

Mr. Walker Whiteside and Miss May Buckley.

There are few actors able to win instant recognition as Mr. Walker Whiteside has done. On his arrival in Portland he was a stranger, an unknown, except for press notices, but he now has a following here quite as enthusiastic as any actor who has made regular visits to Portland. Mr. Whiteside for years appeared in Shakespearean roles and is said to have presented the best "Hamiet" since the days of Booth. Recently, however, he abandoned classic roles and is making an immense success in mod-ern plays.
