

TRoubles ARE ALL ENumerATED

Chief Casey of Police Record Bureau Compiles List of Human Sadness.

According to the report compiled by Thomas Jefferson Casey, chief of the bureau of records of the local police department, 820 arrests were made during the month just ended. Eight hundred and fifty were males and the remainder of the female sex. The municipal court receipts for April aggregated $1,468.50 as compared with $1,775.90 for the preceding month.

As usual the crime for which the largest number were taken into custody was drunkenness, 385 bibulous persons being taken to the station on this charge. For gambling 25 arrests were made; drunk and disorderly, 25; roaming the streets after hours, 30; larceny, 28; lottery tickets in possession, 20; vagrancy, 47; violating city ordinances, 78; assault and battery, 20; threatening to kill, 6; carrying concealed weapons, 6; larceny from the person, 5; using profane language, 5, and delirium tremens, 6.

Illustrative of the need of another patrol wagon is the fact that 457 wagon calls were answered during the month, an average of over 15 a day. This is the largest number of patrol wagon runs in any month for several years.

There were 32 alarms of fire during April, 12 accidents, and one dead body recovered. Ten defective sewers, 25 sidewalks and 32 street obstructions reported. Seven stray teams were picked up by the patrolmen, 5 lost children turned over to their anxious parents. Two unfortunates sought succor from trouble via the suicide route and 25 injured persons were assisted by the police.

In the bureau of criminal investigation 8 burglaries, 32 larcenies, 3 hold-ups and 8 robberies were reported. The only noteworthy arrest was the capture of Ernest Lane by Detective Hellyer and Captain Slover through information furnished by Mrs. Tom Hamersley of the Cosmos rooming-house.

MOLDERS AWAIT THE ARRIVAL OF VALENTINE

Iron molders in the city are awaiting the arrival of Pacific Coast Organizer Valentine of San Francisco who will arrive in Portland May 10 to formulate plans for a strike unless the demands for an eight-hour day made by the union are granted by the employers. Molders at present are working nine hours a day, and it was voted at a conference in Seattle a short time ago to ask for a reduction of time. A strike in Portland would affect about 120 men employed here in the different iron foundries.

From a Magazine Article by James Huneker, an Authority on Musical Subjects:

"Self-playing instruments perform technical miracles. The unerring ease with which these machines dispatch the most appalling difficulties has turned the current toward what is significant in a musical performance, touch, phrasing, interpretation. . . . A child's hand can set spinning the Don Juan Fantasie of Liszt. . . . The automatic piano has outpointed every virtuoso except Rosenthal in the matter of mere technique."

We have the incomparable A. B. Chase, the wonderful Melodiant Angelus, the Knabe, and the Emerson Angelus, the Kingsbury, Ludwig and Harrington, in short, the very best player-pianos now manufactured. Come to our rooms at any time and compare their interpretations with those of skillful pianists. Headquarters for high-grade pianos, pipe organs, chapel organs, Victor talking machines and records.

BOGUS SOLICITOR FOR VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA GATHERS CLOTHES

A man representing himself to be a solicitor for old clothing and other items sent out by the Volunteers of America has been successfully working the resident section of the city to a very great advantage and profit to himself. The man is an impostor and has not been commissioned by the Volunteers of America or any other volunteers except himself, and no doubt thinks he has happened upon an admirable scheme by which he may secure a stock for a second-hand store.

The man appeared at a house on the corner of Nineteenth and Washington streets this morning and the housewife, whose name was not given, immediately suspected the character of the alleged solicitor and asked Captain John D.

Foulkes, the head of the Volunteers of America, by telephone, if such a man was working for the organization. Mr. Foulkes said that there was no one out, and that the man was an impostor. He immediately notified the police. The solicitor already had a good start, and in a few more hours perhaps would have had a decent front street stock. He presented a card handed out by the Volunteers of America with the signature of Mr. Foulkes on the back. The genuine volunteers, however, always wear a uniform, and are always provided with proper credentials so that no uncertainty may be possible if those solicited will take the necessary precaution to examine closely into the authority of the person soliciting.

COVERED WOUND WITH PLASTER

Physician Does Little for Young Man Who Dies After Discharge of Rifle.

Frank Lombard, the 19-year-old son of ex-Marshall Lombard of St. Paul, Oregon, died at St. Vincent's hospital at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the effects of a bullet wound, caused by the accidental charge of a .22 calibre rifle. The gun stood between two bales of hay on a wagon on which young Lombard was riding and was discharged by a piece of wire, which caught the trigger as the boy dragged the weapon toward him.

The bullet entered the left side, passed through the abdomen, coming out on the right side. The physician who was summoned placed court plasters over the wounds and had the boy removed to the hospital in this city. The funeral will be held at St. Paul today.

GHOST MASQUERADE

Unique Carnival at Oaks Skating Rink Thursday Night.

One of the biggest masquerades ever given in the city will take place at the Oaks skating rink tomorrow night. A ghost party is new in this locality, but in eastern sections, where they have been held they have proved to be great entertainers. On this occasion most of the skaters use a sheet and pillow case for a mask, a simple and cheap garb that affords a complete mask and gives a pretty and weird effect. A special electrical effect also makes the skaters more ghostly. The masquers are not confined to this one style of masking, as prizes will be given for all kinds of characters and face masks can be purchased at the rink. This masquerade will be interesting to spectators as well as maskers, and the grand march will be a pretty sight.

The beginners' class continues to grow, and every day competent instructors are added. Don't put it off to learn; go out any afternoon.

HITS BACK AT LABOR EDITOR

Hatch Declares McDonald Is Trying to Find Fraud Where None Exists.

E. T. Hatch, in a statement made to The Journal, takes issue with P. McDonald, editor of the Labor Press, who has alleged that Mr. Hatch had turned from the support of John B. Coffey for mayor to Thomas C. Devlin for a consideration. In his statement Mr. Hatch brands as absolutely false any such allegation and grills McDonald in the bargain.

"People who know McDonald do not believe that he would resent the offer of a bribe with any great indignation," said Mr. Hatch in discussing the story that McDonald had refused an offer of $5,000 to turn from Coffey to Devlin and that members of the Freight Handlers' union had received money to change their ideas.

"I did state in our union that I had some suspicions of Mr. Coffey, that I feared his intimacy with W. E. Burke," continued Mr. Hatch. "When McDonald says that I spoke disparagingly of Mr. Devlin at a meeting in March he says what is absolutely untrue. He appears to be a man who cannot conceive of a man acting independently and honestly; a man who has no moral principle or integrity. When McDonald realizes that he is losing his influence with the laboring people and seeks to regain it by detecting fraud where no fraud exists."

"I believe in the workmen and am with them. Their interests and trials are mine. I believe that the recognition of the labor unions will work for the betterment of society, but I believe that if we as laboring men are ever to command our own self-respect and that of the general public we must come out from under the influence and control of such men as the editor of the Labor Press."

"I do not know Mr. Devlin personally and have never been approached by anyone in his interest. I have nothing to gain or lose by the election or defeat of any candidate, but I am a native of Oregon and I hope to see the city of Portland the greatest and cleanest and the most beautiful city in the land."

FIRE FLARES UP ALL AT ONCE

Horses Rescued From Early Morning Blaze at Front and Jefferson Streets.

A fire entailing a loss of at least $3,000 and attended with several suspicious circumstances occurred at 2:30 o'clock this morning in the grocery and confectionary store of William Maescher, 280 Front street.

The fire department responded promptly to an alarm from box 128 and soon had the flames under control. A lively stable adjoining the grocery caught fire but the blaze was quickly extinguished without much damage. Several horses in the barn were rescued by patrolmen Bales and Howell.

A peculiar feature of the fire was the fact that the flames broke out in all parts of the structure at once, leading the police to believe that perhaps the blaze was of incendiary origin. Maescher informed Detective Price that he had purchased the store for $500 and carried $1,000 insurance. The grocery man maintained, however, that there was a $900 stock in the place.

The glare from the fire could be seen in all parts of the city and notwithstanding the early hour attracted a large crowd. Fearing that the flames might spread to the Southern Pacific depot at the foot of Jefferson street, the railway company dispatched a switch engine to haul the rolling stock out of danger.

Trying to Raise Wrecked Engine. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., May 1.—The wrecker has been brought from La Grande to Cayuse, the scene of the recent O. R. & N. wreck, to make another attempt at raising the boiler of the engine, which has now lain in the Umatilla river for several weeks. It is estimated by railroad officials that the damage to the engine will amount to more than $5,000. It will have to be torn apart and re-assembled, with many new pieces.
