TEACHERS' INSTITUTE AT WOODBURN SATURDAY

(Special Division of The Journal) Woodburn, Or., April 11—County School Superintendent E. T. Moore of this city has arranged for holding a county teachers' institute at Woodburn Saturday

April 20. The program is as follows: "Recent School Legislation," Hon. J. H. Ackerman, state school superintendent; "Composition in the High School," Principal E. V. Marlette of Salem; "To What Extent is the School Board Responsible for a Good School?" Colonel J. M. Poorman of Woodburn. In the afternoon a general program will be followed by addresses as follows:

"Domestic Science and Its Possibilities," Mrs. Cara Waldo; "The Economic Science of the Teacher's Profession," M. F. Hanville of Woodburn, and "How May the Community Help the School?" Hon. J. H. Ackerman.

igation yesterday by The Journal's correspondent, disclosed the fact that the report sent out from New Pecos relative to the discovery of an oil gusher had been invented by parties who had misrepresented themselves to local newspapers. There is no oil well at New Pecos.

RAILROAD COMPANY IS SUED ON A MORTGAGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Helena, Mont., April 11.—Henry D. Tudor, Rufus L. Swail, and Allan M. Fay of Massachusetts have brought suit in the federal court for the foreclosure of a mortgage given to secure a $1,000,000 bond issue of the Yellowstone Park Railway company, operating in southeastern Montana. The complainants assert themselves to be the owners of these bonds to the amount of $38,000 upon which no interest has been paid. The Lancaster company, to which the title to all lines of the railroad and its real and personal property, had been conveyed, is also made a defendant in the suit for the recovery of interest and principal. The complaint also prays for an injunction restraining the railroad company from disposing of any of its property.
