All Novelties in the WOOL GOODS

A late number of the leading dry goods journal of the country says:

"Voiles are most active, colored voiles are in strong demand. In colorings, Havana brown, tan biscuit, cream and light gray are the favorites.

"Fancy light weight worsted suitings, in white grounds, with markings of blues and blacks are selling well. Stripes are gaining in popularity." One would almost think the writer of this opinion had been inspecting our stock to draw his conclusions.

A Big Unordinary Curtain Sale

Monday morning begins a sale of odd pairs of Curtains that is a series of unusual bargains. Broken lines, where we have only one, two or three pairs of a kind, are sacrificed in a manner most surprising. Some are the curtains that we have used for samples and are slightly mused from handling, but none are noticeably marred, and all are perfectly good. The lot will include fine Arabians, Renaissance, Saxony Brussels, Irish Points, Clunys, etc.

The values are really phenomenal when you consider the qualities, and those with a window or two to curtain will do well to heed this advertisement promptly.

Authoritative Spring Styles In the Suit Salon

We're unpacking more new goods every day and now we are sure there's but little to ask in the way of a complete assortment. So many express shipments that railroads are beginning to think we're not having any freight shipments (and we're not having much luck in getting what is due by freight either).

New Silk Raincoats, some of the jauntiest styles ever produced, come in plain colors or fancy checks, plaids and stripes. Exceedingly attractive. Priced at $20 to ..... $42.50

New Suits are plentiful now, and the Eton model leads all the others, both in number and in popularity of selling.

The Eton jackets this season have short sleeves, most of them finished with lace or trimming. A close second to the Eton suit in popularity is the Pony jacket suit. These are very smart and more mannish than the Etons. Then there are the tight-fitting models for those who have plump figures, and the VERY new cutaway models, in the newest striped and checked materials.

The Eton Models nearly all come in light weight Panamas and voiles, light colorings are prominent in all models.

The Cutaway, Pony and tight-fitting coats come in more mannish materials.
