

TO RECOVER LOGS FROM RIVER BEDS

Eastern Lumber Mills Driven to Strange Expedient to Get Material.

STREAM BOTTOMS COVERED WITH TIMBER

Plan is to Lift Logs With Hoisting Engines on Flat Boats—Compensate Original Owners by Their Marks.

(Journal Special Service.)
Minneapolis, Minn., March 8.—The scarcity of pine timber in the middle west has impelled lumber mills to engage in a novel undertaking by which they hope to save millions of dollars worth of logs which now lie at the bottom of the Mississippi and other rivers extending from the northern part of Minnesota, where the Mississippi has its source, to La Crosse, in all about 1,000 miles of riverbed. For 10 years logging has been carried on by rafting pine logs down the river to the various mills, guided by small steamers or tugs.

Old logging men and mill owners believe that the new undertaking will result in fortunes for those engaged in the work. It is believed that the river bottom is literally paved with pine logs even as far south as Dubuque, Iowa. It has been demonstrated that logs may be raised with great profit. The plan is to lift these logs with a hoisting engine erected on flatboats, place the logs on the river bank and have a government sealer inspect them and record the marks found thereon. When the original owner can be found he will be compensated at the rate of $8 per 1,000 feet. This represents just so much clear gain to the owner and still leaves a margin of profit to the hoisters, who can find a ready market for the reclaimed logs at from $12 to $14 a thousand feet.

The logs that become "deadheads" or "sinkers" are chiefly of the small variety, known to lumbermen as "pig iron" Norway. They seldom get to be more than 8 to 12 inches through at the butt and are heavy and soggy. Rivermen say a great many of these sink before leaving the landing, a few of them "deadhead" it down stream for a way, one end bobbing in the water until, thoroughly water-soaked, they sink to the bottom.

PROTEST SEATING OF APOSTLE REED SMOOT

(Journal Special Service.)
Salt Lake City, March 8.—An immense mass meeting held at the Salt Lake theatre last night under the auspices of the American party protested against the action of the United States senate in seating Senator Reed Smoot.

The meeting unanimously adopted a declaration "that the protest against the seating of Apostle Smoot was fully sustained by the evidence and that the senate, in reaching the judgment it did, departed from the record, ignored the proofs, claimed as facts essential things which had no support in evidence, fact of law, and decided the case on fictional propositions well known in Utah to be untrue."

"We declare, therefore," the declaration continues, "that the judgment rendered was a false judgment, precisely as a perverse judgment rendered in a court would be false if delivered under like circumstances and with like departure from fact, testimony and law."

CONNECTICUT TOWN HONORS GIRL MARTYR

After a Lapse of Seventy-Five Years Wronged Woman Is Reimbursed.

(Journal Special Service.)
Waterbury, Conn., March 8.—After a lapse of nearly 75 years the repentant town of Canterbury has arranged to pay honor tomorrow to the memory of Miss Prudence Crandall, whom it imprisoned for teaching colored girls to write. Tomorrow will be the seventy-fourth anniversary of Miss Crandall's condemnation.

Born of Quaker parents, Prudence Crandall possessed a fine fighting spirit. In 1827, when she conducted a select academy for young women at Canterbury, she admitted to membership Sarah Harris, colored. Connecticut was at that time strong for social equality, but it wanted that equality for itself. Miss Crandall was visited by a committee headed by Federal Judge Andrew T. Judson, who insisted upon the colored girl's immediate expulsion. In response Miss Crandall inserted an advertisement in the local newspaper to the effect that hereafter she would instruct only colored girls. In a rage, Canterbury held a town meeting, as a result of which Miss Crandall and Elder Kneeland, who was in the assemblage to pronounce her the only honest woman in all the township, were thrown into jail. Captain Daniel Packard effected their escape, after which Miss Crandall went to Kansas, where she rallied with John Brown, and died only 10 years ago. Now the town which condemned and imprisoned her 74 years ago has decided to issue a handsome memorial in her honor.

PERKINS RETURNS HIS CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, March 8.—George W. Perkins, former first vice-president of the New York Life insurance company and now a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., has sent to the New York Life his personal check for $54,019 to reimburse the company for the Republican campaign contributions made from its funds in 1904 in connection with which Mr. Perkins recently was made defendant on a charge of larceny.

Mr. Perkins declares that, in dismissing the criminal proceedings against him, the court intimated that the campaign contribution was not a proper corporate purpose. He again declares he was acting upon a request of the then president of the New York Life when he advanced the money for campaign purposes in 1904, and says that when the president reimbursed him there was no thought on the part of either of any personal advantage, but a belief that they were "acting for the best and broadest interests of the policy-holders, both at home and abroad."

Repeats Bribery Story.

(Journal Special Service.)
London, March 8.—The Madrid correspondent of the Telegraph says that as the result of much inquiry, he can confirm all the accounts given by the Havana Diario de la Marina of the alleged bribery of the United States senate to declare war on Spain. He asserts that official proofs of the story are now in the national archives at Havana, and he says further that the amount paid to the intermediaries in the plot was at least $5,000,000.

Sydney Mayoralty Fight.

(Journal Special Service.)
Sydney, N. S., March 8.—One of the most exciting political campaigns in the history of Sydney ends with today's municipal election. The contest for the mayoralty, with three candidates in the running, has attracted unusual interest. One of the issues that has complicated the campaign and attracted much attention is the question of civic assistance to convent schools.

Simply Swallow

Many Eat as Though They Were Blind and Their Tongues Cut Out

Dyspepsia is built on confidence—too much confidence in the ability of your stomach to digest anything and everything you put into it.

In this age we have developed speed in every line of action and we have also developed speed in mastication.

We don't take time to eat right, and sometimes we do not eat the right kind of food. Sometimes we carry our business to our meals and as a result eat mechanically. We eat as though we were blind and our tongues cut out. We simply swallow.

The result is that the food we eat is half chewed, and lies like a lump of lead on the stomach.

You may deny to yourself that you abuse your stomach, but when you get a bloated feeling, you can't deny you've got it.

When you get brash, eructations, burning sensations, bloating, aversion to food, loss of appetite, belching and other kindred ailments, there is not much use asking yourself, for the time being, why you suffer. The fact is you've got these ailments and the question of the hour is how to get rid of them at once, so that at your next meal you may be able to sit down and look at your meal straight in the face—with a keen appetite and a smile, and enjoy thoroughly everything you eat.

Just one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest an ordinary meal, without the help of the stomach. One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. The strongest stomach couldn't do the work any better than one of these wonderful little tablets can do it.

Each tablet contains the strongest digestive agents it is possible to obtain.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a patent medicine. We come out and say just what is in them—hydrastis, golden seal, lactase and aseptic pepsin. They are recommended by 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada.

And they are recommended by everyone who uses them—they eat for them immediately invigorate the stomach by letting it take a rest; they strengthen the gastric juice and cause the appetite to become keen and regular.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will surely destroy dyspepsia, brash, belching, that "lump of lead" feeling, burning sensations, indigestion, loss of appetite, and aversion to food.

Have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets handy where you can take one or two after each meal. Then you will know what a blessing it is to have a good appetite and to get all the good possible out of everything you eat. You'll feel rosy and sweet. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store on earth, 50c.

BRING GOOD HEALTH

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS USED AFTER GRIP'S ATTACK

Arrest Fatal Decline, Build Up the System and Restore Lost Flesh and Failing Strength.

Any bodily weakness caused by a deficiency in the blood can be cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills actually make new blood. After attacks of the grip the blood is generally run down and the patient continues to decline.

"About three years ago," says Mrs. Jennie Cowan of 718 N. Henry Street, West Bay City, Mich., "I caught a severe cold, which ran into the grip. I was confined to my bed for two weeks. At the end of that time I was able to be about, but was completely run down. I was so weak I could hardly stand, my cheeks had no color and I felt faint. My heart would flutter and it was difficult for me to breathe at times. Neuralgia settled in the back of my head and stomach and I suffered from rheumatism in my shoulders.

"I had the care of the best doctor in town but became no better until a friend told me one day how she had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I soon felt better and continued using them until I was entirely cured. They built me up again to perfect health and I use them now whenever I feel at all sick and they always help me."

The after effects of the grip are generally worse than the disease itself. The health of the body is badly shattered and oftentimes there seems to be no way to restore it. The blood is poor, the breathing difficult and there is loss of weight. The sufferer becomes nervous and irritable and the system is powerless to resist the attacks of such diseases as bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in this condition. They build up other blood diseases, because they not only drive off the germs of the disease but build up the system. The pills have cured anemia, rheumatism, after-effects of fever, neuralgia and many other severe disorders.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
