

OFFICE HOLDERS ARE TOO ACTIVE

Friends of Governor Hughes Protest Against President's Campaigning.

BAD BLOOD ENGENDERED BETWEEN BIG POLITICIANS

New York Executive and Roosevelt Clash Over Taft Boom and Latter Is Condemned for Actions of His Appointees.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, May 21.—The most significant development in the field of national politics is the violent protest registered with President Roosevelt by the friends of Governor Hughes of New York against the activity of federal office-holders in present campaigns for control of state delegations. Like protests are being sent from Ohio, where, as in New York state, the federal office-holders are more actively engaging in politics than at any time for years past. The significance lies in the fact that friends of the president prevented an endorsement of Governor Hughes the other day at the meeting of the Republican state committee. A resolution was introduced endorsing Hughes for the presidency, and it was tabled at the instance of the president, who had advance information that it was to be offered.

Bad Blood Engendered.

It is no longer a matter of doubt that bad blood has been engendered between the president and Governor Hughes. The latter is presumed to be looking towards the 1920 nomination or at least to desire his chances not to be prejudiced adversely. The president no longer makes secret of his desire to see Secretary Taft named, and although Taft's supporters realize that their candidate is being more or less injured by the creation of an impression that his campaign is being managed by Mr. Roosevelt, the president continues to maintain his intense activity.

It is understood that the federal office-holders believe that the retention of the president's good graces depends on their activity in their respective states. Inasmuch as the president was one of the original advocates of civil service reform, and gave expression often to opinions strongly adverse to federal office-holders taking part in political campaigns, the general belief that his office-holders are especially active along that line has wrought to his injury.

Hughes Resentful.
Most well-informed men here now accept as settled that Governor Hughes purposes to fight his own battles, and resents the interference of the president through the federal office-holders. To add to the confusion, the Civil Service League of New York issued a statement showing that the president was on record years ago as against political activity by office-holders, and the league called attention to the dismissal of Archie Sanders, collector at Rochester, New York, avowedly to support Governor Hughes, Sanders being thought to be obnoxious to the governor.

COOPERATIVE PLAN TO FORCE LAND SALES

Eugene Attorney Devises Assessment System and Is Off to Frisco to File Papers.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Junction City, Or., May 21.—The entering of timber lands has become a very exciting pursuit here. G. F. Skipworth, an attorney of Eugene, and W. C. Washburne, notary public here, have devised a system of application blanks for filing on railroad timber lands occasioned by the prospective forced sale by the government of the Southern Pacific railroad's land holdings under the congressional land grant. The number registering from Saturday until noon today was 125, each making application before the notary public for 160 acres of land on a form of affidavit similar to that of timber land entries. Each applicant pays $5, which is supposed to insure him that he is the first one to file on the piece of land he wants, and the money goes to pay the expenses of Attorney Skipworth to San Francisco and return. He left yesterday to file the papers with the land agent of the Southern Pacific, the present owner of the O & C. land grant.

PRESBYTERIANS SAY HIERARCHY IS PLANNED

(Journal Special Service.) Columbus, O., May 21.—If the majority of the presbyterians approve the scheme the next general assembly of the Presbyterian church will adopt a plan creating executive committees to handle the affairs of the different synods; these committees to be headed by the moderators, who will serve for one year. This scheme was denounced as an attempt to establish a Catholic hierarchy by some members of the assembly, but the executive committee succeeded in getting overtures prepared and these will be submitted to the church for approval during the year.

TO THE GRAVE LOVED BY ALL

Mrs. R. F. Munroe Was a Hostess Whose Guests Were as of Her Own Family.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Arlington, Or., May 21.—Mourning pervades Gilliam county today on account of the death of Mrs. R. F. Munroe, who was known as the most beloved woman in the county. As a hostess she enjoyed the acquaintance ship and good will of every guest who ever stopped at her husband's hotel. The traveling public will miss her as much as her immediate friends and it will never be expected that any one can fill her place in the matter of entertaining guests. Her death was very sudden and was caused by neuralgia of the heart.

Mrs. Munroe, whose maiden name was Ella McLaughlin, was born at St. Joseph, Missouri, in 1859 and moved with her parents to Bentonville, Benton county, Arkansas, when a child. There she resided until 1900 when she moved from Arkansas to Condon, Oregon, just after the death of her first husband. In 1901 she met and married Fred Munroe, then a prominent sheepman of this county. Shortly after the marriage Mr. Munroe purchased the Grande hotel of this city and for six years it has been under his management. He was assisted by Mrs. Munroe as an active member of the church. She leaves one son, Marshall McCurry of this city, who is the only child. The funeral took place at Condon Sunday.

CHIEF JOSEPH STAYHI WILL PICK MORE FRUIT

Report of Death Was a Fake, He Says—Mrs. Stayhi Cracks a Joke on Him.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hood River, Or., May 21.—After being chronicled by many papers in the state as the next general assembly of the presbyterians, Chief Joseph Stayhi has appeared in Hood River, alive and "skookum," to the amazement of his many friends. Stayhi is one of the most expert strawberry pickers and field foremen among the many Indians who come to Hood River annually to harvest the big berry crop. For several years he has had charge of the large patch of E. H. Shepard, manager of the Fruit Growers' union. He has made it a practice to reconnoiter in advance of the time to commence picking. He went out into the valley soon after his arrival and on his return announced, "Crop much good this year."

When questioned about the report of his death, an expansive smile wreathed his copper-hued visage and he grunted: "No catchem Stayhi dead. Stayhi much good long time yet. Plenty newspapers lie. Man dead, not Stayhi. Pick plenty berries yet."

Chief Stayhi's home is near Lyle, where he owns a ranch. He has gone back up the river to gather up pickers and will return with them in time for the berry season. At the conclusion of the season last year he received for his faithful services he was offered a new suit of wearing apparel. To this he shook his head and remarked, "No, no catchem clothes, catchem trunk." The trunk he selected was full of brass-headed nails. Stayhi was very proud of the gift, but says that on reaching home his wife after looking it over informed him that by cutting off his arms and legs it would make a fine coffin for him. This he considered was a joke, and repeats with considerable gusto, "No catchem dead, yet; no catchem dead."

GOLDEN LEAF'S OWNERS FEEL SURE OF BONANZA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Starveout, Or., May 21.—Work will soon begin in earnest on the Golden Leaf mining claim on Starveout creek, which seems to have a bright future. Assays from the upper levels show $18.80 to lie ton in free gold. There is one shoot on the vein that will reach the thousands. The vein is from four to six feet wide. The formation is porphyry and diorite. The vein has ribbon quartz similar to that of the once famous Greenback of the Grays. The owners, J. C. Rickard and L. A. Curtis, are preparing to do a big lot of development work. They feel sure they have the best showing on Starveout creek. The development work will be in the lower level to tap the rich ore shoot at a good depth.

SPOKANE MAYOR ON CAMPAIGN OF REFORM

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, May 21.—Variety halls, criba, dance halls and restaurant boxes were effectively put out of business here by the order of Mayor Moore issued yesterday and served last night by the chief of police. Written promise to obey the law is to be exacted by the mayor from the offenders and refusal to sign the paper will result in the forcible removal of the offending restaurant boxes.

A TONIC AND SPECIFIC

HOW DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS RESTORE LOST STRENGTH.

A Doctor's Prescription, Not a Cure-all, They Have One Purpose, to Make Rich, Red Blood.

General debility is due to impure blood. Its causes are worry, overwork, failure of the body to retain its health after a severe sickness, lack of nourishment from a disordered digestion, or some drain upon the body, all of which result in thinning the blood, preventing it from carrying health and nourishment to the tissues of the body. The way to cure it is to build up the blood and enable the various organs to perform their functions.

Mr. John F. Williams of 911 Lincoln st., Anderson, Ind., who is in the boot and shoe business, says: "In 1907 I was taken sick with typhoid fever, which left me completely run down. I went back to work before I entirely recovered my strength and the close confinement of the store was too much for my weakened body. I did not give up as I should have done, but kept at my work, although I suffered a great deal from sick headaches and pains in the back. The sick headaches came on me about every 10 or 12 days and the doctors said they were caused from my eyes. My stomach was weak, appetite poor and complexion sallow. I had night sweats, which so weakened me, that I had little interest in my work."

"I tried several doctors but got no better and remained in this condition until I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and started to take them. I got so much relief from the first few boxes that I used them until I was entirely cured. I am perfectly well now, but I think I should have given up as I should have done, but kept at my work, although I suffered a great deal from sick headaches and pains in the back. The sick headaches came on me about every 10 or 12 days and the doctors said they were caused from my eyes. My stomach was weak, appetite poor and complexion sallow. I had night sweats, which so weakened me, that I had little interest in my work."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood, enabling it to carry life and strength to the weak nerves and other tissues of the body. They are a specific for such blood diseases as anemia, rheumatism, the after-effects of the grip and fevers, and for such nervous diseases as dizziness, sick headaches, neuralgia, and have accomplished miraculous results even in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

A valuable booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," containing full information about blood diseases and their treatment will be sent free upon request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SAN FRANCISCO TO TEST MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, May 21.—In the June budget of the board of supervisors the sum of $400,000 will be provided for use with the $350,000 already appropriated for the purchase of the Geary street cable line and its operation by the city. This will be San Francisco's first attempt at municipal ownership and is a move which has been under consideration for some time.

When the Geary street line is taken over by the city, under the direction of District Attorney Langdon, it will immediately be converted into a conduit electric system.

For two years San Francisco has been in a position to take over this line. Its franchise expired at that time and renewal was refused. Finally the company was permitted to operate under a license providing that the road be sold to the city on demand.

Back From the East.

Paul Strain arrived yesterday from a month's visit to New York. "Over the backward season, continued cold and unpleasant weather during April, many wholesalers were overloaded with goods, and it was my good fortune to pick up a number of stocks of merchandise at about my own figures," said Mr. Strain, when seen in The Hub Clothing company yesterday. "All the merchandise I bought is of this season's make, and when it arrives here in a few days I propose to rattle up the buyers' bones of competition. The secret of buying merchandise is to buy the right goods at the right season, and get the right price. Then an attractive figure can be quoted the public. Therein you have the secret of the country. It is declared that the city is in a more critical condition, financially, now than at any time since the disaster."

ALL BUILDING MAY STOP IN BAY CITY

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, May 21.—Fifty thousand dollars may be thrown out of employment by the action of the Builders' Exchange tomorrow night. Contractors here have declared themselves in favor of discontinuing all work on structures now in the course of construction, and if they do so their army of employes will be plunged into idleness.

Tightening of the money market, the increase of interest from 6 to 8 percent, the street car strike, and general labor troubles, have been the primary causes of the desire of the contractors. It is declared that the city is in a more critical condition, financially, now than at any time since the disaster.

FOUR WASHINGTON CONVICTS PAROLED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Olympia, Wash., May 21.—Governor Mead today granted the following paroles:

Oro Sullivan, sentenced in Chelan county, February 21, 1906, to three years for forgery. The superintendent of the penitentiary recommends the prisoner for parole in view of good conduct and reliability proved as a trustee.

William F. Iry, sentenced in Pacific county February 21, 1906, to four years for burglary. The parole is granted on the ground of excellent record at the penitentiary and evidences of reformation.

M. S. Mayo, sentenced in Snohomish county February 28, 1906, to two years for burglary. This prisoner has served more than one full year and has been a model prisoner. With the exception of the crime for which he was imprisoned

Eugene Divinity School Closes the Most Prosperous Year in Its History.

Eugene, Or., May 21.—The twelfth annual commencement exercises of the Eugene Divinity school began Sunday morning, when Rev. J. J. Evans of Albany delivered the baccalaureate sermon at the First Christian church. At the conclusion of the service the following were ordained to the ministry: Karl Berg, N. E. Beach, W. A. Gressman, David E. Norcross, Mrs. Mary Benton, Chris Hanson, George Roach, Whipple, Frederic M. Brooke and Lulu Kelloms, the last named being a graduate of the department of oratory only.

The past year has been the most prosperous in the history of the school. Four students in the first year were established, the school has grown until this year there was an enrollment of 52 in the divinity school proper and a number in the department of oratory and the academy. Dr. E. C. Sanderson, who founded the school, has been the dean since its beginning and was chosen by the board of regents yesterday afternoon to continue in that capacity another year. The school is conducted by the Christian church and is the only institution of its kind supported by that denomination on the coast.
