PULSE OF BUSINESS BY A. S. MONROE The Economy Jar, manufactured by the Kerr Glass Manufacturing company, is the invention of a Portlander that is gaining popularity all over the east, as well as the west, both with private families and business. This jar has overcome several defects in the older style, making it most popular with housewives who have trouble putting up fruit and vegetables so they will keep perfectly. The Economy Jar seals itself airtight in the fewest and fewest seconds, and it seals itself, so that the housekeeper knows at once there is trouble in camp and can remedy it with no great loss of time or fruit. The jar has large mouths affording the entrance of the largest kinds of fruit, vegetables, and the caps are gold lined, making them free from the danger of contact with fruit acids. They are perfectly sanitary, using no rubber rings, and are easily and readily sealed or opened.

The Chapman Advertising company has its own composing-rooms, where a large number of advertisements put out for various firms are set up in a specially cast type, thus securing a strong, prominent effect in less space than would otherwise be possible. All the fancy types are avoided and only the plain, dignified and simple ones chosen. This is one more enterprising move on the part of this progressive Portland advertising agency.

The Wonder Millinery establishment is getting in its spring hats in large numbers, great quantities of fruit in beautiful rich-tones being noticeable in the trimmings. Mr. Solomon says in a short time now the entire stock will be in place.

LARGE BET Two Iowa Physicians Wager $10,000 on Consumption Cure Comments by a Philadelphia Specialist

Fort Dodge, Ia.—Physicians in this section and throughout the United States are watching with much interest the controversy between Dr. J. W. Kime and Dr. T. H. Lindsey. $10,000 is involved on a wager in the most successful treatment for consumption. Dr. Kime, who is a well known authority on many medical questions and a member of the State Board of Health, maintains that no drug can cure the disease, but believes in the open air exclusively. While Dr. Lindsey of Cedar Rapids, a doctor of equal prominence, takes the stand in favor of a drug specific and discredits the value of the open air method. Patients of about the same vitality have been selected and the tests are now under way.

Commenting on this wager a renowned specialist of the Philadelphia Clinic states that the most effective treatment so far attained is the combination of both fresh air and certain drugs. This was amply demonstrated in the experimental camps in the pine forests of Maine, where so many remarkable cures were made. He also states that this treatment can be followed out by any patient in their own homes if they will adhere to it persistently.

Plenty of out-door exercise and at all times breathing very deeply in order to force the air into all parts of the lungs. This will soon become a habit and the medicine that was used is pine, the greatest stimulant known for the mucous membranes and pulmonary organs. For this purpose get the Concentrated oil of pine, mix one half ounce with a half pint of good whiskey and add two ounces of glycerine. This must be well shaken and used in tablespoon doses every four hours.

The concentrated oil of pine can be obtained at any prescription drugist's, but care should be taken not to get the imitations. The real article always comes put up in half-ounce vials, securely sealed in round air-tight screw-top cases, which protect it from light and heat.

ROBBER WHO TURNED STATE'S EVIDENCE FREED District Attorney Manning has notified Sheriff Stevens to liberate Heinie Hasman, who has been held in jail for the past year as a witness against his pal, D. C. Kelly, whom he helped to send to the penitentiary for life. A crowd of men in a suburban saloon. One of them resisted and struck one of the robbers, supposedly Hasman, over the head with a club.

The robber shot and killed his assailant and both escaped. Later they were arrested on suspicion, but none of their victims could identify them, and there was no evidence to hold them except a wound on Hasman's head. They would have been discharged, but Hasman was induced to turn state's evidence and to send the less guilty man to prison for life. Hasman was held in jail for several months after the conviction in anticipation of Kelly's being given a new trial.

PERSONAL Dr. Annie Myers, wife of Jefferson Myers, who for three years has held the office of second auditor of the National Suffrage society, was retired yesterday at the annual meeting which was held in Chicago. Dr. Myers has been re-elected to the auditor's chair three successive times, and owing to the fact that she has been unable to attend any of the meetings in the east, sent word to the session that she would prefer if her name was not used again. She recommended for the position Mrs. Mary Sperry of San Francisco, and it is understood that the latter has been elected auditor.

SUBSIDY STOCK FOR THEATRE East Siders Responding to Appeal to Help Establish Grand Avenue House.

OVER ONE FOURTH IS ALREADY PROMISED

Strong Protest is Being Made Against Erection of Wooden Depot by Southern Pacific—Brick or Stone Considered Suitable.

East Side Department. Principally through the efforts of W. L. Ennis, 10 property-owners have subscribed $10,000 of the $20,000 that the committee hope to raise and which is the amount necessary to assure the erection of the big east side playhouse which is planned for Grand avenue. Today the committee are at work on a systematic scheme of soliciting and will spend the week canvassing all districts east of the river. They will meet in the rooms of the East Side club each evening and report the progress of the work. Following are the committees on the canvass:

East Side Improvement Association—Whitney L. Boise, H. H. Newhall, J. M. Healy, H. H. Prouty and Thomas Gifford. To this committee, which will make the principal canvass in Central East Portland, has been added John P. Sharkey, W. H. Hall and several others who have volunteered to assist.

East Side Business Men's Club—H. A. Calf, H. H. Prouty, V. C. Dunning, Dan Kellaker and R. A. Wilson. Mount Tabor Improvement Association—G. Evert Baker, Frank J. Perkins, William Oerturfer and J. A. Eastman. Woodstock Park Citizens' Club—H. E. Brown, Charles H. Brownson, H. E. Watson and C. Ben Riedland. Woodlawn Improvement Club—L. A. Bosella, W. M. Calk and M. Diamond. Montavilla Board of Trade—William Deveny, C. T. Evans and Frank Spurgeon.

Montavilla Improvement League—O. E. Carter, E. Epton and D. McMillan. Brooklyn Republican Club—A. L. Barber, J. A. Cline, Waldemar Seton, A. E. Bushlight, George Prosser and L. B. Dabe. Sellwood Board of Trade—E. D. Curtis, J. F. Gertcher, J. W. Campbell, D. M. Donough and L. J. Hicks.

The shares are $10 each and bear 6 per cent interest. Mr. Ennis states that no one who has been approached by him has refused to take all the shares that were asked. It is not the purpose to have one property-holder take a large block of the shares. They will be divided as far as possible and, with over one fifth of the amount already subscribed, it is thought little effort will be required to get the remainder.

Against Wooden Depot. Members of the East Side Business Men's club, who are mostly interested in the erection of the new east side depot for which a permit has already been secured by the Southern Pacific, met last night in the office of H. A. Calf, on East Morrison street, to take some action to prevent the erection of the depot as planned.

There is no legal way to prevent the construction of a wooden building now and so it was decided to make the protest direct to Manager O'Brien. They will ask that a brick or stone building be placed there instead of a wooden building, and the committee to do this was appointed, including the following: E. M. Brannick, O. M. Scott, M. R. McPaul, G. O. Graves, L. R. Darrow, A. H. Willard and Councilmen Bennett and Kellaker.

The feeling is very strong in this matter but no demands will be made of the company. They feel that this is not the proper spirit on the part of the neighbors. They are in favor of the depot if not something more. The east side is willing to bear the traffic of the Southern Pacific lines and thinks that this is a courtesy that is only due the east side. The effect on insurance rates will mean considerable to the big warehouses and the district can never come to its own until the wooden buildings there are supplanted by concrete or stone. The fire limits will be extended at the council's pleasure, but it is feared that they affect this building, which was hurried accordingly.

Charley Ott, a ratchet setter in the Lents sawmill is laid up on account of an injury received last Saturday while at work. A log fell on his foot, nearly smashing the heel.

The Mount Scott News, a thriving weekly at Arleta, moved into a new building yesterday. The growing business in the job department demands more commodious quarters. A better location has been chosen on the Mount Scott line between Arleta and Kern Park.

Lents is to have a livery and feed stable building is being erected for that purpose now. The Arleta baseball team met defeat at the hands of the Laurelwood aggregation Sunday in a good game by a score of 13 to 5. Stumpert and Parker were the stars against the Arleta battery, Pete and Haney, and won out in a closely contested argument.

The Lents band is doing great work and expects to have a strong organization by summer. There are now 24 pieces in the instrumentation.

FREE RIDES AT LAST FOR ALL Car Rushes Transferred Passengers Along East Water to Hawthorne Avenue.

If you are nursing a grudge against the Portland Railway, Light and Power company perhaps you will feel better if you go to East Water street and ride to your heart's content. Here is presented the only perfectly safe opportunity in the city for carrying out the "no seat, no fare" slogan. No fares are asked and the car is all free. East Morrison street to Hawthorne avenue. East Water street, since Madison street bridge was disabled, has suddenly become a popular thoroughfare. Throngs of people who are dependent upon the Madison street bridge to reach their homes pass along this street. Hundreds are in such a hurry that they cannot wait for the car that runs almost continuously from one end to the other at about 50 miles an hour in a cloud of dust that gives it the appearance of an approaching cyclone. They walk and eat the dust and are granted the opportunity of viewing their less hurried companions spin by in time to catch their car at Hawthorne avenue.

HIGHER PAY BECAUSE THEY WORK 12 HOURS City Hostlers Given Advance—Provision for Fourth Captain of Police.

In order to protect the city from any litigation in the future the council ways and means committee yesterday afternoon raised the wages of four hostlers in the city barn from $2.35 a day to $3 a month. The increase was granted at the request of Street Superintendent Donaldson, who said the men worked 12 hours a day, or four hours more than the legal limit. The increase granted will be considered only as pay for extra work, and before they receive it each month the men must sign a contract protecting the city's interests.

Here an interesting legal question arises. Some of the men have been working more than a year and others two years at the rate of $2.35 for 12 hours' work. The legal day is eight hours. Lawyers say these men may collect extra wages from the city at the proportionate rate they would receive for each hour of the charter day.

Seed-Gifford was retained as lieutenant in the police department and his salary was increased from $90 to $100 per month. Gifford had been transferred from the police to the fire department, where he was to serve as assistant superintendent of telegraph. The civil service commission ordered him to take another examination for the new position and he declined to do so. The committee acted as it did to keep Gifford in his old place. Electricians who were present at the meeting said that a man of his ability could easily earn from $2.50 to $4 a day.

The committee recommended an appropriation for the salary of a fourth captain of police. This salary has been held up because Mayor Lana had refused to appoint a permanent chief of police. The mayor made the appointment a few days ago, and so the committee released the salary.
