TODAY'S MARKETS

Better Tone Shown in Potatoes and Onions and Prices Are Climbing Steadily—Latter's Values Likely to Reach Close to Three Cents

LACK OF ORDERS IN HOP MARKET

Easterners Not Willing to Buy Even at Present Low Range of Quotations.

SAY THEY WILL BUY THEIR NEEDS FOR LESS

Growers Weakening Under Heavy Strain and Lack of Encouragement—Trade Is Slow in All Centers—One Creamery Cuts Price.

Today's principal market features:
Strong tone in millfeeds and hay.
Firmer tone in potatoes.
Onion prices still climbing.
One creamery cuts butter price.
Chocolate and cocoa advanced.
Eggs are holding somewhat firmer.
Lack of orders in hops.
Higher price for mohair.
Little fresh poultry being offered.
Egg plant coming from Florida daily.
Strawberries again come from south.

Lack of Orders in Hops.

Dealers report a general lack of orders in the hop market. All late advices received here from eastern dealers and brewers are very bearish. The general impression in the east seems to be that the Pacific coast has oceans of hops and the trade there expects to obtain the major portion of these supplies around 6@7c a pound. Eastern dealers would bid these values if they thought they could get the hops at this time, but they are of the opinion that if they wait awhile growers themselves will be the ones to make the offers to sell at these values. The long-continued dullness in the hop market has weakened the growers' opinion of the market and many of them are now said to be offering to sell at material reductions from the values which they held for a short time ago.

Special reports received by The Journal from the east and from Europe indicate that but a small amount of the Pacific coast hops will be wanted except at the buyers' own values. Trade is dull at all centers and Pacific coast hops on account of the large crop here, are the lowest in the world.

Reports from the hopyards of the Willamette valley indicate that but a small amount of damage was done the vines through the cold spell, although it is a trifle too early to tell the exact amount of damage.

Higher Price for Mohair.

A half cent has been added to the price paid for mohair by the local trade. Several small lots were sold during the past 24 hours around 28½c and there is a report that 29c was paid.

While no wool has as yet been received in this city this season, some small lots are expected from mutton sheep during the next few days. Prices are expected to rule around 22c a pound.

Dressed meat markets continue to show a fairly good tone with arrivals and demand just about equal at the present range of values for both veal and hogs.

One Creamery Slashes Butter Price.

But one city creamery lowered its quotations on butter today although several are expected to put down the value either tomorrow or Thursday. While the supplies of cream are not much increased over what they were a week ago it is the general impression of the trade that values should go lower. The one city creamery which is down today is the same one that held up while the others dropped the price a week ago. By its decline today it not only meets the cut made formerly by the other creameries, but cuts 2½c a pound under their values; making its total decline for the day 5c a pound or 10c a square. The situation is thus reviewed:

T. S. Townsend—Isn't much of an increase in the supply of cream and while we look for a decline soon, we do not think prices should be down today.

M. Mortensen of the Hazelwood—We found that the northern cities were down 5c a pound last night, so we thought the local market should be lower. Creamery supplies are increasing, but we have been cleaning up everything that comes.

Sunset Creamery—There is no occasion for a drop in butter today, as supplies are not any too heavy for the demand and we think that the prices charged yesterday will be maintained for the next few days.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Eastern chocolate and cocoa show advances of 1 to 2c a pound.

Potatoes and onions are firmer though values are unchanged.

California steamer was reported in this morning with a small amount of greens on account of the scarcity in the south.

Eggs are somewhat firmer and some are asking a fractional advance.

Little fresh poultry is being offered.

Daily arrivals of egg plant now shown from Florida. Fifty cents a pound.

Los Angeles strawberries in refrigerators are now arriving daily with prices going lower.

Sacramento river shad now arriving. Sells at 10c a pound. Some fresh salmon also in from that stream.

HOGS SHOW WEAKNESS BUT ARE UNCHANGED

Eastern Prices Steadily Losing—No Cattle Arrive in During the Twenty-Four Hours.

Portland Union Stockyards, April 9.—Livestock receipts:

	Hogs.	Cattle.	Sheep.
Today	115	...	11
Week ago	...	...	...
Year ago	96	181	...
Previous year	...	156	3,189

While the price of hogs is steadily declining in the east owing to the heavy arrivals for this time of year, local values, though unchanged, are weaker. Seven cents is the extreme top of the market and there are indications that a lower price will be named in the near future. A year ago today hogs were firm, but unchanged.

No cattle arrived in the yards today and the tone is firm, though unchanged, with best stuff at $5. A year ago cattle were firm, but unchanged in price.

Just 11 head of sheep came in during the 24 hours. Market very firm, but unchanged. A year ago tone was firm.

Today 25 head of horses were among the arrivals.

Official livestock prices:

Hogs—Best eastern Oregon, $7.00; stockers and feeders, $6.75; China fats, $6.75.

Cattle—Best eastern Oregon steers, $5.00; best cows and heifers, $3.50@4.00; stockers and feeders, $3.50@4.00; bulls, $2.50.

Sheep—Mixed, 6@6½c; wethers, 6½c; ewes, 6@6½c; lambs, 6¼@6¾c.

EASTERN HOGS OFF AGAIN

Five Cents Dropped Off Price—Cattle and Sheep Steady.

Chicago, April 9.—Livestock receipts:

	Hogs.	Cattle.	Sheep.
Chicago	12,000	4,000	14,000
Kansas City	12,000	11,000	16,000

Hogs are 5c lower, with 5,000 left over. Receipts a year ago were 12,000. Mixed, $6.50@6.70; heavy, $6.50@6.70; rough, $6.45@6.55; light, $6.45@6.70.

Cattle—Steady.

Sheep—Steady.

WHAT DEALERS SAY OF LOCAL MARKETS

By Templeton Bros. & Rice.

The arrivals of poultry have been entirely too light to supply the demand and retailers are forced to rely upon cold storage birds. There is a steady inquiry for hens and broilers, but geese and turkeys are not sought after.

Eggs show a little firmer tone and if present weather conditions continue the price will stiffen.

There is a good inquiry for fancy veal and hogs and quotations are easily obtained.

Potatoes are very scarce and dealers are asking an advance.

A STRONG TONE IN MILLSTUFFS

Local Conditions Are Unusual for This Time of Year—Prices Are High.

ENORMOUS DEMAND CONTINUES IN FLOUR

Chicago Wheat Market Receives Its Decline Right After the Start—July Weakest With a Loss of ⅝c a Bushel.

CHICAGO WHEAT VALUES.

	April 9.	April 8.	Loss.	1906
May	$ .76¾A	$ .77¼B	$ .00½	$ .78⅝

Sept	.80⅝A	.80⅝	.00⅝	.77⅞
Dec	.81¾A	.82¼	.00⅝	.....

Conditions in the local grain and hog markets are more unusual at this time. Wheat is gaining in firmness every day owing to the continued heavy drain on this flour market for oriental shipment.

Millstuffs are firmer at this time than they have been at this season for some years. Local values are very rigid and millers are not pushing their sales, as better values are being offered by California.

Hay holds well because of the lateness of spring. There is only a slight showing of weakness in clover, but values are not shaded in the least even for that grade.

Chicago wheat market received its drop right after the opening today and held steady at the lower prices through the remainder of the session. Corn and oats held well, although movement in the latter was slight.

Pork had a sharp advance, with support of packers.

KING LEOPOLD'S DEATH LOOKED FOR ANY DAY

(Journal Special Service.)

Brussels, April 9.—King Leopold, who is spending the spring in the Riviera, is 72 years old today. Despite the official statements recently issued regarding his majesty's health it is learned from reliable sources that the king is undoubtedly in a bad state and his death at any time would cause little surprise. It is understood that his majesty fully realizes his precarious condition and during the past year has worked unceasingly to place his affairs, both official and personal, in shape for his successor on the throne. Being now at variance with all his daughters it is believed that the bulk of King Leopold's vast private fortune will descend to Prince Albert of Flanders, who is the heir to the throne, after adequate provision has been made for those to whom the king has been closely attached in late years.
