

KASH KASH THE UMATILLA BELLE

One of Many Notable Pictures in Second Volume of Souvenir Books.

CONTAINS PICTURE OF FAMOUS CAYUSE TWINS

Major Lee Moorehouse of Pendleton Prepares Another Book of Typical Indian Pictures—Contains Indian Palms and Legends of Red Men.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., March 16.—Major Lee Moorehouse of this city has recently completed the second edition of a souvenir book of famous Indian pictures, Anna Kash Kash, the Umatilla belle, of whom the above is a splendid reproduction, being among the collection.

The second edition includes besides many of the most famous pictures he has taken, poems and stories by eastern Oregon writers on Indian topics. The cover contains a picture of the famous Cayuse twins, which have been mentioned all over the country.

The following is a list of the most famous pictures in the book: "The Lonely Outpost of a Dying Race," "Tumwater Falls, on the Columbia, with an Indian Sentinel," "Wal-luluh," "Umatilla," "Chief Joseph, of the Nez Percés," "Paul Shewaway, Chief of the Cayuses," "Wap-a-Ne-ta," "The Lone Tepee," "Indian Mother and Babe," "Peo, Chief of the Umatillas," "Indian Camp Scene on the Umatilla Reservation," and "Rose Summer Hair and Fapoon." The souvenir book was printed on the press of the East Oregonian at Pendleton.

SMALLPOX AT MEDICAL LAKE INSANE ASYLUM

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Medical Lake, Wash., March 16.—Smallpox has broken out in this city at the insane asylum hospital. Nine cases up to date are reported, six of them insane patients, two attendants and the other the supervisor, R. E. Hurlburt. There was a rumor that the chief nurse was down with the disease, but this is untrue. The smallpox patients have all been confined to the upper floor of the building and that floor is closely guarded. There is no epidemic in the asylum proper and it is not thought there will be any.

Eber Bly, who had been working at Spokane, called on Dr. Hendrickson to find out what was the matter with him. As soon as the doctor saw him he said he had smallpox and that he must go home at once. The young man, whose home is within four miles of this city, had circulated around town considerably before going to see the doctor and many people here are in great terror of contagion.

Better City Government.

The following extract is from a review of the writings of Thomas C. Devlin, by the Inter Ocean of Chicago: "Mr. Devlin's work should be read and studied by thousands of patriotic citizens for the help it offers in solving the most difficult questions of the day. May we hope that our citizens, upon whom lies the responsibility of inaugurating these needed reforms, will read and act upon the sensible suggestions of Mr. Devlin on this important subject."

HIGHER FREIGHT RATE GRANTED

State Railway Commission Acts on Salem, Falls City and Western.

SHIPERS ACQUIESCE IN THIS FAVORABLE ACTION

Commissioners Meet at Dallas, Go Over the Line and Make the Ruling Out of Hand—Raise Affects Logs and Lumber.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Dallas, Or., March 16.—The state railway commission held an official meeting here today. The purpose of the meeting was to examine the application of the Salem, Falls City & Western railroad for increasing freight rates between Falls City and Dallas. The commission in a body went over the line to the terminal, accompanied by the officials of the company, talked with shippers along the line and investigated the situation thoroughly. After hearing testimony and without taking the matter under further consideration the commission granted the increase asked for. It was found that a majority of the shippers did not object to the increase in rates. The raise affects only lumber and log shipments. The commission returned to Salem this evening.

NOT AT HOOD RIVER

How Erroneous Announcement of Meeting There Had Its Origin.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hood River, Or., March 16.—The delayed visit of the state railway commission was explained yesterday, when Commissioner C. B. Atchison of Portland arrived in this city and said the announcement that the commission would visit here in a body was a mistake. Mr. Atchison stated that no complaints had been received by the commission of excessive rates at Hood River, and that his visit was for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the situation here and to consult with shippers in the office of the Mount Hood Railroad company and make some inquiries as to the sanitary condition of the stations. He afterward stated that he had found nothing to warrant an investigation by the commission at present. The commission met at Dallas today.

CAPITOL HILL HAS BEEN SUBDIVIDED

Thrown on the Market at Speculative Prices by Clohessey & Smith.

Quite a stir has been created in real estate circles by the throwing on the market of Capitol Hill, one of the most sought spots on the west side. Capitol Hill is located on two car lines, the Oregon Electric Railway, generally known as the Portland and Salem Interurban, and the new line through the tract for nearly the entire distance of the south and east end of it. It is estimated that more people will ride on this line than any other, from the fact that it runs through a section near the city that will support a large population.

The Oregon Electric Railway company is rushing construction with all possible haste and will be in operation through Capitol Hill by June of this year. For that reason Clohessey & Smith, the agents in the McKay building, will sell the lots for $200 on the spot, but after June 1, will advance the price to $300 for the cheapest lot. The S. P. R. R. Fourth street line has been running through Capitol Hill for 25 years. This line will soon be turned into an electric railway from Beaverton to Portland, making excellent transportation facilities for every part of Capitol Hill. The Oregon Electric railway, it is said, will establish stations for the accommodation of residents and maintain, perpetually, a 60 car fare to and from the business center of the city.

In speaking of the new tract this morning Mr. Clohessey said: "We are sure that the inducements to buy lots in Capitol Hill either for homes or speculation are such that investors will not go to justice to themselves without considering what it offers. Capitol Hill, while being comparatively cheap, while the speculative element has not been squeezed out of its lots, it still possesses all the advantages that a home seeker could possibly demand. It has a grand view, fine supply of water, no bridges to cross, splendid soil, and still has at the foot of its slope large mills and factories where hundreds of mechanics are employed. On the river moneyed men are buying up every available spot for industrial purposes. Capitol Hill will appeal to all those people, and they are numerous, who would prefer to buy on the west side when prices are within reach."

PEOPLE OF THE DALLES WANT CITY HALL BUILT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) The Dalles, Or., March 16.—The city council last night appointed a committee of three members of the council and three citizens to draft an amendment to the charter authorizing the submitting to a vote of the people of the question of the erection of a city hall, the matter to be decided at a special election under the initiative and referendum. The mayor will be added to the committee. A city hall to cost $25,000 is proposed and the amendment will provide that the city may bond itself for that amount. The people are almost unanimous in favor of the proposition and the bonds, when issued, will be taken by citizens of The Dalles.
