NEW OWNERS OFFER TO EMPLOY FIREMEN

Permit for Reopening of Theatre on Morrison Street Is Recommended to the Executive Board by the Fire Committee.

The promise that the building would be one of the most safely constructed theatrical structures in the country caused the fire committee of the executive board to recommend the granting of a permit for the opening of the Marquam Grand opera house. The recommendation will be acted upon late this afternoon and the theatre will be open for star attractions on May 15.

The theatre was ordered closed by the fire board upon the reception of a report from Fire Chief Campbell and Fire Marshal Roberts that there was not sufficient number of exits from the building. These defects will be remedied, according to the promise of D. Sells Cohen, attorney for the theatrical manager. Mr. Cohen said the cost of the exits and escapes would be about $25,000, and C. W. Boost, manager of the Portland Iron & Steel works, would rush the work through. All the exits will have been built before the first performance on May 15, and if the building inspector or any member of the board should have the least doubt of the safety of the company's intentions it could make an order that firemen be detailed for duty at the theatre. Mr. Cohen said the company was willing to pay for firemen who could be assigned by Fire Chief Campbell.

Building Inspector Spencer, who had made the regulations for the exits, was satisfied with the statement made by Mr. Cohen. There will be, under the contract, eight exits from the balconies and the main floor, and these will be built before the theatre is opened. Mr. Boost said he would have his full force of men at work one hour after the permit is granted and he would have all the escapes in place a week before the reopening of the theatre.

The only other business before the committee was the opening of bids for the laying of underground cables for the fire department. The Standard Underground Cable company presented two bids for different sorts of work. One was for $24,800 and the other for $27,800. The American Steel & Wire company offered to do the work for $25,693.25. Both bids were referred to the board.

JUDGE GEORGE J. CAMERON
Popular Municipal Magistrate Candidate for Renomination

Portland never had a better municipal judge than Judge Cameron. He thoroughly understands his business, attends to it promptly and with expert discrimination, and meets out justice under the law as well as any man in that position could do. Since Judge Cameron is willing to serve the city on other terms in this capacity he will undoubtedly receive the republican nomination.

The city could not possibly do any better than to keep Judge Cameron on the police bench another term.

The records of the municipal court show that Judge Cameron has done more court work than any single municipal judge in any of our cities of the size of Portland. His decisions are legally sound because he is a lawyer, and they are fair because he stands for fair play at all times.

His career as municipal judge has been creditable to him and to Portland, and his friends confidently look for his renomination and reelection by a greatly increased majority.

WILL PLAY BASEBALL WITH ASSESSORS

Councilmen Accept Challenge and Nearly All Will Get Out on Diamond.

Eight councilmen who were not afraid the assessor would get after them for property assessments accepted the challenge of County Assessor Sigler to play a game of baseball for charitable purposes a week from next Saturday. Four opposed the acceptance when the challenge was laid before the council. Gray, Kellaher, Booth and Wallace voted in the negative. Sharkey and Bennett had been excused from attendance before the matter was taken up. Both agreed to play, Bennett as catcher and Sharkey as a fielder. No alignment of the team was made further than that Mr. Wallace will act as manager, Mr. Gray as chief of police and Mr. Dunning as fire marshal. Mr. Kellaher was offered the position of chief timekeeper, but he refused to accept it. The assessor will announce the names and positions of his team by tomorrow.

INDORSE CANDIDATES AFTER PRIMARIES

Hebrew Independent Improvement Association Declines to Boost Devlin.

No candidates were indorsed at the meeting of the Hebrew Independent Improvement association, held last night at Artisans' hall in South Portland. Instead a committee was appointed to indorse candidates after the primaries, and it was decided not to lead the indorsement of the organization to any one before that time. The association was called together in the first instance supposedly as a Devlin movement, but the friends of Louis Zimmerman heard of the plan and were present in sufficient numbers to neutralize the intent and put the organization upon middle ground. The committee appointed consists of the following: N. Abrams, chairman; Phil Rogoway, N. Koninberg, A. Tolstong and M. Cohen.

Change of Management

The "HARVARD DENTISTS," well and favorably known throughout the East as one of the largest and most successful organizations of Dental Offices, embracing a great many of the most prominent cities, have bought out the

Chicago Dental Parlors

And will continue the institution under its present name at its present central location, at the northwest corner of Washington and Sixth streets. Their aim is to make it one of the best equipped Dental Offices in the Northwest. The new management has already ordered the latest appliances and ingredients for doing high-class work at reasonable prices.

No More Fear of the Dentists
Two good reasons why persons in every station of life should patronize this institution: First—You will meet here no young and untried dentists with his new diploma, his only laurels fresh upon him, but instead, the well directed interests of a master of the dental art for every required case.
$1000.00
The new management will give $1,000 to any charitable institute for a tooth that an operator fails to extract without pain or bad results.
NERVOUS PEOPLE
And those affected with heart weakness can now have their teeth extracted and filled with the least pain whatever.
The day has come when people demand something better than the old method of extracting teeth. There are improvements in every other line, and it stands to reason we should improve in Dentistry as well, so as to keep in pace with the times and with the great advances that are being made. Yet in spite of all that can be done to preserve the teeth, it sometimes happens that they reach a decay that makes their removal a necessity. Bumbling work by incompetent dentists and neglect of ordinary rules of hygiene frequently lead to such a state of impairment of the tooth that its extraction is necessary. When this is the case there should be no delay, as the presence of a decaying tooth is a constant menace to health. But the dread of pain has kept thousands away from the dentist's office week after week and month after month, until the whole system has suffered irreparably in consequence. The use of chloroform and similar anesthetics came into practice many years ago and mitigated to some extent, the tortures of the dentist's forceps, but this was found to be a dangerous expedient, and the old dread of visiting the dentist remained and remains to this day in the minds of many. But there is no longer any reason for it. The doctors in charge of the Chicago Dental Parlors have found a means of rendering the operation of extracting teeth as painless as the removal of a shoe from a foot, and they do it without the slightest danger to the most delicate patient, and without any UNPLEASANT AFTER EFFECTS WHATEVER. The anesthetics used by the operators at the Harvard Dental Office are entirely harmless, and yet so effective that it would instantly allay the sharpest pain. It is applied to the gums and its effects do not extend beyond the immediate location to which it is applied; at that point, however, the temporary suspension of sensation is complete.
