

MACHINE AND PEOPLE WILL FIGHT AT POLLS

Battle in June Between Man Standing for People's Interests and Boss Rule—Lincoln Republican Says Mayor Lane Has Served City and Disregarded Politics.

The present municipal campaign is a battle of man and the policy of the people against that of machine rule, according to Philo B. Eames of 275 Michigan avenue. Mr. Eames is one of the leading residents of the city and has lived here during all the different regimes for many years. He is an old-time Republican, a Lincoln man who has supported the cause of Republicanism since the civil war. In the pending campaign, however, he has pinned his faith on Mayor Lane and will vote and work for his reelection.

"The time has come," said Mr. Eames this morning, in discussing present conditions, "when the voter should look not for the party tag on a candidate, but for the stamp of approval set by high principle and a deep regard for the rights and needs of the whole people. In Mayor Lane I am confident that we have that man."

Man, Not Party.
"I have watched his administration and have noted the blocks thrown in his way by the opposition in its effort to prevent the accomplishment of those things he has deemed for the best interest of a clean city. In spite of these things he has given the best administration Portland has ever seen. He should be placed once more in the position to carry his policies to completion.

"Dr. Lane has been buffeted by some of his own party because he did not put only Democrats in office, those who made this criticism overlooking the fact that he was sworn to abide by the civil service laws as well as to work for the best interests of all the people. He has been opposed by the Republican politicians because he is a Democrat, and because of that alone."

Forced Better Records.
"A coldness has sprung up between Mayor Lane and City Auditor Devlin because when Mayor Lane went into office he went down into the auditor's office and insisted that all the books of that office be kept strictly in the interest of the people. He found some laxity there, and because he found this condition and insisted that it be overcome the mayor and the auditor have been at loggerheads practically during the entire two years of the present administration. This is not to the discredit of the mayor, according to my belief, and should be one of the things taken into consideration by the voters when they go to the polls to cast their ballots."

"I am a Lincoln Republican," concluded Mr. Eames. "I was brought up that way and have stood for what Lincoln represented during all the years that have come since he laid down the great principles of justice which made him so beloved to the nation. And now in advocating and election of Dr. Lane I contend that I am still a Lincoln Republican, as well as a Lane Republican, for the present administration stands for the clean and honest administration of public affairs and for the direction of civic business to the end of public decency. He does not represent machine rule, class or special dominion, and stands for no interest but the interest of the whole people of Portland."

PHONE COMPANIES INVADE ST. JOHNS

Both Ask Franchises From Council—Work on City Hall Progresses.

J. H. Thatcher, district manager of the Pacific Lumber Company, attended the meeting of the St. Johns council last night and presented a franchise for the approval of the council. The terms are similar to those made by the Home company recently. The franchise of the Home Telephone company has passed the second reading and the third and last reading cannot be taken until next month, according to the charter. The friends of both these companies will make a big fight and interesting developments are expected. At present the sentiment in the council seems to be in favor of the Home company.

DAVID HARUM HORSE BASIS FOR LAW SUIT

Docile Animal Stood Without Hitting and Had Other Well-Remembered Characteristics.

"Unwritten law," the kind that figures in the code of the horse trader and handed down to succeeding generations by one David Harum Esq. is to figure in a case on the docket of the east side justice court. The defendant, A. L. Hellman, alleges that he was beaten in a horse trade with Roy Martin, who represented his horse to be perfectly sound and without hitching and possessed of several other meritorious but ambiguous qualifications that might be variously interpreted. When he came out of his trance the defendant charges that he had been beaten out of $30, a $30 watch and as a climax had been handed a huge lemon in the shape of a horse hardly worth the powder and shot to kill him.

OLD GENTLEMAN FOUND WHO WANDERED AWAY

Robert Shannon, the old gentleman who wandered from his home at 439

JEFFERSON STREET YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

was found this morning at the North Portland hotel, near the end of the sixteenth street car line, where he was taken in last night by the hotel proprietor and given shelter. Mr. Shannon left home late yesterday afternoon, wandered down to Washington street, where he boarded a sixteenth street car. When found he was unable to tell where he lived or the name of his people. He was taken care of at the hotel last night by the proprietor, who this morning notified the chief of police, Mrs. J. H. Scott, his daughter, with whom he lives, went for him this morning, but he was unable to recognize her. He is near 80 years of age and his mind has weakened in the last few months.

How to Avoid Spinal Meningitis.

When you see it approaching, turn and cross the street, avoiding personal contact with the same care as you do when likely to meet a bacillus bacilli, vulgarly known as a real estate dealer. Retain your presence of mind. Don't get excited. Above all things, keep away from the elevators surrounding the city which can be discerned with the naked eye on a clear day and can be reached by automobile at $5 an hour in almost the same time, where a rough and jagged city lot might fall from a balloon crushing you and marring the beauty of the heights, far races and crests by scattering your cerebellum over the scenery. Don't buy a lot so narrow that you cannot see it when approaching it sideways; it might tear your garments and lacerate your feelings. Avoid lotteries. You might draw a lot that would embarrass you to pay the taxes on it, or it would be so plastered with installment coupons that there would be no building when left; and, besides, an editor was recently indicted for drawing a subscription blank or something similar. Lotteries are dangerous.

Unout Diamond Exhibit.

What is probably the first and only exhibit in this city of diamonds in the rough in the different stages it to be seen in the window of Marks & Bloch, 74 Third street. The wages of the men who cut these diamonds range from $45 to $50 per week, and the polishers receive from $30 to $45 per week.
