vibration of sound. "Actina" has seldom failed to stop ringing noises in the head. We have helped people troubled with this distressing symptom for years to be completely cured in a few weeks by this wonderful invention. "Actina" also cures laryngitis, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, whooping cough, and all other troubles that are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. "Actina" is sent on trial postpaid. Write us about your case. We will give free advice and positive proof of cures. CARUSO'S FRIENDS RESENT A BURLESQUE

(Heart News by Longest Leased Wire.)

New York, Jan. 12.—Signor Caruso not long ago was fined $10 for alleged liberty with women in the Central Park monkey house, and today his countryman, Nicholas de Tenadi was fined the same amount for resenting a burlesque of the famous tenor at the Gotham theater in Harlem by throwing decayed eggs. Led by de Tenadi over a score of Caruso's Italian admirers went to the theater last night and when Bernard Gerard, made up like Caruso, gave his imitation of the noted singer, the stage scene resembling a monkey house, dozens of odorous eggs were hurled at him. Several of the eggs hit Gerard and exploded. The performance was stopped and de Tenadi was arrested.

TWO PERISH IN WRECK ON COLUMBUS SOUTHERN

(Publishers Press by Special Leased Wire.)

Circleville, Ohio, Jan. 12.—A mixed passenger and freight train on the Columbus Southern railroad crashed through the bridge watch spans Salt creek, near Haynes, Ohio, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Two of the crew were drowned and the passengers saved themselves by swimming out of the creek. Engineer Robert Crane and Fireman George Justice of Laurelville went down with the engine, and before they were able to crawl out of the cab were drowned. The passenger coach slid into the creek right side up and the occupants were able to scramble out and swim to shore.
