TIMBER.

How Slow the Train Was. Two men were coming into Denver from a nearby town on a local train the other day. The train stopped every five minutes, it seemed, and one of the men became impatient. Finally, when the train halted for the engine to get up steam, the man's impatience overflowed. "Now, what do you think of this train?" he said to the other. "It isn't making much progress," replied his friend. "Progress, I should say not," said the impatient man. "It would be a fierce job to take a moving picture of this train."

Concrete Abutments for Grand Avenue Bridge Over Sullivan's Gulch.

The concrete abutments for the Grand avenue bridge over Sullivan gulch have been completed and workmen are engaged in putting in the falsework for the support of the main span. It is estimated that about 90 days will be required to complete the steel truss, when the bridge will be opened to traffic. The completion of the Grand avenue bridge will greatly relieve the pressure of traffic on Union avenue, which has for several years been the only open thoroughfare from north to south on the east side.

ACCUSED MINERS ASK SQUARE DEAL

Clarence Darrow, Attorney for Moyer and Haywood Issues a Statement.

ILLEGALLY KIDNAPED ON PERJURED EVIDENCE

Systematic Attempts Alleged to Poison the Public Mind Against Federation Officials—Roosevelt's Charges Answered.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Boise, Idaho, April 2.—Clarence Darrow, attorney for Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone of the Western Federation of Miners, so-called in the Idaho case, announced today that he had a statement of former Governor Steunenberg, his issued the following statement for his clients:

"We have been charged with killing ex-Governor Steunenberg with a dynamite bomb. Our trial is to begin on the 15th of this month. The details of the assassination have been published broadcast throughout the civilized world for more than a year. During all this time the press of the country, and especially that of section of Idaho where we will be placed on trial, has bitterly denounced us and the Western Federation of Miners, to which we belong. The most powerful interests of the country are seeking to take our lives.

Kidnaped Into Idaho. "We were not in Idaho for years before the crime was committed. Under the law we could not be extradited from Colorado. But, in spite of this, we were arrested on a perjured affidavit charging that we were in Idaho at the time of the commission of the crime and that we immediately fled from the state, and on this perjured affidavit, known to be false, the governors of the states of Idaho and Colorado kidnaped us. In the night time, refusing us an interview with family, friends or counsel or a chance of appeal to the courts, and brought us on a special train a thousand miles from home and into a state and community systematically poisoned against us by newspapers and officials.

"We have been confined in jail for 14 months against our protest and denied bail, while constantly demanding a trial. Every effort has been made to teach the farmers, business men and workmen of the community that we are assassins and outlaws.

"After all this time our case is about to be reached, and the president of the United States, in no way interested officially or otherwise, sends two letters broadcast over the country charging us with guilt and crime. These are republished in every paper in the land, and especially in every paper in Idaho. The governor of Colorado a day or two later adds his words of spite to the venom of the president and says that we are not only guilty of the crime charged, but of many others, too.

Ask for Justice Only. "While the president of the United States and the governor of Colorado are sending out their statement to compass our death, the judge of this county has brought a citizen before him for contempt on the charge that he tried to influence the mind of a prospective juror by saying that 'the state administration was trying to railroad us.' On the appearance of this man in court the judge promptly told the state's attorney that he should have this obscure farmer indicted for felony because he tried to influence the mind of a prospective juror. The president knows how much greater weight will be given to his words than those of an obscure private citizen.

"If we are about to be tried in court, every law-abiding citizen, however great or humble, should do anything in his power to cool the passions of men, rather than add fuel to the flames. If we are to be thrown to the mob, the officers should, at least open our prison doors and give us some chance to defend ourselves."

Cormorants Trained to Fish. From the London Daily Graphic. Cormorants are familiar enough objects fishing on the cliffs below the cliffs where they nest, or seated upon the cliffs which mark the course of the channel in a tidal harbor, their brilliant emerald eyes on the watch for fish.

But few people are perhaps aware that these great black uncouth looking birds were at one time trained in England to catch fish for the amusement of royalty. The sport was introduced into this country from the court of France in the time of Louis XIII.; the French courtiers had been taught the method of taming and training these birds by a Dutchman, whose countrymen had already learned it during their voyages in the east. For it is to the Chinese and Japanese fishermen that European nations were first indebted for knowledge of the sport.

ENGLISH ODDITIES

Big Estate of a Cheap Clinician—Pauper Has Gout.

It is now known that the receipts from death duties in England during the financial year just ending beat all previous records. The total in round figures will be $55,000,000.

Since the passage of Sir William Vernon Harcourt's finance act 12 years ago the total receipts from death duties have exceeded $1,000,000,000. The largest sum paid on one estate was $4,500,000 on that of George Smith, generally known as "Chicago Smith," who lived at the Reform club and at an average rate of $4.50 a day.

A member of the Lambeth Board of Guardians complains that the ratepayers have to maintain a man who had become chargeable to the rates through eating too much. The reference was to a cabman who was recently admitted to the workhouse infirmary suffering from gout. The man had an enormous appetite and his malady was due to over-feeding. At the same meeting a complaint by the cabman to the guardians of short rations was brought forward. It was explained that he was being dieted in order to effect a cure. The guardians decided to continue the diet cure.

A pretty wedding party was stopped at the entrance to St. Mary's church, Scarborough, and the bridesmaids were forbidden to enter because they wore no hats, simply wreaths of marguerites. The difficulty was quickly overcome by the bridesmaids fastening white handkerchiefs on their heads. The vicar of the church enforced the rule that the female head must be covered in church with great strictness.

Last season when the "no hat" craze was at its height many were refused entrance when they came to view the historical building. Some of the women overcame the difficulty by wearing the hats and caps of the men who escorted them. Others who were not escorted or who would not wear a masculine headgear were obliged to go away.

Height of Waves.

M. Bertine, a Frenchman, has been making new observations of the size of ocean billows. He says they are greatly overestimated when the term "mountainous" is applied to them.

The longest waves he measured were 2,580 feet from crest to crest, he says, and their average duration was 21 seconds. They were not very high, only about 50 feet or one-fiftieth of their span.

Indeed, he is of opinion that the greatest height ever reached by waves in open water is 50 feet, and he accounts for higher estimates by saying that they have heretofore been observed for the most part from the decks of ships, and the perspective effect resulting from looking up along the slopes has misled the eye and judgment.

When waves become breakers, striking against some obstacle, there is no doubt that great masses of water are hurled to a height of 100 feet and volumes of spray are flung and blown still higher.

Very few waves 1,500 feet long and 50 feet high are ever encountered, he adds. In average bad weather, the waves run from 100 to 250 feet from crest to crest and their height seldom exceeds 25 feet. Their duration is not over 6 to 8 seconds.

Method in His Profligacy.

The other day one of the Nationalist members, F.W. to London, was introduced to a party of ladies in the dining-room of the house of commons. As he left he gravely presented each lady with his card. A friend ventured to hint that this was carrying politeness too far for London customs. "Sure," was the reply, "it didn't matter. I had 200 of them printed. I've changed my address anyway, so they're no use to me!"
