GEORGE L. BAKER.

In asking the voters of the Fourth ward to elect him to the council to succeed himself, George L. Baker feels that he is justified in saying something about what he stands for as a representative of the people in the city's law-making body.

MRS. SELLING AGAIN GIVEN PRESIDENCY

Council of Jewish Women Unanimously Reelect Her to the Position.

Election of officers was held yesterday afternoon by the Council of Jewish Women at the annual meeting.

Reports were heard from all the standing committees which have in charge the settlement work of the Neighborhood House, a work which has far outgrown the hopes of its most sanguine founders.

The Portland council has sent an exhibit of industrial work of the classes of children taught at the Neighborhood House to Jamestown as a part of the national council's exhibition.

The pure food movement was indorsed and $20 was contributed toward the fund which is being raised by the state federation as a scholarship fund for deserving young women.

Miss Amy Sells of San Francisco, who has recently returned from Europe, where she has been studying music, entertained the council with two brilliant solos.

OREGON STRAWBERRY MAKES INITIAL BOW

Dillard again has the honor for shipping the first Oregon strawberries to this market.

The season's first arrivals were reported in by Page & Son yesterday afternoon. The shipment consisted of one crate of the regulation Oregon size, boxes being full weight. The berries were fairly ripe and sold to a fourth street market at 30c a pound. Regular shipments from local points are expected to begin during the coming week.

COWS STILL RUN AT LARGE

Festive Bovines Make Faces at Residents of Lents Notwithstanding Posted Notices.

The problem that has arisen in Lents regarding the enforcement of the stock law is as far from solution as ever.

A. D. Shepherd was recommended for the appointment as poundmaster by the Lents Push club, but after thoroughly investigating the law, Mr. Shepherd announced that he could not take the position because he found that he would have to assume the entire responsibility in the event that he took up any cows.

As a result an entirely new procedure must be adopted. It seems to be simple and yet effective. The law provides that the owner of stock running at large may be notified three times by any one through the justice of the peace or constable, or other proper authority, and if he then does not take the stock off the street he may be prosecuted by anyone properly filing the complaint. No officer is needed.

It is the intention to try this procedure and make a test case of the law, for the people are anxious to prove the law effective. It is asserted by residents of Woodstock that they have had no trouble in enforcing the law, which is the same one that was enacted at Lents. But the residents of Lents say that it has not been enforced outside of the city limits.

HAS OLD COINS BUT DOES NOT KNOW THEIR VALUE

Among Others G. S. Thomas Has Three-Cent Piece Which Lacks a Date.

John Voge of 406 East Twelfth street is the possessor of some rare coins. The oldest is a Canadian penny from the Bank of Quebec, minted in 1837. It is about the size of a 10-cent piece. A half-cent of U. S. A. mintage of 1851 is a copper coin resembling a five dollar piece with the same figure head. A relic which he prizes is a piece of federal money of the kind that was in circulation during the war.

G. S. Thomas of 645 Albina avenue, Portland, writes to The Journal giving a list of old coins that he owns and wishes to know their value to coin collectors. Among other coins he has a Spanish dollar of 1825, a number of United States copper coins dating as far back as 1813, two Canadian pennies of 1837, a silver dime of 1856 and a three-cent silver piece without a date.

COMMISSIONER WEST PRODS LAND OFFICE

Salem, Or., May 2.—Governor Chamberlain yesterday received the following telegram from ex-State Land Agent West, who is now in Washington, D. C., having been summoned there as a witness in the Benson-Hyde land fraud case: "Have gone over Oregon land matters with commissioner of the general land office and have promise of immediate action on lieu selections."

It seems that there has been an unusual delay in the issuing of patents to Oregon applicants for lieu selections.

ST. JOHNS NARROWLY MISSES SERIOUS FIRE

Early Morning Pedestrians Discover Pile of Shavings Blazing in Cochran Block.

A serious conflagration was narrowly averted at St. Johns early yesterday morning when a pile of shavings and excelsior was discovered on fire in the Cochran block, which is being remodeled.

The place is entirely open. It is thought that some person hostile to the establishment of another saloon in St. Johns endeavored to set fire to the building. But the fire was discovered near the street, a very unlikely place for the opening of a firebug and an exceedingly likely place for an accidental blaze that might have been started by some one carelessly tossing a match into the tinder-like heap of shavings.

The building is centrally located and had it not been for the chance passing of late revellers there would have been a big fire. The blaze was discovered about 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

George E. Baldwin, United States consul at Nuremberg, who died recently in New York, was one of the most intimate friends of President McKinley, and nominated McKinley for his first public office, that of prosecuting attorney.

NORTH END PROPERTY HAS PHENOMENAL RISE

Just as soon as the council announced its intention to build a new city jail and emergency hospital in the neighborhood of the park blocks in the north end prices of quarter blocks in the vicinity went up $15,000 in a single night.

This statement was made to the council yesterday afternoon. It is not likely that the higher price will be paid to any of the property-owners, however, because the jail and hospital should be centrally located. On this account the matter was referred back to the ways and means committee, with instructions to advertise for bids for sites.

Fred T. Merrill for councilman-at-large.

LARGEST AD ON RECORD OCCUPIED FOUR PAGES

The People's Warehouse, conducted by Leon Cohen at Pendleton, the largest department store in eastern Oregon, can be credited with the insertion of the largest advertisement ever placed by one establishment in a daily paper in Oregon.

In the East Oregonian of the 30th ultimo, appeared an advertisement occupying four full pages of space of this enterprising Pendleton store. The advertisement is so constructed as to say what it means and mean what it says, affording every confidence to the reader that the store will meet every promise made therein, thus adding to the store's reputation for fair dealing. Such advertising pays, the fruits thereof increasing as the confidence in the advertiser spreads.
