FIVE DEATHS RESULT FROM GEORGIA BATTLE

Whites Surround Negro Home and Nearly Exterminate Family to Avenge Woman.

Claxton, Ga., May 22.—Suspecting that a negro who had assaulted Mrs. Laura Moore, a white woman, was concealed in the home of Sam Padgett, a negro, 15 white men surrounded the house and a battle ensued which resulted in the death of one white man and four negroes and the wounding of seven others. When the posse approached the house the negroes fired a volley, instantly killing John Hays, a farmer. The shot was returned and Padgett and one of his daughters were killed. In the skirmish that followed W. J. Pierson, James U. Daniel and J. L. Kennedy of the attacking party, and two sons of two of the negroes, were wounded. A mob of 500 men then joined the white party and captured Padgett's wife and son who had been taken into custody by a sheriff's posse. Telling the negroes to run for their lives the mob threw them down at a distance of 100 yards.

BIG RUSH TO LOCATE

(Continued from Page One.) their clients. It is said that they are agreed that the authorities are strongly in their favor, and that they enter the big legal battles that will ensue with much confidence of ultimate success. The method of procedure is for a number of claimants to join together to make a demand for the purchase of the lands, tendering the corporation the amount of money that a quarter section of the granted lands aggregate at the price fixed by act of congress. The result of the terms which provided that the sales will be the signal for a resort to the courts. It is understood that the plaintiffs will contend that in accepting the grant the corporation became a trustee with an interest in the title, a phrase well known to lawyers.

Government Made Terms. In the original act granting the lands to the Oregon & California, east side and west side, the corporations failed to complete a specified amount of railroad within a given time. Then the government renewed the grant contingent on the acceptance by the corporations of the terms which provided that the lands should be sold to actual settlers at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, and in tracts not to exceed 160 acres to a single purchaser.

The acceptance was filed by the successful corporation, which set the claimants will all sue up in relation of trustees with interest in the title. The allegation will be that the relation of trusteeship still obtains and that when a tender of the price and a demand for purchase is made the corporation has no other alternative but to comply with the terms of the original grant and that the courts will so hold. The amount of tender for a quarter is of course $400. A fixed form of tender and demand is made for each claim, and is properly and legally presented. The claimants expect, if they win in the courts, to be at once put in possession of their respective claims for the sum named. Under just what terms they will have to pass thereafter in order to fully comply with the law is not yet clear.

Actual residence on the land is accepted as one alternative by all claimants. This residence is not considered to be essential to be established before the time of purchase. It can, they contend, be fulfilled by actual living on the land after the decision of the courts. What the length of time for this residence must be is enigmatical. Some say a year and others three years, as by the terms of the old preemption method by which after three years' residence a homesteader by payment of $400 within railroad limits could prove up and obtain patent. In these subsequent details, however, there is little interest, the fever of the excitement having its focus on the point of forcing the corporation to disgorge. Incidentally, the forces arrayed before the company in the coming struggle are not a foe to be despised. They are determined men, who believe the equities of the issue are on their side, and the energy and other influences with which the corporations sometimes bamboozle congress and the other large factors of government will not serve the railroad now. It is no fake fight, but a war to the knife with the issues to be tried out on their merits, and no cessation of the fighting until the last ditch has been passed. Unless some unexpected obstacle, not yet discerned, puts the plaintiffs "hors du combat." Many of the quarter sections involved in the issue are believed to be worth $5,000, $5,000 or $10,000 each. The value of the whole 3,000 up the last passes in the counting, by tens of millions of dollars, and in all might be worth $100,000,000 or even more.

WASHINGTON MINERS AND OPERATORS IN FOR WAR

Black Diamond Strike is But a Skirmish in Campaign to Unionize the State.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., May 22.—The threatened strike at the Black Diamond coal mines, owned by the Pacific Coast company, it is believed, will not materialize. Officials of the company believe the services of additional deputy sheriffs will not be needed. Two extra deputies have been sent to Black Diamond, however. Fourteen men at the mines have been discharged and about 50 are laying off, but some of them are expected to report for work in a few days.

The trouble at the mines is the result of an effort to organize a union on Sunday. About 100 miners attended a meeting held on the country road just outside the mining town. About 70 signed the roll. Company officials declare they were all single men and not one was a property owner. It is believed the movement is an effort to strengthen the unions in the Northwestern improvement company, or Northern Pacific mines together for an agreement with the union. There has been a labor union in the Pacific Coast company mines since that corporation was formed. Company officials say the wage advances that have been granted by the company have always been given voluntarily. The last was granted in February.

RAILROADS REPLY TO LUMBERMEN'S COMPLAINT

(Journal Special Service.) Seattle, May 22.—Reply to the complaint of the Washington lumber men made against six railroads in their fight to open the Portland gateway has been filed with the interstate commerce commission. Being merely a transfer company the Portland Terminal company declares it has no interest in the outcome of the suit. The Northern Pacific declares that both it and the Union Pacific have all the traffic they can handle from the mills tributary to their lines. The Colorado Midland is anxious for the ruling providing an equitable rate is given. The Colorado Southern and the Santa Fe deny interest in the outcome.
