ATTELL AND ROBSON ARE READY FOR THE FRAY

Two Crack Fighters Will Go Six Rounds in Philadelphia This Evening.

(Joamal Special Service.)

Philadelphia. April 3.—The arena of the National Athletic club is to be the scene of an international championship fight tonight and as a consequence the light followers here are on the tiptoe of expectation. Abe Attell, featherweight champion of America, is to defend his title against Spike Robson, the featherweight champion of England. Attell, whose record during the past few years is an almost unbroken string of victories, is naturally the favorite. Robson is something of an unknown quantity on this side, but those who have seen him in action speak highly of his work.

seen him in action speak highly of his work.

The fight is limited to six rounds with no decision. If both fighters are on their feet and in fair condition at the end of the go the result naturally will be unsatisfactory so far as deciding the international championehip. Both of the little fighters have been training faithfully since the articles were signed and the word given out at their respective training quarters is to the effect that each is in the pink of condition. At moon today, according to the articles of agreement, they weigh in at 124 pounds. The club expects a large crowd on hand to see the mill, including delegations from New York and other out-of-town points.
