TODAY'S MARKETS

Never Have There Been Such Small Receipts of Livestock and Poultry as of Late in Portland Markets—Prices on Latter Hold.

SPRING LAMBS FIND A DEMAND

Dressed Meat Market Is Very Firm Although Receipt of Lambs Are Better.

DEALERS EXPECT EGGS TO TOUCH LOW POINT

Prices Now Being Boosted by Buyers Are Not Stocking Up at the Higher Values—No Poultry Coming for Jewish Passover.

Principal market features today:
Spring lambs find demand.
Dressed meat markets good.
Eggs hard to get over 22½c.
Few orders in hop market.
No poultry for holidays.
Wheat market a cent advanced.
Interior mills advance flour.

Spring Lambs Find Good Demand.

In the dressed meat markets of Front street today there was a very good demand for spring lambs. Receipts, however, were more liberal than usual and while the tone is as good as it ever was this season dealers were not quite so anxious to buy as a few days ago. The reason for this appears to be the larger arrivals. Shippers seem to have held back the bulk of their supplies until this time and as prices have not been low at any time the retailers believe they will not lose anything by holding back their purchases as much as possible. However, all arrivals that came in today were quite easily cleaned up around 14@15c a pound.

Dressed hogs and veal continue to display a very firm tone along the street and prices in many instances, especially for fancy stuff, are fractionally higher than those quoted. This is true of both veal and hogs.

Boosting Values in Egg Market.

In the egg market prices along the street both yesterday and today ruled between 22c and 22½c, although one or two single cases were reported sold to small dealers as high as 23c. However, those who know how to buy will not pay this extreme high value. Receipts of eggs, while not heavy, are fully up to the demand, for with the higher prices here the outside shipments have been cut off. Although there is no certainty what the market will do after Easter, the general opinion of the trade is that lower prices will prevail. With this idea in view one of the dealers along the street who is rather "long" on supplies yesterday afternoon offered buyers supplies at 21½@22c if good-sized lots were taken. He gave as his reason for thus cutting under the market his idea of lower prices after Easter and he wanted to be on the safe side.

No Poultry for Holidays.

With the Jewish Passover and Easter in sight, there is but little live poultry coming to supply the heavier demand. Never have live poultry supplies been so scarce as of late and the high prices now ruling do not induce holders to make shipments. However, there will be no famine in poultry supplies, for the retail trade is prepared for just such an emergency, as a large amount of eastern dressed stuff has been lately brought in.

Few Orders in Hop Market.

Only a few orders for hops are shown in the local market and these are for low-priced goods. The eastern market is thus reviewed by the New York Producers' Price Current of latest date:

"In this state trading has been more quiet the past week, though a few transactions reported at 17c. On the local market the business has been limited and the only sale of importance we heard of was that of two carloads of poor Sacramentoes at 10c. The generally more quiet markets the past week naturally cause a little weaker tone to prices, though little warrant for making actual change in quotations."

So scarce have been wheat supplies of late that some of the interior mills announce advances of from 15c to 25c a barrel over the quotations ruling here. The advances are more especially made on the sound. The local market is very firm, with values unchanged.

Local wheat market is firmer and an advance of 1c a bushel is today made in quotations.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Supplies of asparagus are fair along Front street and the price is ruling between 15½c and 15c a pound.

Cabbage, cauliflower and celery is very scarce; in fact, every line of green goods has a better demand than supply.

Potato prices were a fraction weaker in San Francisco today owing to the anticipated heavy arrivals when the railroad blockade is broken.

KANSAS BUYING STEERS

Nearly All Young Stock Sold at Baker City to Sunflower State.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Baker City, Or., March 28.—Nearly all of the young steers of this district were shipped out yesterday when George Chandler, Geddes & Pollman, Tom Mann and Payton Bros. consigned 490 head of 2 and 3-year-olds to M. S. Knox at Havensville, Kansas. Many large shipments have been made recently and this last lot nearly cleaned out the valley. These cattle were purchased by Mr. Knox himself who came to Oregon in February and looked over the country, making a number of large deals.

In speaking of the cattle industry in this section, Mr. Chandler stated this morning that while there are a number of large cattlemen who are desirous of selling out and getting out of the business entirely, the prospects for the present year are very bright and prices will probably be good.

Range conditions will be excellent this year, the stockman said, although there are few cattle on the range here at present. Along Eagle creek, however, the fine weather of the early spring has induced many of the cattlemen to turn their stock out.

There has been no shortage of hay in this district this winter and if spring has really arrived or opens up any time within a reasonable period there will be a considerable quantity of feed left over. Mr. Chandler states that the fact that this is such a good hay country is responsible for the fact that there have never been any heavy losses here, although other districts have suffered heavily from severe weather.

New York, March 28.—The stock market was erratic today, being firm and weak by turns, but at last closing with an advance in most issues. The decision of the court that the Great Northern railway had a legal right to issue the proposed stock, while expected, had the effect of stiffening the general list. At the closing today Great Northern was 2¼ points up. Ore Lands 1½ and Northern Pacific 2¾ points above yesterday's best price.

A special from Butte, Montana, said that the full returns of the miners' vote on the wage scale resulted in the scale's acceptance by a vote of 10 to 1. This helped the Amalgamated and smelting group, resulting in a rise of 2¼ for Amalgamated, 2⅝ for American Smelter, common, and 1½ points for Anaconda. Colorado Fuel also gained 1½ points over yesterday.

Furnish Sells Warehouse.

By a deal that was consummated some time ago the Pacific Coast Elevator company purchased the Furnish warehouse of W. J. Furnish and will operate the same henceforth, says the Pendleton East Oregonian. As in the past it will be used for the purpose of storing wool during the months the clips are here and following the wool season the warehouse will be used for storing wheat.

Fred Taylor, of the Pacific Coast Elevator company's office here, will have charge of the warehouse during the coming season.

POTLATCH MILL CLOSED BY BROKEN MACHINERY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Potlatch, Idaho, March 28.—The big mill at this place has been closed down and will remain closed until broken machinery can be replaced. This is the first breakdown that has occurred since the big mill was started early last fall. There is now nearly 60,000,000 feet of lumber on the yard and it is almost impossible to ship on account of scarcity of cars. As soon as cars can be obtained the mill company will ship 40 cars a day.

MINERS' UNION VOTES FOR SLIDING SCALE

Butte, Mont., March 28.—The Miners' union has accepted by the vote of 10 to 1 the sliding scale for mine operators for five years, based on the prevailing price of copper. Below 18 cents the maximum is $4 a day, minimum $3.50. At 18 cents or above the maximum is $4.50 a day and the minimum $4. All the mines will resume operation with full crews.

GET STEAMER TO COQUILLE YET

M. C. Bingham, Emissary of Merchants, Not Discouraged by Mayor Stanley's Action.

FREIGHT RATES ARE PARTIAL AND HIGH

Tariff From Bandon Territory to San Francisco Much Higher Than From Eureka and Coos Bay and Is Called Prohibitive.

Letters received from J. J. Stanley, mayor of Coquille, in response to communications from Secretary E. C. Giltner of the Portland chamber of commerce, indicate that the Coquille community will not subscribe $25,000 toward the starting of a steamship line between Portland and the mouth of the Coquille river. M. C. Bingham of Coquille, who came to Portland with the proposition, is more determined than ever to get the line started, and says he will stay here and fight it out until the desired transportation facilities are secured.

Mr. Bingham is deeply in earnest, and is ready to back his judgment with material support in the form of a subscription to the stock, and also to work to organize the undertaking. He said today:

"It does not matter if the Coquille people do not raise a dollar—we will yet have a boat between Portland and the Coquille. The people whom I have talked to on this subject, both at Coquille and in Portland, are substantial business men, and they are not talking through their hats. The demand for transportation facilities between Portland and the Coquille is very great, and must be met by a boat.

"The people of Coquille country number about 6,000, and they have many great resources, including dairying, coal, lumber, fancy woods, woolen manufactures, broom handles, matchwood and white cedar for sash and doors. They are paying outrageous freight charges and cannot continue to do business under the present conditions, as the developments in neighboring ports are going forward and the competition is sure to shut them out. They must have relief from freight charges of $5 per ton as against $3 for Coos bay and $2
