WEATHER REPORT.

The barometer has fallen decidedly on the Pacific slope, and light rains are reported in California and southern Nevada. Rain also occurred yesterday in the sound country and along the Washington coast. The two eastern disturbances have united and formed a single low pressure area, which is now central over New England. Light snow has occurred generally in the Ohio valley, lake region, middle Atlantic and New England states. The high pressure area yesterday north of the Dakotas has increased in intensity and moved southeastward. This high pressure area has caused a moderate cold wave in the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and the lake region.

The indications are for rain in this district Friday.
