

GEORGE M. HYLAND

Submits his name to the consideration of all classes of Republican voters as a candidate for the nomination of county auditor. Your influence is so limited in the interest of municipal cleanliness and civic decency. Mr. Hyland stands as the representative of those men who work for the good of Portland at all times irrespective of clique, faction or interest and who consider it a civic duty to devote a portion of their time to the betterment of our social and physical conditions as a municipality. Mr. Hyland is the father of solicited them.

WALLACE WANTS TIN CAN CARS

Councilman Believes a Special Rapid Transit Service Should Be Provided.

To aid in the operation of new crematories to be built by the council, Councilman Wallace said yesterday that special cars should be provided and operated by the city to carry the garbage and garbage stations should be likewise conveniently placed. All garbage could be carried from the crematory and a profit could be realized from the by-products, such as the melting of tin cans and old iron.

All empty lots sport a few dozens of tin cans, and all the boys in the neighborhood take particular pleasure in attaching one of the aforesaid cans to the tail of a stray dog, and sometimes they put a couple of rocks in the can. The noise the dog makes when he carries the can down the residential district is worse than that of the whistling districts, and the blasts are given by the mill operators every half hour in order to let people who are not employees know that they are awake.

Cans are thrown upon every vacant lot of the city, so the story ran. Nobody wants them. Just as soon as the contents are emptied the people toss them into the vacant lots.

Councilman Annand suggested that the block bounded by East Eighth, East Ninth, Flanders and Everett streets be purchased as a site for a crematory. The city has said it will fit for nothing but a crematory, and he asked that it be purchased at the price offered by the owners, which was $15,000. The price appeared to be high to Councilman Menefee, and the whole matter was referred to the ways and means committee.

BLAZIER BROTHERS BACK SILVESTONE CANDIDACY

Blazier brothers are reported to have backed Julius Silvestone as the nominee for municipal judge with $500 as against $1,000 put up by John Cordano on the field. Cordano put his money up on the contention that Silvestone would not be the nominee chosen by the Republican party at the primaries on Saturday next. Blazier brothers, who have been backing Silvestone in his candidacy to beat Cameron, accepted the proposition made by Cordano, thus putting their money against the success of both Cameron and Winchester.

CAMPAIGN ENDS IN A BROOKLYN HALL

Candidates for the Republican Nomination, Particularly Devilin and Coffey, Speak.

The Republican ante-primary campaign was closed last night at a meeting of the Brooklyn Republican and Improvement club in Sacred Heart hall. Practically all of the candidates for Republican nomination were present at the meeting and made addresses outlining the proposed policies to the voters.

The principal speaker of the evening was Coffey, by whom the following was said:

John B. Coffey, candidate for mayor. Both of the speakers treated of the problem and announced themselves as favoring the repeal of personal franchises and the regulation of public service corporations. Other speakers were: J. E. Werlein, O. P. Miller, A. L. Barbur, Judge George Cameron, J. P. Kavanagh, M. L. Driscoll, J. N. Blair, A. G. Rushlight and H. G. Parsons.

FATHER ASKS FOR $250 FOR LOSS OF SON'S LEG BY STREETCAR

Two hundred and fifty dollars is the modest sum asked by C. A. Chambers of Lentz as remuneration for the loss of the right leg of his 9-year-old son, Carlos, who was run over by a street car in February, 1906. The father filed suit for that amount yesterday against the Portland Railway Light & Power company.

A year ago last February little Carlos walked to school on his two little legs at Lentz. Every day he had to cross the street to walk four times, twice going and twice coming home. One day he was careless—and so, perhaps, was the motorman—and little Carlos was struck down and horribly mangled.

Now he hobbles to school on a wooden leg. Mr. Chambers did not sue for $250 because he believed that sum would cover the ruin wrought to the boy's future. He asked for only $250 because he was convinced that he could collect no more. A few weeks ago he sued the company and put the value of the leg at $20,000. But the evidence never got to the jury, for Judge Gantenbein granted a non-suit.

Attorney Malarkey for the company is reputed as having stated on the day that the plaintiff would not let the company would give the child's family some remuneration as a matter of charity, but if any sum was offered it was evidently less than $250.
