WEATHER REPORT.

Storm southeast warnings were ordered yesterday morning at 9 o'clock for a moderate to heavy rain, accompanied by a strong wind velocity of 20 miles from the southeast occurred yesterday afternoon at North Head, and the maximum wind velocity at that station was 30 miles from the southwest. The report from Trough Island was missing last night and the industry at that station is not known. This disturbance caused moderately heavy rain in the sound country west of the Willamette valley, and eastern Washington.
