AT THE THEATRES

Last Time "Broadway" Tonight.

Klaw & Erlanger are presenting Corinne, Scott Welch and an excellent cast and chorus in George M. Cohan's comedy, with music, "45 Minutes From Broadway," at the Heilig theatre, Fourteenth and Washington streets. Tonight will afford your last opportunity of seeing it. Curtain at 8:15 o'clock.

"Butterfly" Tomorrow Night.

The musical and society event of the season, "Madame Butterfly," Puccini's Japanese grand opera, will be given at the Heilig theatre tomorrow (Thursday) night, continuing Friday and Saturday nights with a matinee Saturday. This beautiful grand opera will be presented by Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera company. Seats are now selling at box office the theatre for the entire engagement. Good seats may still be had for any performance. Gallery general admission seats will be placed on sale at the gallery box office, Fourteenth street, on night of performance. Come early.

Primrose Minstrels Next Sunday.

George Primrose and his big minstrel company will play an engagement of two nights at the Heilig theatre next Sunday and Monday, March 10 and 11. There was a time when the public would stand for a so-called minstrel show to appear in oriental scenes and costumes, powdered wigs and painted faces. In its place has come the merry darkey fun intermingled with up-to-date songs and humor, led by George Primrose. Seat sale opens next Friday.

Baker's "Mizpah" Well Liked.

That the theatre-going public appreciates a departure from the usual play is evidenced by the throngs which have been attending "Mizpah" at the Baker this week. The demand for seats has surpassed expectations. "Mizpah" is Ella Wheeler Wilcox's dramatization of the Biblical story of Esther. As a spectacle it could hardly be excelled. Matinee Saturday.

A Campaign of Merriment.

That's the purpose of Black Patti's Troubadours in coming to the Empire. The first gun in the campaign will be fired tomorrow night. Such songs as "A Royal Coon" and several other musical hits which are new to Portland will be introduced by these fun experts. Matinee Saturday.

"Black Sheep" Next Week.

"A Black Sheep" is one of the very best plays that Hoyt ever wrote, and Hoyt's plays are all considered good. It will be presented by the Baker stock company next week, and the interest that has already been manifested in the production indicates great popularity. "A Black Sheep" will likely be one of the best drawing attractions ever offered by the Baker management.

Last Chance for "Missouri Girl."

Tonight's is the last performance of "The Missouri Girl" at the Empire. Sadie Raymond and her company have drawn good houses, for the comedy-drama presented is one of unusual merit. Tomorrow night Black Patti's Troubadours begin their campaign of merriment. They will be at the Empire the remainder of the week. The production this year is vastly different from any seen here before.

"Wells of Wyoming."

The Lyric has a great play this week in the famous cowboy drama, "Wells of Wyoming." The stage pictures are beautiful, there are many new faces in the cast and the entire atmosphere of the theatre is changed for something better. "Wells of Wyoming"—both the play and the manner in which it is staged—is a triumph for realism.

Coin's Wonderful Dogs.

Educated dogs acting a play without the aid of a trainer on the stage is the novelty the Grand presents this week. Coin's dogs have an act dissimilar from anything else in the dog show line in this country. It is an act which pleases the children of all ages. Saturday there will be two matinees, one at 2:15 and the other at 3:45. This will enable all the youngsters to see the wonderful dogs. There are half a dozen other big acts on the bill.

Star's Cyclone Comedy.

"My Friend From India" is a steady and uninterrupted cyclone of comedy at the Star theatre this week. With Forrest Seabury as the barber and Verna Felton as the slavey, there is no end of fun and these two are reinforced by all the favorite Allen players. "My Friend From India" has lost none of its humor and it is raising more merriment this week than any previous play of the season.

TODAY'S MARKETS

George Burtt, of Scatena & Co., Says That Potato Prices Are Now at Bottom If Growers Do Not Hold and Let Eastern Stuff In.

GEORGE BURTT TALKS OF SPUDS

Says Potato Market Is Now About Bottom If Holders Feed San Francisco.

EASTERN POTATOES COME WITH HIGHER QUOTATION

Enormous Sales of Hops Made in the Past Few Days—Jim Pincus of Tacoma Estimates That Fully 2,000 Bales Have Been Sold.

Principal market features today:
Potato market at bottom.
Every one selling onions.
Vegetables arrived by steamer.
Mixed situation in egg market.
Chickens remain very scarce.
Enormous sales of hops are made.
Lively tone in dressed meats.

Burtt Tells of Potato Outlook.

George Burtt, local representative of Scatena & Co. of San Francisco, says that in his opinion the potato market has about struck bottom for the present season. Mr. Burtt objects to the recent statement by a rival San Francisco house that there were only 200 cars of potatoes in this territory. Mr. Burtt citing the fact that at the time the statement was published there were over 20 cars of potatoes held at Canby, while the report said that but five cars were held there. "I know there are fully 500 cars of potatoes in the state of Oregon at this time," says he. "The situation in the potato market is not so black as it looks and if the dealers will unload some of their surplus holdings and the farmers would not hold back their shipments the market will in all probability hold well the remainder of the season. If, however, the dealers and growers hold back their shipments for high prices they will cause another famine of supplies in California and thus induce eastern shipments again with its consequent lower prices. There is no truth in the published statements that we have sold all our eastern potatoes, but five cars arriving at the time the article was printed. Our firm still has potatoes and consequently does not want the market to go lower. We are likewise very heavy buyers of Oregon apples and our exports to the orient of this class of fruit are very heavy. It is to our interest not to give the growers the wrong tip on the markets."

Local Potatoes Are Steady.

While no great amount of business is reported in the local potato market, the tone remains quite steady, though somewhat dull. At the present range of prices—from $1 to $1.25 per hundred pounds—dealers say that shipments can be profitably made. It is the general opinion of the potato trade that present prices are bottom ones and that unless growers hold too long they will be able to dispose of their holdings to advantage.

There is nothing of interest in the onion situation, the tone being fully as dull and weak as ever.

A considerable amount of mixed vegetables arrived on the California steamer yesterday afternoon and was offered for sale along the street today. Demand is all lines good.

Apples are showing a greater scarcity every day and prices are firmer.

Enormous Sales of Hops Are Made.

According to Jim Pincus of Pincus & Sons of Tacoma, there have been enormous sales of hops in Oregon during the past few days. Mr. Pincus places the sales in the neighborhood of 2,000 bales, a very considerable business considering the general talk of dullness among the dealers. According to information received most of these sales are made at 10 cents or under, none of the dealers admitting the receipt of orders beyond the 10c mark. There are rumors that a large number of hop sales still remain uncovered and that the brewers are now calling for these deliveries. Some business in contracts is reported around the former range of figures.

Mixed Situation in Egg Market.

There is a badly mixed situation in the egg market at this time. Preparations are being made for cold storage operations on a heavy scale and this is scaring some of the dealers who find that in years when every one stored eggs the prices that ruled during the winter months were not high. At this time receipts are very heavy and those dealers who receive large supplies are forced to sell at the lower range of values. Prices today ruling between 17 and 17½ cents.

Chickens are very slow in arriving and the market is very firm with values close to the top. Some getting an advance for fancy hens.

Dressed meats of all kinds show firmness along the street today with prices at the top.

Orange trade is very heavy. Cars arriving now almost every day.

Wheat and flour firm, but unchanged. All grains holding well.
