

INVADERS IN HEART OF GRANDE RONDE VALLEY

Workers for Greater Oregon Are Royally Welcomed at Every Stop on Journey.

TRAIN KEEPS SCHEDULE TIME THROUGHOUT TRIP

Tom Richardson's Solicitous Care and Personal Interest of Railway Officials Add Greatly to Enjoyment of the Pilgrims.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Grande, Or., May 7.—Emissaries of progress, representatives of Portland, and workers for a greater Oregon, reached La Grande, the metropolis of the Grande Ronde valley, this morning, greeted by typical eastern Oregon spring weather with its balmy zephyrs and soft and alluring sunshine.

Welcomed by G. M. Richey, chairman; J. W. Scriber, Fred Myers, E. W. Davis, J. M. Berry, F. S. Brawley, W. K. Davis, E. B. Orton, and Walter M. Pierce from La Grande, the Portlanders were escorted by the La Grande committee to Elgin, where they were welcomed by a committee of Elgin business men.

Chief Program.

They were escorted to the K. of P. hall, where a brief program of addresses followed. Mayor D. B. Hendricks was introduced by L. B. Tuttle, editor of the Recorder. T. W. B. Lindon, chairman of the day for the Portland party, responded to Mayor Hendricks' address of welcome and called on J. K. Gill, who delivered a warm-hearted and brief address. Mr. Gill having visited the Grande Ronde valley 25 years ago and noted what has happened in these years.

The train and party is under the direction of General Passenger Agent McMurray, Assistant John M. Scott and Traveling Passenger Agent Jack O'Neill. It is on time at all points, the service being above criticism and greatly adding to the success of the trip. The solicitous care of the party by Tom Richardson deserves special mention.

Last night's reception at La Dalles was a fitting climax for the eventful first day of the journey. From the moment the excursionists arrived they were treated royally and pleasant memories of their hosts' hospitality will linger in the minds of the pilgrims for many moons.

Upon arrival the excursionists were greeted by Mayor Kelley and a committee from the Business Men's association. They were taken for a drive through the city and had a splendid view of Columbia gorge.

Banquet at The Dalles.

In the evening a banquet was tendered the visitors which surpassed anything of the kind ever held in the city before. Able addresses were made by Senator Wheelon, Mayor Kelley and Judge Lake on behalf of the city, and Tom Richardson and Senator Fulton for the visitors.

Leaving The Dalles at 11 p. m. the tired tourists immediately retired, arising in time for a visit of an hour and a half at Elgin this morning. Here, too, the Portland men were heartily greeted and declared their stay was all too short.

After brief stops at Imbler and Allice the party arrived at La Grande, which they left at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The pilgrims look forward with great pleasure to the visits at Hot Lake, Union, North Powder, Haines and Baker City, at which latter point they expect to put in stocks of furniture, jewelry, shoes and hardware could not secure the necessary buildings.

A meeting will be held Thursday, May 9, at 118 Killingsworth avenue, to complete the organization of an association to erect a firehouse for the new community. A stock company will be organized, of which some of the stock has already been taken, or the promise of it, as soon as the company should be regularly organized.

The Nolta club will meet hereafter on the first and third Mondays of each month instead of on each Monday evening, as they have long done. Larger quarters are also needed for the club.

CREMATORY SITE NOT YET CHOSEN

No site has been selected for the crematory on the east side by the city council, but the matter has been referred to the council and is still under consideration by the ways and means committee. When the committee chooses to select a site for the crematory suggested a place bounded by East Eighth and East Ninth streets on the one side and East Flanders and Glisan on the other, the report was not adopted by the council, but the matter was sent back to the ways and means committee with instructions to make further investigation. There the matter still rests.

An effort is being made to find a central location in a suitable district for the proposed plant. The flats, near the river among the manufacturing plants on the east side, have been suggested as a suitable place and the committee desires to secure a central location in order that the haul may be shortened as much as possible, as it costs as much or more to haul the refuse to the plant as it does to burn it once it is there.

MONEY TALKS AS JURY COMES

Suit for Ten Thousand Settled for One Hundred While Venire is Drawn.

A suit for $10,000 was compromised for $125 in the circuit court this morning, while the jury to try the case was being drawn. It was the case of Frank M. Buechel against Frank Michaels. Buechel brought suit for $10,000 damages, alleging that he had been injured to that extent by arrest and imprisonment maliciously and without probable cause. Buechel alleges that February 20 Michaels procured his arrest on a charge of larceny and that he was imprisoned at the city jail for two hours, and that he was under arrest from February 20 until March 1, when he was discharged as not guilty.

In his complaint Buechel said he had been in Portland for two years, has a family and has been in the real estate business, and that the arrest caused him great humiliation and damage. Answering the suit, Michaels alleged that Buechel had taken a hot water boiler from 306 East Washington street and carried it away, and that there had been probable cause for believing Buechel guilty of larceny.

The case came up for trial in the circuit court this morning and was assigned to Judge Fraser to hear. When six jurors had been accepted the regular panel was exhausted and Judge Fraser ordered a special venire. While the parties to the suit were waiting for the special talemens to report they got together and effected a settlement.

When court convened again the attorneys notified the judge that a settlement had been agreed upon and asked that the case be dismissed, each party to pay his own costs. The judge ordered to the jury the regular panel of attorneys stated that $125 had been offered by the defendant and accepted by the plaintiff.

Attorney Ed and A. R. Mendall appeared for Michaels. Buechel was represented by John F. Logan and John C. Shillock.

ing hold of a cub scarcely three months old and bringing it up as a pet until it will not only follow him about the streets and play with dogs, but will let itself be most familiarly caressed. Repeat this through one or two generations, says J. Mosch, and you have wolves as dogs. In those "one or two generations" lies the rub, and M. Mosch seems to forget that even tigers have been kept tame to maturity. It may be added that Buffon related an experience of his own which is not encouraging. He also brought up a young wolf, which led a blameworthy and even happy life in a poultry shed until it was 12 months old, and then in a single night killed every fowl without eating one. His conclusion is that though amenable to domesticity till about 18 months old, their wild instincts then reassert themselves irresistibly.
