ALL SPAIN REJOICES OVER ARRIVAL OF STORK IN ROYAL FAMILY BIRTH OF HEIR TO THRONE

Cannons Greet Arrival of Prince of Asturias, Future King of Spain—Great Festival Held Throughout Nation—Infant to Be Christened Alfonso.

(Journal Special Service.)
Madrid, May 10.—Spain is aflame with emblems of joy this afternoon. The Prince of Asturias, heir to the throne of Spain, was born shortly before 1 o'clock. Within five minutes the announcement flashed to every point in the kingdom where wires are strung.
As the royal flag was flung to the masthead on top of the palace, the guns in the fortress began to boom a salute to the new monarch. Every person in Madrid stopped at the first shot and breathlessly counted.
Would the gunner fire 15 and stop, announcing a girl, or proceed to 21, announcing a boy? At the end of the fifteenth shot the great city's quietness was of the grave.
Would the sixteenth come?
There was a moment of silence, broken by a cannon's roar, and a shout as the roar of all the oceans rolled into one, the wave breaking on Gibraltar, rose from the city.
The people did not wait to count 21. They knew the child was a boy as soon as the sixteenth gun was fired. Immediately all Spain broke into revelry with all the abandon of a Latin race.
Queen Victoria's future happiness is assured. Had the child been a girl, the peculiarities of their race would have made her husband's people turn animosity toward her. Now she is the idealized queen of their hearts.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

TO BE NAMED ALFONSO.

The babe is named Alfonso and will so be christened. During the night, giving signs of the approaching event, messengers were dispatched to the prime ministers and court dignitaries who gathered at the palace. During the early morning the doctors announced that the queen's condition was normal and satisfactory. The king remained at her bedside, and at 8 o'clock this morning canceled a meeting of the council ministers. By 10 o'clock functionaries representing the power and nobility of Spain were gathered in apartments set apart for the official ceremonies. The child was born at 12:45 p. m., and the announcement immediately made to the assemblage. As soon as the child was dressed it was placed in a little basket upon a golden salver. The king, bearing the precious burden, presented his son to the prime minister, who officially announced its sex. American Minister Collier was among the officials present.

A Spanish prince is ushered into the world with quaint observance and stately ceremony. When the coming of the future king of Spain is expected, the ladies of the palace and nurses—as in other households—were subjects of paramount importance. In the present instance, the young queen of Spain had presents from all directions, the ladies of her adopted country especially having forwarded numerous robes richly trimmed with costly lace. Her majesty's own nurse is an English woman; and the nurse for the royal baby has been chosen, in accordance with Spanish custom, from the peasantry of the Asturias.

The Christenings.

The christening of an infant son of the majesties of Spain takes place, in accordance with the dogma of the Roman Catholic church, within one week of the birth. The ceremony is always held in the private chapel of the palace, and though the church is of somewhat limited dimensions, it is customary for a certain portion to be set apart for the accommodation of the poor of the city, who are admitted without ticket. Also, a portion is set apart for the poor of the city, who are admitted without ticket. Also, a portion is set apart for the poor of the city, who are admitted without ticket.

On the same evening it is customary to have a dinner party at the palace, and a gala performance at the Royal opera or State theatre. For this all the men appear in full uniform or state dress, and all the ladies in full evening dress; all wear any orders to which they may be entitled, and there is a wonderful display of the Spanish hierarchy, for which the ladies of the country are noted. Many of these, as well as much of the lace of mantillas and robes, date from the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.

SPANISH MINISTER IS DELIGHTED WITH NEWS

Washington, May 10.—The Spanish minister was first informed of the birth of a son to the queen by a representative of the Scripps News association, and said:
"What a son! Fine! Fine! Fine! I haven't received the news from any other source yet. It is really true! Fine! It brings much happiness to me."

IRKUTSK SHAKEN BY SEVERE EARTHQUAKE

Irkutsk, May 10.—A severe undulating earthquake was felt here at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

BRIDE OF MONTH DESERTS GROOM

Tom Johnson's Daughter Leaves Foreign Husband—Marriage Was Culmination of Love Match—Mayor to Reconcile.

New York, May 10.—Signor Frederico Mariani and his bride, who is the daughter of Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, have already separated. Although married only little more than six weeks ago, Mariani is back in his bachelor quarters here. The cause of the couple's quarrel could not be ascertained. Mayor Johnson is here and was found at the Manhattan club, but he would not talk about his family matters. It is understood that he is endeavoring to bring about a reconciliation. The bride's mother is also in the city. She was ill when she left Cleveland, and is now in a sanatorium here.
The marriage, which took place at the Johnson mansion in Cleveland, was regarded as the culmination of a love match. Miss Johnson, who had gone on the stage, met Mariani in Italy. He was neither titled nor wealthy, but belonged to an old Tuscan family.

GOVERNOR PARDONS WHITE

Boarding House Master Who Kidnaped Sailor Given His Freedom.

Jim White, the sailor boarding house master, will not serve time. He was pardoned this morning by Governor Chamberlain. The chief executive was persuaded to let White roam at will by a petition signed by a number of Portlanders, some of whom are said to be quite prominent.
White was sentenced April 6 to serve one year in the penitentiary for having kidnaped C. A. Buren, a sailor who attempted to evade the custom then in vogue here of being sold to the bidding skipper. Buren was one of three waylaid by the crimps, but the other two tars reached the vessel, the British ship Riversdale, before the mob could trap them.
Buren was beaten into insensibility and carried away in an express wagon. He was permanently injured, and for a while it was thought that his injuries would terminate fatally.

SLOW WORK IN SECURING JURY AS TRIAL LOOKS TO THE DEFENSE

Shoaf Writes of Progress of Case From Socialistic Standpoint— Attorneys of Both Sides Well Informed as to Talesmen.

(Staff Corr. Appeal to Reason.)
Boise, Idaho, May 10.—In a courtroom liberally guarded by deputies and Pinkerton detectives, and with only a small representation of labor men present, Judge Fremont Wood at 10 o'clock yesterday morning formally declared the beginning of the trial of W. D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steuenberg. There was little excitement in or around the courtroom, and none was evident on the streets or in the city. Over all the great forces of special officers and detectives, members of the miners' union or their sympathizers would have found it impossible to make a demonstration had they been so inclined.
The detectives in the courtroom acted under the direction of C. A. Thiel, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton agency, who in turn received his instructions from James McFarland.
When court adjourned at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the regular venire summoned for the case had been exhausted and a special venire of 100 men was ordered summoned by Judge Wood to appear in court Monday, May 13 at 2 p. m.

Class Lines Drawn.

Class lines were distinctly drawn in the examination of the veniremen. Every man was questioned regarding his political, industrial calling and trade union affiliations. The only man who openly expressed his opinion to union labor and his belief in the guilt of the defendant was J. E. Yates, president of the Bank of Commerce of Boise. Examination developed that the majority of

SEEK AID OF TROOPS IN STRIKE

Until Military Is Called Cars Cannot Be Run, Says Calhoun as No Protection Exists

Unionists Claim Army is Not Needed and That Soldiers Will Make the Situation Worse— Building Trades Council Asks Members to Preserve Order.

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, May 10.—The usual crowds of pickets and demonstrators gathered in the vicinity of the car barns this morning and their frame of mind was not of that quiet and submissive nature that marked their conduct Wednesday and Thursday. They plainly showed they resented President Calhoun's announcement that he intended to urge the governor to call out the state troops. The union men claim the troops are not needed and that if they are sent it will have a tendency to inflame the hoodlums who have no connection with the union and whom they accuse of being responsible for the acts of violence committed.
The Oak street barns are again promising to be the storm center. A crowd of several thousand persons gathered there as early as 9 o'clock this morning, but the usual squad of police was on hand.

Wants Troops Called.

Although the streetcar strike is as far from settlement as ever, the general labor situation has been considerably clarified by the action of the building trades council in adopting a resolution calling upon the 35,000 men affiliated with that body to assist in preserving order and denying that the bricklayers, plumbers, structural iron workers and carpenters are preparing to strike June 1. The action of the union in deferring their vote on the matter of striking in sympathy with the telephone operators has also helped the situation.
Local retail trade has fallen off more than 50 per cent as a result of the strike, and reports from other cities in the state indicate that the blow is being felt there. Shipments into this city show a deplorable falling off in all lines except building material, which is being used as rapidly as it arrives, showing that in the building trades, at least, there is no diminution of energy.

President of Guatemala Orders Slaughter of Women and Children—Soldiers Commit Un- speakable Atrocities.

(Journal Special Service.)
Puerto Cortes, Honduras, via New Orleans, May 10.—Refugees from Guatemala report that a state of anarchy exists in that country, that the whole republic is in a turmoil, and that a bloody civil war is impending. According to Americans who have arrived here, the Cabrera government is committing unspeakable outrages and atrocities. Political opponents are being thrown into prisons and some of them murdered. Even women and children are not being spared.
The report has reached here that a whole family of 10 was massacred by Guatemalan soldiers near Guatemala city by order of the government. Jose Cabrera, a wealthy planter, incurred the enmity of the government on account of his political activity. When soldiers went to arrest him he showed fight and the soldiers promptly shot him to death. Every member of his family was then slain, including his wife.
Abate Crespo, one of Cabrera's political opponents, who had an estate near Livingston, was tied to a stake in the middle of an anthill, his clothing stripped from his body, and the soldiers danced around his writhing form as the poisonous fumes rising from the anthill suffocated him.
Refugees report that two Americans, C. L. Lullian of Little Rock, Arkansas, and Marshall F. Stammers of Cincinnati, Ohio, are in jail in Guatemala. They are charged with alleged complicity in a conspiracy to assassinate President Cabrera. Lullian was imprisoned here last year and Stammers was imprisoned here last year.
