

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE JOURNAL

THE JOURNAL

Published every evening (except Sunday) and every Sunday morning, at The Journal Build-ing, Fifth and Yambill streets. Portland, Or-Estered at the postoffice at Portland, Or.,

TELEPHONE-MAIN 7173. All departments reached by this number-ne operator the department you want. FOREIGN ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVE reeland-Benjamin Special Advertising Agency. Brunswick Building, 225 Fifth avenue, New York; Tribune Building, Chicago.

Subscription Terms by mail to any address in the United States, Canada or Mexico.

AILY. One year......$5.00 One Month.....$.50
One year......$2.50 One month.....$25
DAILY AND SUNDAY.
One year......$7.50 One month....$.65

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS.

DEMAND has sprung up in recent years for full publicity is now required by law in sevsion of congress, but was defeated to The demand has grown up and belarge contributions to campaign funds by the trusts, by corporations, not in vain, to be favored in legislation and administration, at the great expense of the common people and only in San Francisco, and of late at to the detriment and degradation of that, that it has become fashionable in national and in many cases in giving bonds for appearance. other elections, with the result framed and urged the passage, in congress and the various state legis-Act," a main feature of which is this publicity of all campaign expenses progressive record that it had made in enacting the primary nomination and unlawful processes. The lure But though we have no such law as yet, the need of such an exhibition of campaign expenses is none the less desirable. It is commonly reported and generally believed that a now and forever, to use discriminatlarge sum of money has been con- ing care in the selection of city tributed toward Mr. Devlin's election as mayor by certain "interests." If so, the money is expended by these "interests" as an investment. They ou returns for it, in one way or another. They do not usually throw money away. Nor do they make mistakes in the men they support in this way. They are well assured of due season, if the candidates they support win the election. Their greatest chance of loss is in the destate. One old sow produced $203 peril Portland has "her'n." feat of these candidates, and they have been so generally successful with 1,500 hens made $3,000 clear that they are always pretty confident of winning, and indeed, usually do.

The people in control of these rather, their politics is always adapted to the local circumstances. remarked, they support Republicans in Republican cities and states and overwhelmingly Republican a city they desire very much to secure. Not ton, or more if fed to stock, besides from the country a lot of town peothat Mayor Lane has done anything affording months of good pasturage. ple are not flocking to the country by the father of zephyrs, who has his against them that it was not his clear, plain duty to do, but he has done nothing in particular for them. apt to make such mistakes.

Now, under these circumstances, that the masses of people, aside from men on earth. the "interests" alluded to, approved. It was a reasonable and right proposition. An election is wholly a pub- ed the report that Senator Cullom lic affair, one in which all the peo- was going to resign, and then ple are interested. And considering watched the old man's antics. As he facts above narrated, they want soon as the report reached him he to know and have a right to know said: "In the most emphatic and where the money comes from and unequivocal language that I can use there it goes. Since Mr. Cake has I want to deny that there is any Bittled to, he must not blame them fall or at any other time. You lish by education, nothing is quite correct that he has some cannot make it too strong to suit rect that is not Elizabethan or Georgian.

to disclose. Under such circum- phasis on Uncle Shelby's part. Nofavored at their expense, will natprotection vote for Lane, who they occasion to become thus excited. know will serve no few at the expense of the many, but the whole people impartially.

AN INSPIRING SCENE.

Judge Coffey's court in San as to campaign expenses. This millions that his honor's nose must that he contemplated this method as to presidential and congressional millionaires to give bail, and sewers rendered it impracticable. elections was urged in the last ses- millionaires and multi-millionaires and it will be just as much so under by not allowing it to come to a vote. upon that level at the bar of Mr. Devlin's election will not of itjustice where it has mostly been the self reconstruct and multiply the come insistent chiefly because of fashion for only the humble to stand. also there, and greatness elbowed by "the interests," which in consid- with gilded wealth in the ceremony eration therefor expect, and usually of bond-giving. It was a spectacle, because of its tremendous import, not soon to be forgotten; for it is the public service. That such con- for captains of industry to condetributions have regularly been made scend to the delicate ceremony of $381.70 for each mile of street. With the spectacle comes the stated, nobody denies. That this is striking knowledge, hitherto regarda great evil nobody disputes. This ed as a heresy, that law and order is being recognized, the people consid- not in the own and only keeping of ered how to combat the evil, and the great and mighty. Here is a well-told tale that millionaires and $45.86 for each mile of streets to multi-millionaires, in spite of their clean and sprinkle during the year latures, of what is named after an known and oft-recounted virtues. English law the "Corrupt Practices actually bribed and bamboozled public officials, corrupted them with money and turned them from duty. incurred by a party committee or by Here is testimony that "the intercandidates. In this matter Oregon ests" plunder the people, rob them. did not last winter keep up the good, burglarize them by use of boodle, adding to their millions by forbidden law and adopting the initiative and these men of millions placed before the San Francisco officials is the agency that has corrupted and degraded the officials of so many

GET A SMALL FARM.

American cities. Does not Portland

THE HAT FARMERS can do worth of pigs in a year. A man "interests" have no politics, or, of ground. This was one day's prod- fused to be coerced by platforms and 23 hours uct, and strawberries ripen every day while the season lasts. Hood have a splendid specimen of the As Jay Gould was reported to have River strawberry growers expect to type in the chair at this moment." Democrats in Democratic cities and $100 an acre a year up; occasion- a mayor who is a strict partisan states. They want to be in a posi- ally one as high as $500 or $600 an above everything else. tion to say: "We helped you win; acre. A garden of vegetables carewithout us you would have lost." fully and scientifically cultivated They would not consider it necessary anywhere around Portland will yield town and have no berries or vegeto invest money in Mr. Devlin in so from $100 to $300 an acre clear of tables of poultry or livestock or expenses. On good alfalfa land from grain to sell, but have to buy everyexcept that there is doubt, to say four to seven tons an acre can be thing. The wonder is that instead the least, of his election, and this raised, worth from $7 to $12 per of so many people coming to town

These instances might be indefi- in order to make money. nitely extended. What's the matter with people, that they don't get He has not been their mayor at all, small tracts of land, cultivate them a good deal, west oftener than to it hangs convenient to Mr. Lockwood's but the whole people's mayor. This right, and get rich—or at least be- Wall street, and says no man can be desk, and when the collections are slow the "interests" wish to change. They come comfortably well off? From elected president who is not in favor Saw Two Dollars" the strings of this want a mayor in whose eyes they 20 acres of right land, rightly used, of tariff revision. Being in favor of sheet metal guitar respond lightly to will loom up larger and more im- a man in ten years can make enough tariff revision is well; the next quesportant than the whole people be- to ride up to the bank in his own tion is, what sort of revision? sides. That they are supporting Mr. automobile to make his deposits. A Devlin with a great deal of money box of strawberries costs 20 cents. shows that they suppose he is A good chicken costs from $1 to that sort of a man. They may be $1.50. A sow is a good starter for mistaken, but as we have said these a fortune. It takes from $5 to $10 astute business gentlemen are not apiece to buy ewes. A good span of mules sold the other day for $700. Get a little farm, and then nurse Mr. Montague's proposition to Mr. it, love it, tend it carefully, get all

Cake for a full exhibit of campaign possible out of it without abusing it; contributions and expenses was one and be one of the most independent Some newsmongering joker startclined to give the people this in- foundation whatever for the rumor nation that they want and are that I contemplate resigning in the by education, he espouses German or altied to, he must not blame them fall or at any other time. You thing to conceal, that he is receiving me. I have not given any thought money from sources and spending it to resigning, and at this time have in ways that the people would dis- no intention of resigning." There approve and that he does not dare was no need of all this heated emwant no special favors or privileges, any notion of resigning. He is not but only a square deal for all, and of the resigning kind. Few are, who do not want the "interests" Neither will Platt resign, nor Depew, nor Aldrich, nor Elkins, nor any of urally and in their own interest and the others. Uncle Shelby had no

SUFFICIENT ANSWERS.

TR. DEVLIN has uttered considerable criticism of the management of the street THAT WAS an inspiring scene in cleaning department, and pro-Francisco Saturday. It was a inaugurate certain reforms, among day for giving bonds, and the them flushing the streets. Mayor air was so redolent of the incense of Lane has pertinently replied to this have tingled with the new and natty over a year ago, but found that the perfume. Millionaires and multi- size and style of the catch basins and go bonds for them met Mr. Devlin as under Mayor Lane. catch basins nor enlarge the sewers.

Mr. Devlin's criticism as to the cost of this department is sufficiently answered by Mayor Lane's following statement: "There was exsprinkling during the year 1904, the During the year 1906, the first complete year of my administration. there was expended $67,504.40, with mile. This shows a decrease of 1906, as compared with the year 1904. This decrease was made in spite of the fact that the wages of the men were increased from $2 to lin and William Penn, all of which were $2.25 per day, an increase they de-

These simple and pertinent facts Mr. Devlin seems to have entirely overlooked, or else he did not consider it necessary to mention them. And if these are about the worst features of Mayor Lane's administration, it would appear that there can be very little to find fault with.

see in the picture manifold reasons, It was Nathan Hale who, with fire flashing from his eye, declared: "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country." It was Pat- the one for which Washington made so rick Henry, of heroic mold, who many sacrifices. stood in the Virginia house of burgesses and exclaimed: "As for me small tracts of good, well- give me liberty or give me death.' tilled and properly utilized And now comes the Portland maland is a subject that ought chine and the north end ready to to interest multitudes of people, and immolate themselves on the altar of in the course of a year a great num- imperishable glory to save the Oreber of these very interesting little gon primary law from the villainous stories are told in The Journal and designs of Mayor Lane. Every crisis in its exchanges throughout the has its hero, and in this moment of

Says the Detroit News: "It is a last year. Two men in Freewater, conspicuous truth that the best of one day last week, says the Pendle- our presidents have been the very ton Tribune, picked over $100 worth ones who have not done the most of strawberries each from two acres for their parties, and who have reconventions and partisan clamor. We sell 75,000 crates, at from $3 to $5 And yet we have men here in Portper crate. Many crchards yield from land who argue that we should have

Pity us poor people who live in

There is no fiction more universal at present than the "going away" fiction in summer. The majority of persons weeks of the year can be found at their usual address, engaged in their ordinary duties.

As far as school children are con cerned, writes a teacher in the Etude, the summer months should afford them exceptional opportunities for improve ment, and but for the fashionable figtion no doubt the fact would be recog-

The Trouble With Decorators. The great trouble with the decorator tion for one particular school of design He becomes a monomaniac, declares interior Decoration, on the subject of some special school of decoration. He nothing else. He becomes colonial mad or he affiliates with the French school, and nothing is right that isn't French;

Parson Weems

By Rev. Thomas B. Gregory. To the little hamlet of Dumfries, Virginia, belongs the credit of having sent out into the world one of the most curious characters in all our coun-

It was in the above mentioned village, in the year 1760, that the subject of this sketch, Mason Locke Weems, first saw the light of this world. By the advice of friends young Weems went to London to prepare himself for the ministry. Returning to native Virginia he filled various pulpits, being finally called to the recorate of the historic Pohick church, near Mount Vernon, of which Washington was a vestryman.

Notwithstanding the fact that Parson Weems had in his congregation the "Father of His Country" and other social magnates of the Old Dominion, his salary was so small that he could not live upon it. Here was a "condition, theory," and the parson had to decide whether he would keep on along the old way or take up some new business that would give him a little more of the "needful."

He took the latter alternative and became a book agent, representing a well-known Philadelphia publisher Selling enough of his worldly goods to buy him a horse and saddle, he filled up his saddlebags with books, strapped his fiddle behind him and set out to dispose of his wares to the best posible advantage.

Riding through the stopped wherever he could find a crowd nd began to tell stories and crack ence interested in his yarns he would spring upon them the main business of the occasion-the subject of his books As a general thing, he succeeded in exchanging them for the cash of which he was in such pressing need.

The parson was a fine fiddler as well accomplished story-teller, and when he could not sell his books by wagging his tongue he would set his rule the results were most gratifying. On one occasion, the story goes, Mr. main at a young people's dancing party, when the screen behind which he was hiding fell down, revealing the fiddler in his sacred garb, "very much

About 1800 the book agent and fiddler turned to literature, meeting with Weems' "Life of Washington' author. is said to have been "one of the most written by an popular pooks American," going through some 70 edi-

"The Life of Washington" was folsuccesses.

Parson Weems, while an intensely ineresting writer, cared little for the trifles over which some people haggle. It made no difference to him whether story was true or false, so long as it was attractive. The parson probably all right at heart, but he learly loved a "taking yarn." That is why he published to the world "and the rest of mankind" the story of George Washington and the cherry tree. It was a very pretty story-pretty enough to be true—and that settled it. But whatever we may think of Parson Weems' usefulness as a historian no one can doubt his patriotism. He was a patriot to the core. Nobody, in his opinion, was greater than George Washington, and no cause holier than

This Date in History.

1424-Hussites defeated at Lippau 1660-George I. of England born. Died 1763-The Wyandottes defeated Lieutenant Cuyler at Point Pelee.

1780-Thomas Moore, Irish poet, born. Died 1852. state under President Jackson, born.

Died 1857. 1804-William A. Buckingham, civil war governor of Connecticut, born. Died 1816-Mrs. Gewson, original of Dickens' character of Miss Haviland in "Great Expectations," died. 1829-Sir Humphrey Davy, inventor of the miners' safety lamp, died. Born

1871-Fall of Paris Commune 1875-Paul Boyton crossed the English channel in his lifesaving dress in 1898-Public funeral of Mr. Gladstone in Westminster Abbey. 1903-Presbyterian General Assembly enacted amendments to the Confession

1905 Towie and Clark Centennial exposition opened at Portland, Oregon,

Sheet Metal Musicians. The Cleveland shops are full of little fakements fashioned from tin, copper or galvanized sheets, from many of which may be extracted bursts or sighs of music, To me, writes a Cleveland correspondent of the Metal Worker, Plumber and thing, whether it be a section of Keightley's lock-joint steel ceiling, pounded with a Sieger snowguard or a Washburn nest somewhere out in Lake Eris. One of the fakements from which music is drawn is a guitar fashioned from alum-Secretary Taft has traveled about inum coated sheets and prominent in the furniture of S. A. Lockwood's shop his touch,

In another Cleveland shop the boss has a saxophone from one of Diekman's "heaviest gauge" elbows. It has a smooth and sympathetic tone, and I love the liquid tones which flow from its seamless throat.

Some Sundays all these Cleveland sheet metal musicians I have menwho do go away go away for only a tioned, and some others, meet together, week or two, and during the remaining and there may be heard tumultuously resounding the blare of a cornet, its bell formed from a Valentine Clad ice-cream disher, and the com-pahcom-pah of a big bass horn converted from a Globe ventilator, and this is the music I like best of all.

The Best All-Round Bulldog.

By Judge Henry C. Beadelston. My first care in judging is to wee out unsoundness and those distinctly not in the running, and to devote all the time necessary to a proper placing of the best half dozen. With this view, button ears, foggy faces and gaily carried tails, which give that undesirable terrier character, were heavily penalized. Thereafter it is my object to select for premier honors the best allaround dog with the many essential points of the breed in nice balance. In only one case do I recall giving a first prize to a specimen which did not fulfill this requirement. It was a case of an unusually good head attached to a long cast, pipe-like body on rather stilted but serviceable underpinning.

Letters From the People

Mrs. Duniway Draws a Lesson From the Case of Marie Ware.

Portland, May 25 .- To the Editor of The Journal-For the benefit of friends in Eugene, who have been looking through your columns for several weeks for an article from my pen in reference formerly of Lane county, in whom they are naturally interested, notwithstanding her downfall, will you kindly allow space for the following communication: I remember Marie Ware, whom I used to meet in the days of my active itin-erancy in the equal rights movement, as a remarkably bright and promising child, of whom her father, Judge Ware, was naturally proud. This judge, ar honorable and courtly gentleman of the old school, was appointed to a federal position in his later years, and Marie was chosen as his confidante, type bright, pretty and gifted daughter would be as safe in the protecting care of men as their daughters would have been in his own. But men of the Horace McKinley stripe, who leave their wives and children at home to go out in the world to hold governmental positions, too often and too easily learn to violate a fundamental law of morality.

was not good for man to be slone." The rest of it the reader knows. But semblance of the teachings of her childhood remained with Marie Ware and she insisted upon obeying the legal equirements of man before surrender ing herself to second-hand wifehood. It unnecessary to recapitulate. The press dispatches treat the down it was all a joke. This is its language. from a San Francisco dispatch:

"Boodler after boodler sought the gracious company of Marie when the first one whose acquaintance she had manipulated piped the news that so attractive a young one had made her debut in graft society. were many jolly jaunts in automobiles to beach resorts; there were dinners with never a thought of the expense. The girl with the rich brown hair. with plump, graceful figure and handsome gowns became the queen of the boodlers," etc., etc.

Her fickle husband, who had divorced his lawful wife for the purpose, had won her maidenly affections and she had married him under the shadow of the penitentiary. That she had not then become the prey of become the prey of "boodler after boodler" was proven by her steadfast determination to preserve her honor as wife by obedience to man-made laws.

The sequel is known. A character-spoiled actress known as Little Egypt" caught the fancy Horace McKinley, and Marie Ware, deserted, disgrace, penniless, became 'Restless, bold and bad: Her love was hate. She grew half mad With thinking of her wrongs."

Then after "boodler after boodler" had plied her with "automobile rides to beach resorts," etc., etc., sparing no expense to lure her to complete destruction, arch "reformers" of violated human laws appear upon the scene, who their zeal to prosecute offenders against the statutes of man, forgetting the laws of God that should have led honorable men to snatch poor fatherless and husbandless Marie as a brand burning, exerted other wiles. "Albert McKinley, a cousin of her bus-band, was one of Burns' chief stool pigeons in the new tenderloin," says the whom death had claimed, was left to the tender mercies of one-sexed law, standed between the two fires of human law and human corruption.

solation in his exile, and she, a bruised where else to go, has sailed for the of Abraham Lincoln. orient to join him, beyond the pale of American jurisprudence.

While it is ardently hoped that each of these violators of both civil nad moral law will hereafter avoid the history we fail to find another whose quicksands from which they are at last life had been so peaceful, whose naattempting to escape together, the ture so gentle, and yet who was called chances are a thousand to one that Mc-Kinley will again desert his second wife, people and for four long years to conthe daughter of Judge Ware, whose life duct a bloody, relentless, fratricidal he has ruined.

All of this points a moral to which would earnestly call public attention Fathers of daughters, how do you like the picture? Can you, in the face of the case just cited, persist in saying that women are protected by men? Of course I do not mean to speak of your own wives or daughters, but of the wives and daughters of other men, whom, under the man-made laws and customs of the land, you ought to protect with the same jealous care you beupon your own. Do you do it? Ware's experiences answer.

What wonder that young and innocent girls, forced by the necessity for subsistence into the society of men who have no interest in them except as birds of prey, are so often lured to ruin? And what wonder that, finding themselves caught within the pale of evil, so many of them turn upon and rend the despoilers among whom they been thrown, who, sowing the wind, reap the whirlwind? For these alarmingly increasing evils thoughtful men and women can see but one remedy. The government must be government of homes. The rights and responsibilities of the sexes must be equal. If the presence and influence of motherly women were thrown around young girls in every walk and pursuit of life the silent influence of home would protect them everywhere. A great writer has said, "Government," that is, safe government, "is the home writ large." Men and brethren, it is your duty to "write it large." idle to blame women for going beyond the pale of the old-fashioned home to earn a livelihood when unless they do earn a livelihood when unless they do cases like Marie's, the wonder is that relies snares that are laid by lawmakers for and a national park. heir unprotected feet. daughters, the remedy lies in your hands. Open wide the doors of government to the mothers of men if you would really protect from evil the of all hearts, liberator of a race, savior daughters of men and the wives and of a republic, martyr, whose sepulchre sons of women. Remove by your votes the unjust, because unequal, conditions that surround the Marie Wares who are taught by law and custom to depend upon their sex for support. Do this, and the mothers of the race will gradu-

Warpath to Railroad Presidency. A charter has been granted for the first railroad that will have an Indian for its president. The road is the In-dian Central railway, to be built from Ponca City, Oklahoma, to Paris, Texas,

ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY.

Lincoln-the Man of Peace

By General Horace Porter. Abraham Lincoln was of humble birth; he early had to struggle with the trials of misfortune and to learn the first lessons of life in the severe school of adversity. He came from that class which he always alluded to as the plain people. He always possessed their con idence, he never lost his hold on their affections. He believed that the government was made for the people, and not the people for the government, and hat true Republicanism was like a hands of the people the brighter it If at the height of his power any one had sneered at him on account of his plied, like the marshal of France, was raised from the ranks to a dukedom, when he told the haughty nobles of Vienna, who boasted of their long fice. Judging other men by himself, lines of descent and refused to asso-Judge Ware died in the belief that his clate with him: "I am an ancestor; you are only descendants."

Abraham Lincoln possessed in a remarkable degree that most uncomm of all virtues, common sense. With there was no practicing the arts of the demagogue, no posing for effect, no attitudinising in public, no mawkish sentimentality. There was none of that puppyism so often bred by power. "God saw in the beginning that it There was none of that dogmatism that Dr. Johnson said was only puppyism grown to maturity.

While his mind was one great storehouse of facts and useful information he laid no claim to any knowledge he did not possess. He believed with Addison that pedantry in learning is like hyprocrisy in religion, a form of knowledge without the power of it. While he was singularly adroit an patient in smoothing down the ruffled feathers of friends who did not under stand him, or even of political oppo nents, he wasted no time upon the abso lute recalcitrants. He never attempted to massage the back of a political porcupine. And, as he once said himself, to try to shovel fleas across a barnyard There are two names of presidents that will always be inseparably assoclated in our minds-Washington and Lincoln. But from the manner in which modern historians magnify trivial acts you would suppose one had spent his entire life in cutting down trees and the other in splitting them up into rails.

ween them-Washington could not tell

There was one marked difference story; Lincoln always could. But he told them not for the anecdote but to clinch a fact, to point a moral. Ah, it was that humor of his that was his safety valve. It lightened his mind and relieved it for the time, from the great responsibilities that were weighing upon him. He could cut the sting from the keenest criticism with his wit, he could gild disappointment with a joke. He knew better than most men that in speech wit is to eloquence what in music melody is to har mony. But his mind was not always attuned to mirth; its chords were too often set to strains of sadness. There was the slaughter in the field, the depletion of the treasury, complications which arose. All these were so appalling that sometimes even the great soul of Lincoln seemed ready to But just when the gloom was blackest fears. He always had the courage of his convictions. He never had occasion to look to the past with regret, nor to the future with apprehension press. And poor Marie Ware, the idol-ized daughter of a cavalierly father content to leave the efforts to man, the results to God.

For ages after the battle of Thermopylae every Greek school child was taught to recite each day the names of And now the story goes that "Little the three hundred heroes who fell in Egypt," having tired of McKinley in the defense of that pass. It would be his foreign retreat, the recreant hus-band has turned to poor Marie for con-American school child could be taught each day to contemplate the exalter and wounded human bird, having no- character and utter the inspiring name

> Singular man! No one can pluck a single laurel from his brow, no one can lessen the measure of his fame. Marvelous man! In the annals of all upon to marshal the hosts of an aroused

> In the annals of history we fail to find another whose education was that of the cabinet, not the camp, and yet who died a more heroic death

It has seldom fallen to the lot of man to strike the shackles from the limbs of bondmen and liberate a race. It has seldom fallen to the lot of man to die the death of an honored martyr with his robes of office still about him, his heart at peace with his fellowmen, his soul at peace with his God, at the Let the flippent public recital of Marie try to peace within her borders, to peace moment of the restoration of his counwith all the world.

A celebrated sculptor in the fourteenth century in Florence was commanded to make a colossal which which was to surmount a historic cathedral. When it was placed at the base of the cathedral, the ropes arranged for hoisting it, and it was there unveiled, the crowd jeered hooted and criticised unmercifully the sculptor. It was all out of proportion; it was a failure. But soc ropes began to tighten and as the statue moved up into the air the crowd ceased to jeer and finally, when it was placed upon the pinnacle at the proper focal distance as intended by the great sculptor who created it, the sneers turned to plaudits and the people then saw it in all the beauty of its true And so Abraham Lincoln has so far receded from us in history that he is now in the proper focal distance. can now measure all his great quali-they cannot have any homes at all to Farm association. It is well that his keep. The commercial and industrial birthplace should be redeemed from in-world calls them to duty. The political dividual ownership. It should be made birthplace should be redeemed from inworld being closed to them, except in the repository of all the interesting connected with him. It ought of them are not caught in the to be the seat of a national museum

Fathers of He is gone from us now, crowned with the sublimity of martyrdom. We have bidden a last farewell to him was the gentlest of all spirits, noblest is human hearts.

"Sick" Yachts. There is a form of sickness among boats, declares Forest and Stream, that resembles hereditary diseases, in that they are handed down through succeeding years as a result of mere custom. The cause of this form of ailment, nine times out of ten, is some artificial limitations, called racing rules, to suit which the yacht's shape is distorted, just as women, to be in style, will lace themselves into a 16-inch waist measure or will pad themselves out of all pro-portion to their natural shape.

Small Change

Count Boni doubtless has much sympathy for Mrs. Howard Gould.

If little Dick is good for nothing else, he may be useful to make a dicker. be difficult for a presidential candidate to stand pat and yet run well next year. Because a person orders tenderloin steak is no sign that he enjoys going

There are still a few days in which Mr. Devlin can answer those pertinent Secretary Wilson insists that as long as he holds his job, there can be no failure of crops.

Yet Great Grandma Woods of Hillsboro was not reported to have smoked pipe since girihood, A man who talks partisanship in a insulting intelligence. Lincoln Steffens must be getting material enough in San Francisco to fill municipal campaign comes pretty near his magazine for years. The new laws will all be considered unconstitutional by lawyers of there is anything in it for them.

Dr. Osler now says that the best medteine is hope. That's what make ocrats so healthy and long-lived. That's what makes Dem-

Those good old days when strawberles were only 5 cents a box, and sometimes 2 for 5, will never come again. Realizing that a man of his avoirduois will need a strong platform, Mr. Taft wants a tariff revision plank in it. A Chicago man stole 15 pies. If the death penalty were allowable for this crime, he might be sentenced to eat "Chewing tobacco makes a man think," says President Woodrow son. Then he should think where he is going to spit. The defense in the Haywood case has secured another lawyer, making eight. If that many can't convict him, the state has a very poor case.

Uncle Grover Cleveland is still pessimistic about the Democratic party. But as long as he can draw that insurance salary he will not entirely give way to grief.

The Pendleton Tribune thinks it is giving Grover Cleveland a sharp jab by remarking that in 1895 wool sold there for 5 cents a pound.. Will Uncle Graver ever repent and try to make

Sister Mary Ramsey Woods, who has ust celebrated her one hundred and wentieth birthday in Oregon, is entiiled to additional credit from she lived a good deal of the time up there in the rain.-Los Angeles Times. In just enough rain for health and comfort, thank you. Down in the southern California desert a person would dry up and blow away long before

Oregon Sidelights

Down-river fishermen are crying for Wheeler county will vote on prohibition again. The salaries of Salem teachers have "Better fruit", bears better fruit every month.

een raised.

Silverton hopgrowers have erected a 55x100 warehouse. Tillamook county claims the roads in the state. A Heppner lawyer offers to contract wheat at 72 cents.

Eugene and Cottage Grove, though saloonless, will celebrate.

Creameries are talked of at Albany, Salem, Dallas and other towns. The rattlesnake crop is good-in number-in Powder River valley. A Dalles councilman says the dog tax should be raised to $5, and owners then compelled to keep dogs at home.

Bert Knox, a 10-year-old boy near Condon has not been absent from school or tardy once in three years. That boy is likely to amount to something. The Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association of Astoria has gone on record in unequivocal terms as opposed to the presence of dance halls in that city. A Tillamook man was attacked by a victous bull in his barn, and before could get away from the infuriated animal he had four ribs broken, his head badly cut and was mashed up quite A Linn county farmer had an auction, 134 articles being sold, and 500 people being present. Though six months' credit was offered, cash was paid for every article, not a note being given, showing how the farmer has money under the new system of doing business, with dairying and poultry around. The Apple From Orchard to Market," by C. I. Lewis, and "Orchard Man-by C. I. Lewis and W. H. Wicks, are two bulletins recently issued by the Oregon agricultural experiment station at Corvallia. The byl-letins are nicely illustrated, and all worthy of close perusal by all orchard-The Bridgeport correspondent of the Dallas Observer says: "The darky claiming to be a missionary visited our school a few days ago. He gave the scholars a talk and also frightened the teacher. He begged his dinner and also a recommendation. We think it is time this fellow was given his walking pa-pers." But the fellow walks most of the time.

Hillsboro, says the Argus, has with-Hillsboro, says the Argus, has without question the greatest opportunity ever offered any town of its size to double—yes, add five times its population if the people living here will only "do things." This is not intended as a "kick." but is plain facts, and the sooner this Rip Van Winkle lethargy is thrown off the sooner will Hillsboro come into her own—that of a thriving, important city of from 5,000 to 10,000 people.