

CHAOS PROMOTER CITY IN DANGER TO SPEAK HERE OF BIG FIRE

Emma Goldman, the Anarchist Leader, Will Deliver Three Lectures in Portland.

ADVANCE AGENT IS ARRANGING HER VISIT

Woman Who Figured in McKinley Assassination Speaks Here in June—Will Talk on the Doctrines of Anarchism.

Emma Goldman, apostle of anarchy, lecturer and martyr, will be in Portland the first week in June to talk to the people. Her advance agent, A. B. Beyer, a Russian anarchist of but four years' experience in this country, arranged for the coming of the woman who but five months ago was arrested on the charge of having been instrumental in inciting a riot.

But Emma Goldman is not a bomb thrower and she wants it so understood. She wants to enlighten the common people, and she talks to them concerning anarchism. She denies that the practice of anarchy is impossible under the present system and she declares that it does exist to a certain extent.

Three lectures will be delivered here, the first on Saturday evening, June 1. The lectures will be delivered in the Redmen's hall, on Washington street, between Ninth and Tenth, and admittance will be free, although incidentally the lecturer will exploit her publication, the "Mother Earth," the organ of anarchism in the United States, those feeling willing to subscribe being invited to do so.

The first lecture will be on "Misconception of Anarchism." Sunday afternoon, June 2, Miss Goldman will lecture on "Direct Action versus Legislation," and Sunday evening her theme will be "Revolutionary Spirit in the Modern Drama."

Emma Goldman has been here before and an anarchist society exists in Portland. She served 10 months on Blackwell's Island in 1893 for giving expression to doctrines not approved of by the law and she was recently accused of having conspired with Caspary to accomplish the assassination of McKinley. She proved, however, that she only held a brief conversation once with Caspary and that it did not concern the crime.

Cut out the Johnny and Jimmy Royal Bakery advertisement in this paper, also the rest of the series (one each Tuesday until the middle of June). Every boy and girl who can tell us which is Johnny and which is Jimmy in the last picture will receive a treat of Royal Bakery cakes.

FER-DON WELCOMED

Three thousand people gathered at Twentieth and Washington streets last night to greet him.

THEY WERE ASTONISHED

To see the wonderful demonstrations of his peculiar preparations which make the deaf to hear in three minutes.

MORE EXPECTED TONIGHT

No public character, known and beloved by the American people, receives more enthusiastic ovation and friendly applause than the Great Fer-Don, the man whose lectures and demonstrations here have been so eagerly looked forward to by the citizens of Portland. Not was last night an exception. Long before the hour set for the Great Fer-Don's first public appearance here people began to gather in all over the city, until, at 8 o'clock, the grounds in front of his lecture platform at Washington and Twentieth streets held a crowd of at least three thousand people. When Fer-Don, preceded by his Diamond Cluster Band, reached the place he was greeted with cheers and from the first selection by his band until the close of the entertainment those present vote the evening one of valuable instruction and pleasing recreation.

Fer-Don's reputation as an orator is of the highest and it was more than made good last evening, as evidenced by the attention given to his every utterance. Of pleasing personality, his masterful eloquence and his graceful delivery carried his audience along on a wave of enthusiasm, and those who had the pleasure of forming his audience left with a feeling that it had been good to be there and with the intention of coming again. But as enjoyable as was the address by Fer-Don, the people were even more interested in the demonstrations which were performed by his wonderful medical compounds. Among those demonstrations upon we will mention two.

Mr. Frank Stewart of 281 Lowndale avenue, this city, has a sufferer with quinsances know, been a sufferer with deafness for a long time. When he came upon the platform last night he hardly knew whether to expect relief or not. But at five minutes he found it, for in less than five minutes he was so much improved that he could easily hear an ordinary toned conversation.

"Well, everything is worth trying," evidently thought William Hoffman, a barber in the Chamber of Commerce building, who lives at 195 Sixth street. And Mr. Stewart knows what a drawback to his life his deafness really is, for more than fifteen years ago an accident deprived him of his hearing in the left ear. He experienced one of Fer-Don's demonstrations and in three minutes was astonished to find his hearing improved. So pleased was he that he addressed the people and told them that, while even then he could not hear very plainly, that the wonderful part of it all was that after so long a time he could hear at all.

Fer-Don evidently knew whereof he spoke when he said that the people of Portland would all know of and wonder at him and his medicines before he had been here a week. For if this was a sample of his work it will certainly prove a blessing to the sick and afflicted people of our city.

Fer-Don stated that he would continue his free concerts and demonstrations every evening this week at Twentieth and Washington streets, and that he had opened offices in the Grand Theatre building, at Washington street. For the Fer-Don medical experts, who would treat all chronic diseases and perform their wonderful bloodless surgery upon tumors, cancers, and introduce a new knifeless cure for appendicitis.

Chief Campbell Tells What Might Happen if the System Became Crippled.

BUSINESS DISTRICT AT MERCY OF FLAMES

Head of Department Urges Voters to Adopt Measure in June Providing for New Fireboat and Separate Water Mains.

"Should a fire occur in the congested business district of Portland today and the water system become temporarily crippled during its early progress the city would be at the mercy of the fire," said Fire Chief Campbell this morning. The fire-fighting apparatus is not complete and will not be complete until the department has been equipped with an additional fireboat and the separate water mains provided for in the act to be voted on at the June election.

"Among the business men of Portland I find a disposition to work for the passage of the act providing for the fireboat and the installation of the high-pressure water mains to extend back a distance of six blocks on either side of the river. Portland will never have expended $175,000 in a better cause and, with the added equipment, nothing in modern fire-fighting science will be lacking in protection. Should something happen at a crucial moment to the city water system the two fireboats would be able to pour on the flames 15,000 gallons of water per minute.

"Over on the east side there is a tendency to distrust the act, suggestion being made that the mains are to remain dry. For the installation of residents there I would say that the mains are to be laid as deeply in the ground as the regular city water mains, and they will be filled with water at all times.

"In case of fires six or eight blocks back from the waterfront on either side of the river the fireboats will attach their hoses to the mains, which will give pressure sufficient for effective work by hose companies and engines. The supply of water for the fireboats is inexhaustible. With the addition of the proposed fireboat and separate water mains, I look for a permanent pumping station ultimately to be located at the edge of the river.

"This is the latest thing in fire fighting where a city has such natural advantages. Many large eastern cities have them and several coast cities are advocating their installation. Milwaukee has four fireboats, Buffalo has three, Detroit two, Philadelphia three boats and a permanent pumping station and New York has 13 fireboats. San Francisco is advocating the same system and Seattle will probably follow Portland's initiative.

"To cover the purchase of the additional boat and the construction of the water mains the fire department needs $175,000—$125,000 for the fireboat and the remainder for the separate mains."

PEACE ASSOCIATION PLANS FIRST WORK

Walls Nash, Father Black and William MacMaster Form Arbitration Board.

After months of effort in perfecting an organization, the National Industrial Peace association made its first move in performing the objects of its constitution by confirming a committee on conciliation and arbitration as follows: Walls Nash, Father James H. Black and William MacMaster.

The committee reported that it is considering the difficulties between the ironworkers and their employers and a movement will be made by the industrial association to prevent the strike that is impending between the factions. In case difficulties arise the committee has the power to call a meeting of the board of directors to consider questions that permit of no delay.

The following new members were appointed to the board of directors last night: Otto Klesman, Charles Merrick, J. D. Lee, Martin Schacht and John P. Shields. P. H. Scullin, who has been so successful in organizing the association, is pleased with the manner in which Portland people have taken hold of the industrial peace association and predicts a great success for its future.

NOLTA CLUB HOT FOR STREET IMPROVEMENT

Association Consumes Entire Evening Discussing Plans for Betterment.

Proposed improvements of Michigan avenue engaged almost the entire time of the Nolta Improvement association at its regular meeting last night on Killingsworth avenue. On account of the many other improvements contemplated for that neighborhood sentiment was divided as to the immediate advisability of improving the street.

Gravel and cement walks were the improvements discussed. The matter of a sewer for the peninsula was brought up but no definite action was taken. A company has been incorporated to build a fire house and install it with apparatus. But it was stated that because there are no fire hydrants a fire company on Killingsworth avenue would be practically useless at present. A company will not be installed until hydrants are put in by the city.

Dr. L. M. Davis of Multnomah was present and announced that he had filed his petition of 1,300 names and was running as a candidate for councilman at large.

WILL FEAST YOUNG WOMEN

Jamestown Excursion Party Are to Be Guests at Commercial Club Dinner Tonight.

A strong program has been prepared for the monthly dinner of the Commercial club this evening. Dinner will be served at the usual hour, about 6 o'clock. A large number of business men have signed the list. The general topic to be discussed will be "Portland and its Relation to the Pacific Northwest." Some of the ablest speakers in the club have consented to talk on commercial and development problems and their solution.

Talks will be made by Wallis Nash, J. Thorburn Rose, T. W. E. London, E. W. Wright, George W. Stapleton, Senator Fulton, W. M. Calk, C. M. Idleman, R. M. Hall and others.

The 15 young women who will visit the Jamestown exposition as the guests of the Pacific Northwest excursion arranged by Philip S. Bates, editor of the publication, will be entertained at this evening's dinner. In the party of young women will be: Mrs. C. E. Redfield, Chaperon; Misses Marie Smith of Cannon, Edith Robinson, Canyon City; Helen Swain, Burns; Stella C. Campbell, Klamath Falls; Gladys Shaw, Albany; Audrey Woolrey, Ione; Ellen Harrison, Tillamook; Blanche Langley, Forest Grove; Mrs. McCoskey, Milwaukie; Pansy Seelman, Baker City; Ada Metcalf, Corvallis; Ethel Chapman, Bend; Dollie Hefry, Douglas county.

The Commercial club has answered a request of the Seattle Commercial club that a joint memorial be sent to President Roosevelt "protesting against the abuses of the Interstate law by the railroads of the country" by a return letter informing the Seattle organization that the Portland club had been working on that plan for the past 12 months.

PAINTING AT ACHESON'S

Pictures Painted While You Wait, by E. M. Burt.

A crowd of men, women and children were gathered all day long in front of the show windows of the J. M. Acheson company at Fifth and Alder streets watching the celebrated painter, E. M. Burt of New York, turn out pictures with lightning rapidity. It did not appear to matter much about the size of the pictures, and all sorts of subjects were handled, from Mount Hood to bits of beauty on the seashore. It was interesting to note the apparently reckless fashion with which Mr. Burt would begin a picture and then in a moment with a few careless strokes of the brush straighten out the irreconcilable view and make the canvas look beautiful and pleasing to the eye. Scores of pictures embracing a great variety of subjects were painted yesterday and only a few minutes were devoted to each picture. Mr. Burt is truly a marvel.
