

MABELLE GILMAN SCORNS AMERICAN SOCIAL LIFE

Actress Declares That She Will Not Attempt to Break Into the Inner Circle of the Four Hundred After She Marries Corey.

Miss Mabelle Gilman, Who Is to Wed William Ellis Corey Early in the Morning May 14.

Another visit was made to a florist's, where there was a hurried consultation and then Miss Gilman was driven to a manicure establishment, where she made a short visit.

No Social Campaign.
Miss Gilman told a theatrical manager who was at one time her own manager, something of her plans when she shall take her place in her Fifth avenue residence, after their honeymoon, and when she will be mistress of the Corey millions. It has been rumored that Miss Gilman was planning a social campaign, but this she denies. Her object, she declared to this man, is to establish a salon in New York which will rival the famous Parisian salons of other days. What a few other New York women have attempted to do Miss Gilman says she will carry through to completion. With her beauty, tact and accomplishments her friends declare this will be possible.

"I care absolutely nothing for society as it is known in this country," Miss Gilman said. "There is no interest in it. The people who interest me are those who have done something—those who are known in the world of music, art and literature. I hope that my home will be known as one which is frequented by the best of this kind of people."

The Bridal Gifts.
The bridal gifts are valued at $1,000,000. In addition to these Miss Gilman will have to be thankful for:
A palatial Fifth avenue home.
A $25,000 trousseau.
A midnight marriage in the royal suite of the Hotel Gotham.
A $5,000 wedding supper for 50 guests.
Three months' automobile honeymoon in Europe and the knowledge that her millionaire husband retains his place with the United States Steel corporation.

After the wedding ceremony the couple will board the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II and take possession of the captain's suite, which is especially prepared for them. Mr. Corey tried to secure Emperor William's imperial suite but found it had been already engaged by two western millionaires. Captain O. Coppers of the Kaiser William II heard of the steel magnate's predicament and consented to turn over his suite of three beautifully appointed rooms to the newly married couple.

Palatial Quarters.
Mr. Corey has arranged with the steamship officials to have meals served in the suite, so as to escape the gaze of passengers. The private dining room is elaborate in white and gold and costly upholstery, but even its elegance is dimmed somewhat by the splendor of the sleeping apartment which is adjoining on the starboard side of the ship and the fittings of which cost thousands of marks.

Four stewards, as well as their personal valet and maid, will attend the wants of the couple. They will leave the ship at Cherbourg and thence travel by motor car to the villa which Mr. Corey purchased for his bride.

They will visit Nice, Monte Carlo, Paris and Ostend and tour southern France in a new French automobile waiting for their arrival at Cherbourg. Mr. Corey will absent himself from his duties as president of the Steel trust for three months. After their honeymoon the Coreys will live at their recently acquired Fifth avenue home.

Bird S. Coler, borough president of Brooklyn, after a trip through the west and talks with many political leaders, announces that in his opinion William J. Bryan and Charles E. Hughes will be the 1908 candidates for the presidency.

HOT CONTEST ON FOR JUDGESHIP

Retirement of William J. Wallace Signal for Lively Scrap in New York.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE IS TO CHOOSE GOOD MAN

Roosevelt Declares Politics Shall Not Enter Into the Matter and That New Magistrate Will Be Selected for Personal Qualifications.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Washington, May 11.—The early retirement of Judge William J. Wallace of the second circuit of New York has brought to the White House a warm contest for the vacancy. H. W. Taft of New York talked to the president today about the filling of the vacancy, saying he is interested only in getting a first-class man. Representative Parsons, chairman of the New York Republican county committee, has already discussed the subject with the president, and others have talked it over with him. He has also received numerous letters. It is understood that he will carefully consider the suggestions made to him before he takes action.

It is declared that the appointment is likely to provoke charges of political influence, but the president hopes to avoid this and has determined to give most careful consideration to the whole subject. With the election of a district judge to the circuit bench he probably will select a district judge from one of the following men: J. Addison Young, at present prosecuting attorney of Westchester county; F. W. Fellow, who was at one time the attorney of Harry Thaw; Howard Thayer Kingsbury, Oliver C. Semple and William M. Bennett, all of New York county.

PUGILIST WOULD SAVE NEPHEW FROM DISGRACE

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Washington, May 11.—John L. Sullivan visited the White House again today to urge clemency for his nephew, John L. Lennon, who is confined at Governor's Island, New York, for desertion from the marine corps. According to Sullivan, the boy got into bad company and overstayed his leave three days. Technically he was guilty of desertion and he has been found guilty of that charge.

John L. said that he will conclude his theatrical engagement in two weeks and then will go to the mud baths in Indiana to get rid of his rheumatism.

"Why don't you stop eating meat, potatoes and such things and drink milk, Lithia water and such things?" some one asked the ex-champion.

"Oh, I'm not one of those vegetable fellows," declared John L., "and I must have good beefsteak, some mutton chops or something of that kind. I am dead sure I can't keep in good condition on cabbage, salads and rice puddings."

The latest presidential boom sprung is that for James Rudolph Garfield, secretary of the Interior. It comes from an Ohio congressman, who is trying to steer clear of the Foraker-Taft fight. He says that Garfield would make a "stem-winding" candidate; that he would be able to cement all factions of the party and would make a first-class president.

CHESTERFIELD CLOTHES

Are made for gentlemen of refinement and good taste. They have the sort of style that makes them look the part.

The spring models are now being shown and when you are ready to buy your spring suit try on a Chesterfield and see if the fit, the style and the quality of the cloth are not surprisingly better than any clothes you have ever worn.

There are no clothes made in this entire country which rightly deserve a place in the same class. If you have a spare moment or two drop in and we will be glad to prove it. You'll see how vastly superior they are over any clothes you have ever seen.
