C., May 22.—Tracts of land aggregating nearly 3,000,000 acres in the national forests in Washington, Oregon, California and Wyoming have just been released from temporary withdrawal by the interior department, at the request of the forest service. This action has been taken in order to readjust the boundaries of the national forests so as to include only land chiefly valuable for forest purposes. The tracts just released in the states named will be open to settlement late in July and to entry a month later. In the last two months tracts aggregating nearly 3,000,000 acres have been released at the request of the forest service.

STILL GREAT FIGHT ON ANNEXING YOUNGSTOWN

Opposers Fear Higher Taxes and Say Move Not in Good Faith, Anyhow.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, May 22.—The fight on the superior court will hear tomorrow an application for an order restraining West Seattle from holding an election to annex Youngstown. Alki Folio and contiguous territory, filed by W. E. Bell acting on behalf of Youngstown residents. The election is set for Saturday. The intention of the annexationists is to annex the territory mentioned to West Seattle and then annex West Seattle to Seattle proper. West Seattle wants to come into Seattle, but Youngstown lies between the two and saloon-keepers who fear the higher license, and property holders, who fear higher taxes, have been blocking the move. The saloon-keepers have been disposed of, as a measurement made by the county surveyor revealed the fact that they were within one mile of the West Seattle limits and therefore had no right to exist.

FAIRBANKS' SON HUNTS GOLD MINES IN NEVADA

Vice-President's Heir Has Been Roughing It in Rich Camps of Southern District.

(Journal Special Service.)
Reno, Nev., May 22.—R. M. Fairbanks, son of Vice-President Fairbanks, is now in Reno after a lengthy prospecting trip through the mining camps of Nevada. He has been in company with Ben Smith, a mining engineer who has large holdings in almost every district in the state. The vice-president's son brought back with him some excellent specimens of gold and silver ore, the best of which came from the new section of the Wonder camp, where he and Smith located several claims. The best of these has been named "Fairbanks," and judging from the samples taken from the outcroppings, it will rival many of the best mines in that section. The tall, fair son of the vice-president is young and rather unused to life on the desert, but he has caught the mining fever and has taken well to "roughing it" in prospecting camps.

DAUGHTERS ARREST LOVE-SMITTEN FATHER

(Journal Special Service.)
San Bernardino, May 22.—Boyle, for the past three months Santa Fe dispatcher at Needles, and Mrs. Elizabeth Alford, wife of a wealthy cotton broker of Nashville, Tennessee, are in the county jail bound over under $2,000 to answer to a statutory charge. Their arrest terminates a sensational elopement from Birmingham, Alabama, where Mrs. Alford was visiting friends. Boyle had a responsible position with the county jail bound over under $2,000. He met Mrs. Alford at a theatre party and his attachment was evident from the first. Three weeks later they disappeared. Boyle's wife and two daughters appealed to Broker Alford for assistance in running the eloping couple to earth, but Alford declared he wanted nothing more to do with his wife. Boyle's family finally located them at Needles. He ignored his daughters' pleading letters to abandon his charmer and return home and as a final effort the daughters appealed to the Needles authorities.

MEETS POVERTY

Rochester, New York, in October, 1822. At the age of 85 years he has a wonderful fund of information that is so accurate as to be little short of marvelous. In conversation he refers with great precision to historical characters, many of whom had been forgotten by the reporters who talked with him, and only recalled when the old man mentioned them in a familiar way.

Served With Fremont.

Ward graduated from Columbia university in 1844. He studied at Heidelberg and at Trinity college. In 1845 he came to Oregon in command of the north wing of Fremont's expedition. Later he entered the diplomatic service in Mexico. When the civil war broke out he went with his half brother, General Wallace, and for a time was adjutant-general of the Fifteenth army corps.

Was Minister to China.

Only Axis Appreciation.

The aged man says he expects to write another volume before he dies, something of a descriptive nature, along the lines of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." As he started to get on the stage that took him to the poor farm, some one said that he wished him good luck. Turning, with his hand on the knob of the door, he looked back and said: "There is no luck this side of the grave. The only luck I ask is appreciation at the hands of the American people. I shall stay out there—until my book is published. Then I will come in to the city. If the people do not receive my book kindly, I will go back again, and be a burden on the county as short a time as possible."

No definite solution of the financial trouble was reached and the papers are being prepared to place the corporation in involuntary bankruptcy.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Junction City, Or., May 22.—Four freight cars were badly wrecked here yesterday while a freight crew was making up a train. After backing up the main line with a heavy train the coupling failed to hold when the engineer tried to stop his train, and the heavy-loaded cars rushed down the main track at the speed of 10 miles an hour and crashed into the cars standing on the track, completely demolishing three cars loaded with lumber and breaking one in two in the middle that was loaded with lumber. The brakemen that were on the runaway cars tried to stop them with the hand brakes, but the air was cut off the cars and the hand brakes would not hold. They saw they could not stop the train and jumped to save their lives.

EDITOR'S SHEARS SAVE HIM FROM ASSAULT

(Journal Special Service.)
San Bernardino, May 22.—Editor Cowles of the Rialto Dispatch was attacked last night by O. J. Watkins, a "get-rich-quick" man, who had taken offense at the editor's crusade against the land swindlers perpetrated upon easterners. Cowles criticized Rialto citizens for tolerating the presence of alleged swindlers in the community, and described Watkins' office as a "stomach in the nostrils of the community." Watkins and three of his fellow promoters entered the editorial office by a rear door, and demanded an apology. Watkins pulled off his coat to fight. Armed with his shears, Cowles held his assailants at bay until a crowd appeared, when the assailants fled.

THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND LOSS IN A MILL FIRE

Curtiss Lumber Company's Big Plant at Mill City Barely Saved.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., May 22.—News comes from Mill City that early Sunday morning fire broke out in the store of the Curtiss Lumber company and destroyed that building with the office of the company. The fire spread so rapidly that it was only by the hardest work of the yards of the company were saved. Millions of feet of sawed lumber were endangered. The loss is estimated at $25,000 with insurance of $10,000. Indications point to an incendiary origin of the fire. The plant of the Curtiss Lumber company is one of the largest in the state and its destruction would have entailed not only an enormous loss to the company, but would have been a setback to building and manufacturing enterprises of the valley.

NOON IN PORTLAND

What is going on in town when the clock strikes 12. Noon, the dinner hour, the hour of comfort, of pleasure and relaxation—the one hour in the twenty-four which comes to men and women of every station with greater similarity than the hour of any other function in life. Promptly as the clock strikes 12 in Portland the shadows on anxious faces turn to lines of goodwill, and if villainous hot bread, pies, apples and other indigestibles were excluded there would be no such words as dyspepsia or indigestion in the dictionary. But the contrary is true, and medical science has to step in and aid the man who has been too busy to pay proper attention to health. The greatest step forward in medical discovery is Mi-o-na, which cures all stomach and digestive troubles.

BAY CITY TIED UP BY STRIKES

Reconstruction Work Will Be Suspended Because of Unjust Demands of Workmen.

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, May 22.—In San Francisco there is a fairly general suspension of work in the building trades which will complete the tieup of the town and practically end reconstruction for the present. Driven to desperation by the continued demands of organized labor, the employers have decided that the limit of endurance has been reached. Although no concerted action has been taken many carpenters and bricklayers have been laid off. At a meeting called for today the employers will discuss the situation and appoint a committee to confer with the Building Trades council, the big builders and banks. The banks have already shortened the line of credit of all borrowers and builders of the city have felt the pinch. It is future work that is most seriously threatened. Capitalists hesitate to erect large buildings while facing the possibilities of further labor difficulties. A large number of owners within the last few weeks have withdrawn building contracts and canceled plans when nearly completed by architects. One capitalist recently took out of the architect's hands plans for three large down-town structures.

Admiral Hichborn Praises Pe-ru-na.

Admiral's Words Carry Weight. Rear-Admiral Hichborn is one of the best-known officers in our navy. His statements concerning Peruna will have much weight as they go out in the world. What he says is echoed by many others of high standing.

Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Andrew Cooper, 337 Second St., Menasha, Wis., President of Menasha Horticultural Society, and member of Ancient Order of United Workmen, writes: "I suffered from kidney trouble for a number of years. I took Peruna for a couple of weeks before I noticed any change for the better, but my improvement was very fast after that, and in little while I could go to work again. I used Peruna for four months and was rid of all kidney trouble, the pain in my back was all gone, and I felt much better all around."

Exposure and Dampness.

Mr. Sylvester E. Smith, Room 218, Granite Block, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "Peruna is the best friend a sick man can have. A few months ago I came here in a wretched condition. Exposure and dampness had ruined my once robust health. I had contracted catarrh of the bronchial tubes and for a time there was a doubt as to my recovery. My doctor advised me to take Peruna, which I did, and in a short time my health began to improve very rapidly. The bronchial trouble gradually disappeared and in three months my health was fully restored."

Chronic Catarrh of the Head.

Mr. W. S. Wadsworth, 37 Chestnut St., Camden, Me., writes: "I felt a constant desire to clear my throat and head, and for months I lost my sense of taste and smell entirely. I expected your Peruna would be like other so-called catarrh remedies, but after persisting in its use for a reasonable length of time, I found I was mistaken. I think there is no remedy equal to Peruna for catarrh."
