GROOM GROWS ANGRY AT SIGHT OF CAMERAS CLARA KERSCHER FOUND IN DYING CONDITION

Threatens to Break Machines in the Hands of Reporters, but is Calmed by Spouse and Finally Wishes Good Luck to All New York. Fisherman Hears Groans, and Discovers Child While She is Breathing Her Last on Floor of Dirty Hovel in the Woods.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, May 14.—For a brief period of time this morning it looked as though a storm of wrath was to be the un-suspicious beginning of the honeymoon of William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, and Mabelle Gilman, the actress, who were married at the Hotel Gotham shortly after midnight. Corey, who for months has been harassed by photographers and newspaper men, at the pier this morning became enraged and declared he would break their cameras if they did not desist.

Seeing that her husband was fast losing all control of himself, Mrs. Corey restrained him and soon had him in a good humor. So happy was the steel magnate after his little fit of anger had passed that he genially declared to the reporters: "I wish you, and all New York, the best of luck."

Elaborate planning was not in vain in the Corey-Gilman wedding and the entire ceremony passed without a hitch. The wedding supper was served before the ceremony, as had been announced, and the couple were united in marriage before an altar in the double salon of the royal suite.

Leaving the Hotel Gotham at an early hour this morning the bridal party was driven to the pier from whence the Coreys set sail for Europe for their honeymoon at 7 o'clock this morning.

Those who attended the wedding were: Mrs. Jeannette Gilman, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Thomas of McKeesport, Pa., brother-in-law and sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peck of Gloverville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Corey, father and mother of the groom; Braddock, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Corey Jr. of Donora, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanley Riggs of New York, brother-in-law and sister of the groom; Miss Francis Erskine Shaw of London; Judge and Mrs. Elbert H. Gray of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Alva Dinkey of Pittsburgh; James Gayler of New York; Alfred Carr of New York; Charles W. Baker of New York; W. S.

EXTRAORDINARY CAREER OF PIONEER COGSWELL

To the Coast in Forty-Six and Dies at Ninety-Three—Romantic Courtship.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., May 14.—John Cogswell, one of the oldest residents of Lane county and a pioneer of 1846, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Idaho E. Campbell, in Eugene yesterday at the age of 93 years. He was born at Holly, New York, and in boyhood came west with his parents to Michigan, and to this coast in 1846, staying in California one year, and coming on to Oregon in 1847. Up to a few months ago Mr. Cogswell appeared hale and hearty, and was down town every day, greeting his many friends. When he finally began to fail in health he went down rapidly, and for several weeks previous to his death the physicians could give no hopes for his recovery.

The deceased was married to Miss Mary Gay in 1847, and for a moment in an emigrant train on the plains during one of his three horseback trips to the eastern states from Oregon. On his return he sought far and wide until he found and won her. To them eight children were born, of whom four are now living and were at his bedside at the time of his death. They are: Boliver Cogswell of Muddy, Linn county; Mrs. Idaho E. Campbell of Eugene; Mrs. E. H. Ingham of Portland and Mrs. George M. Miller of Eugene.

THERE'S ONE THING EVERY PATRON OF THIS TAILOR SHOP IS SURE OF—

And that is absolute satisfaction. No man who ever had a suit made by the Columbia Woolen Mills Co. ever had reasonable ground for complaint, for it's one of our hard and fast rules never to deliver a faulty garment or to allow a patron to express dissatisfaction without taking heed, righting any wrong, and correcting any error. If a man carries away hard feeling, it's all his own fault.

A garment tailored Columbia way very seldom falls short of the high standard we set, but if it does, we're not the sort of fellows unwilling to acknowledge it. No, sir. A square deal, to every man, every time, is the policy here.

Columbia tailoring will please any man who admires artistic clothing; our methods will satisfy; and Columbia tailoring will save you money.

WOMAN'S QUICK WIT IS MEANS OF SAVING LIFE

Angry Peasants Fall Upon Lunatic, and After Hacking Him to Pieces, Throw His Body to the Beasts in the Street.

(Journal Special Service.) St. Petersburg, May 13.—Her tiny baby boy was the only solace of the widow in Brianak. Her husband had been killed, perhaps by a Japanese bullet, perhaps flogged to death by his superiors. The boy was born after the father had been summoned away to the east.

The other night there came to the widow of her lonely hut the tap of a pilgrim. The widow admitted an old man who carried his arm in a sling. He was cold and hungry and at his request she built up a big fire in the stove and placed on top of it a huge pot of water.

The mother at first was dazed. When the pilgrim declared that the gods demanded the sacrifice of her only son, she perceived that he was a maniac. She also noticed that he had armed himself with a knife and the hatchet.

Old Luigi took part in all the merry-making, the dancing and drinking. He suddenly conceived a violent passion for the pretty bride. He made advances to her, which were repulsed. But the old man's infatuation grew. He became more insistent. When spiritedly rebuffed by the youthful wife he seized a long butcher knife and stabbed her. Her husband rushed to her aid from the fields in response to her screams. As he entered the room his father attacked him, also stabbing him.
