

WOMAN'S CAUSTIC WORDS
LAWYER'S CALLS
CITY ATTORNEY CALLS WOMAN DEFENDANT BOB-TAILED WILD CAT AND PUGILIST—WITNESSES RESIST LANGUAGE TO SUCH AN EXTENT JUDGE CAMERON PLACES ONE IN CUSTODY.

"This woman is like a bob-tailed wildcat—ready to fight anything, anywhere, at any time. She missed her calling. She should have been a pugilist. She is no different from the hoodlums of London. They all want their rent, and not getting it, like old Shylock, are willing to take a pound of flesh in lieu thereof, but they always want to cut it off next to the heart. Because this poor, hard-working woman did not belong to the aristocracy and was unable to purchase a fine, they came into this court declaring that her few personal effects are junk."

This was the sensational manner in which Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald scored Mrs. Lois Riemann in the police court this morning. Fitzgerald's caustic argument against the ira of the defendant and her witnesses to such an extent that they created so much disturbance that it became necessary for Judge Cameron to order one of them into the custody of Bailiff Casey for contempt.

Riemann's assault to mother. Mrs. Riemann, who conducts the Linda Vista rooming-house at 247 1/2 Fifth street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery. The complaint, a frail little woman and extremely pretty, alleged that because she resented Mrs. Riemann's domination that her mother was a liar, she landlady viciously struck her in the face with her clenched fist.

WIVES SMILE AS CORDS SNAP
FREEDOM FROM MARITAL TIES BRINGS HAPPY FACES AS DECISIONS ARE GRANTED.

More than 33 years of married life were not enough to form the tie that binds in the case of H. D. Bartholomew and Maggie A. Bartholomew, and Judge Fraser gave the husband a divorce this morning on the ground of desertion, it being shown that Mrs. Bartholomew had left her home in Tillamook county in 1932.

Bartholomew wasted 12 years in fruitless endeavor to bring back his errant spouse, but finally gave up the effort and entered a complaint for divorce. Mrs. Bartholomew did not seem to care much about the divorce for she refused to appear and it went by default. The couple were married at Seaside, Illinois, January 1, 1912.

Christen Clark and William G. Clark formed another couple who started in their married life on New Year's day and ran up against the divorce courts on Good Friday. Both couples evidently thought the better of the better the dead, for both Mrs. Clark and Mr. Bartholomew left the courtroom apparently happy in the consciousness of having done a good job in severing their marital ties.

GRAY'S HARBOR WITH TACOMA

Milwaukee Surveys to Connect Those Parts With Tacoma & Eastern.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Tacoma, Wash., March 29.—Surveys in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad are engaged in locating a line from the plant of the Balloch Lumber company on the north bank of the Nisqually river to a point near the mouth of Tanwix creek.

The line that is being run by this surveying party forms what is considered to be the route by which the Milwaukee is planning to reach Olympia and the Grays Harbor country. Whether or not the Milwaukee is arranging to connect with the Tacoma Eastern railway is largely a matter of conjecture, but because of the direction taken by this survey, together with the fact that the terminals of the Milwaukee and those of the Tacoma Eastern are within a stone's throw of each other, it appears probable that the Olympia branch will run over the Tacoma Eastern.
