

OUTLINE PLAN FOR BOULEVARD SYSTEM

Committee Presents Council With Report on the Proposed Construction of Million Dollar Driveways and Parks—if Adopted Will Provide Portland With Some of the Most Magnificent Scenic Routes.

An outline of the plan by which the $1,000,000 provided in an amendment to the city charter will be expended in laying out, establishing and surveying a system of boulevards and parks in Portland, was this morning presented to the park board by the special committee, comprising Dr. J. R. Wilson and Isadore Lang.

The boulevard and park appropriation will be voted on at the coming June election and will, if passed, provide Portland with one of the most magnificent systems in existence. The report describes the route to be taken in establishing the boulevards and parks, the former to afford a splendid view of the valley, the latter to provide recreation for thousands.

The report submitted to the board this morning by the committee is as follows:

Favors Olmstead Report.

Your committee appointed to prepare an outline statement of the views of the park board of the system of parks and boulevards to be purchased with the fund which is proposed to provide for the ordinance now pending before the people of Portland would respectfully submit the following:

Your committee, in company with members of the Initiative One Hundred, have gone over and viewed a good part of the system of parks and boulevards outlined in the report of Olmstead Brothers of Boston, made to the park board in 1903, and republished in the board's annual report of 1904, and after this personal examination are of the opinion that that report has outlined in the main the true system of parks and boulevards for Portland, and that whatever the park board shall do under the proposed ordinance if adopted by the people should be done in general conformity with this plan. In particular, your committee would mention three features of this system to the initiation and progressive working out of which the board if empowered to do so should itself.

Three Pleasing Features.

First—An encircling boulevard. Such a boulevard has been described in detail in the Olmstead report.

In outline, this might be briefly described as follows: Starting at the southern end of the park blocks at the head of West Park street, it would lead by a gently rising grade southeastward along the face of the hill of Marquam gulch, crossing this at some point up the gulch it would continue along and around the face of the opposite hill at a sufficient elevation to give a clear view over the city, to the hills and mountains beyond, still rising until a point this side of Riverview cemetery it should reach the summit of the hill at a point commanding an extended view of the valley beyond.

From this point it should continue as nearly as possible along the crest of the hill to a point beyond the cemetery, from which it should descend by an easy grade to the White Horse road. Crossing the river by an elevated bridge at some point not far from the golf links it should lead up to the first crest and thence northward along this to Sellwood, to a point from which, by an eligible line, it might run northward to Mount Labor, whence again, by northwesterly line, it should run down to the Willamette, making use river either along the north bank of Sullivan's gulch or by the bluff north of the O. R. & N. car shops, and should continue down the river along the bluff past Portemouth to St. Johns, as its northern terminus.

Starting again at the head of West Park street, another extension of the boulevard should lead in a northwesterly direction, rising gradually to the summit of the hills, leading thence along the sky line, passing for the most part rather than crossing the gulches to a point on the Willamette opposite the terminus of the boulevard of the east side, the two termini to be joined in time by an elevated suspension bridge.

This, in general, is the line of the proposed encircling boulevard in its full extent. The line of it should be secured for the greater part of its extent without cost to the city. The opening of such a boulevard would more than compensate the owners of abutting property for their dedication of a right of way. As large a part of this line should be secured at once as may be possible.

The part first purchased should be that part of the line where the extension of the city and the consequent rights and values would render its acquisition at a later time impossible, or at least difficult and costly. The securing of those parts of the line not liable to such contingencies might well be deferred. The grading and improving of the line after it has been secured should be begun at once and should be carried on as rapidly as the other interests of the system and the funds available may justify.

Second—A system of outlying parks. This boulevard as has been described would pass through or near desirable tracts of improved land, some well wooded, others bare but with fine outlooks, including slopes, ravines and hilly tops, some of which it would be well for the city to secure at once as parks. This would give a system of parks encircling the city made easily accessible by the connecting boulevards which might be made more easily accessible by interior park ways or boulevards leading from centers of population directly to the several parts of the system.

Third—A system of internal park squares and neighborhood parks. Though mentioned last, your committee believes that this part of the project is by no means the least in importance. In particular, in the matter of park squares and neighborhood parks, it is your committee's opinion that desirable and available squares and tracts of land should early be secured within easy reach of all the centers of population.

These should be within walking distance of such centers, and so fitted up as to make places of rest and recreation for thousands of families who are unable often to spare the time or the means for reaching outlying parks. Such places of easy and frequent access are already needed, and the need will be felt with increased pressure with the growth and compacting of the city.

Therefore your committee is disposed to urge that this part of the system should receive the early attention of the board. The more urgent it is since such parks will become each year more difficult to obtain and can only be obtained at large cost to the city.

The Iowa State Federation of Labor has just entered upon a most interesting and gigantic work that of compiling a directory giving the name, occupation and residence of every laboring man in the state.

TO DIP SHEEP OF WESTERN OREGON

Inspectors Argue Benefits and Are Willing to Concede on Question of Cost.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., May 24.—The matter of enforcing the law in regard to dipping sheep in Lane county once each year, which has engrossed the attention of sheep raisers and farmers in general in this vicinity for the past week or two, bids fair to be settled at once. State and federal sheep inspectors have been in the city again, and declare the law will be enforced to the letter. They have been out among the farmers explaining the law to them, pointing out that it is not intended it should work a hardship, but rather should benefit every raiser of sheep, and if enforced Oregon as a state should be freed from the federal quarantine from which it now suffers. They argue that it will be of incalculable benefit not only to the sheep men in the range districts of eastern Oregon, but in even far greater measure to the sheep raisers of the Willamette valley, to whom, it is explained, eastern Oregon, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Montana, the Dakotas and even Colorado and Nevada are looking for their bucks of the coarse wool type, which is conceded by all to be the best in the world.

Dip on a Community Plan.

It is planned that where there is a community having sheep in considerable numbers they can petition the state inspector for the appointment of a deputy inspector among their own number, and then arrangements that will be mutually agreeable for the dipping of the sheep in that locality without excessive cost to the raisers for inspectors' fees can be made.

R. O. Whitbeck has already been appointed deputy inspector for Wendling and Mohawk precincts in this county, and A. J. Pickard, a well-known stock man of this city, has been appointed for the districts about Eugene. Others will at once be appointed and the work of dipping will soon begin.

assertion that Lane interfered with the strikers and was personally active in suppressing the rioting. One of the converts among the waterfront unions by the extraordinary argument that Lane, during his term as mayor, has never taken any important step without consulting Devlin and receiving his approval, and that therefore the people might as well elect Devlin since he has been the real power behind the throne.

Anything to Get Votes.

"Anything to get votes." No lightning change artist could undergo so many transformations as does Mr. Devlin, in the portraits that are drawn by his henchmen. And they are all working with enthusiasm for the sack seems to be bottomless. Much of the activity of the machine has been expended in the north end, where the vote is expected to be practically solid for the Republican candidate. Prominent among the workers there are the ex-detectors who were discharged from the police department a few months ago for gross incompetency and irregularities. It is common gossip that all of them expect to be reinstated in case Devlin is elected mayor. Blasier's notorious resort is a favorite gathering place for the workers of the north end workers and Blasier himself is doing yeoman service in the cause.

(Journal Special Service.) Los Angeles, May 24.—Despite the future hearing before the interstate commerce commission of the charges of discrimination preferred against the Southern Pacific railroad in its methods of furnishing fruit cars to the citrus fruit packers, the federal grand jury today began an examination of witnesses on charges of traffic discrimination on the part of the Santa Fe. Scores of subpoenas were served upon fruit growers and railroad officials.

GOULD INVESTIGATION MAY BE POSTPONED

(Journal Special Service.) New York, May 24.—If three examining physicians find Captain McLaughlin suffering from chronic bronchitis, Commissioner Bingham must retire him and a postponement of the sensational alleged Gould conspiracy is likely.

Frank Peabody is reported to have made a partial confession, involving Edward Showles, a race track follower. It is expected Showles will tell the full story in 24 hours. It is understood subpoenas have been prepared for Howard Gould, Mrs. Gould and other witnesses, but it is not likely they will be served if McLaughlin is retired.

Fine Muslin of Dacca

From the Athenaeum. Dacca, owing to its especially moist climate, manufactured the finest muslins. The third quality was called the "evening dew," because when spread on the grass it could scarcely be distinguished from the dew.

The second quality was called "running water," and it is related that a weaver was turned out of Dacca for his neglect in not preventing a cow from eating a piece of thin muslin, which he had carelessly left upon the grass.

The first quality of Dacca muslin was known as "woven air."

Queer Wedding Invitations

From the Gleaner. Invitations to weddings in Wales are very businesslike. When the parents of the bride to be bid her friends to the ceremony, they bid them not to come empty-handed. The cards say: "Whoever goes to you may be pleased to bestow will be thankfully repaid whenever called for on a similar occasion. The parents of the bride and bridegroom elect desire that all gifts due to them will be returned to them on the above date and will be thankful for all favors granted."

Women's Dresses 4,000 Years Ago

From the London Globe. For women archaeology assumes a deeply interesting phase in the question which has been raised by Signor Mosso as to styles in dress as they existed 4,000 years ago. Signor Mosso, the eminent authority on ancient Etruria, the Etruscans, and the Roman Empire, has concentrated his experience and knowledge on elucidating this bygone of science from his Etruscan studies.

The general result has been to confirm the old dictum that there is nothing new under the sun. Even the "latest fashions" are antiquated. Signor
