The yoyage from Yokohama to Portland was uneventful, fine weather prevailing most of the time, but the run from the Columbia river to Yokohama was one of the worst ever experienced.
"When '900 miles off the Columbia river we ran into a hurricane," said the second officer, "and it nearly sent us to the bottom. A monster wave came tearing through the confused sea, and poarded us on the starboard beam. The lifeboat was carried over the side in splinters, and the thick iron walls of he engine house were smashed in. Ventilators and funnels were smashed and the whole deck presented a delapidated appearance when we emerged from the terrible ducking. For several minutes the decks were awash to a depth of sev-

LITTLE ASTORIA BOY FOUND DROWNED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) -Astoria, Or., June 1.—Eight days ago Arthur, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pispanen disappeared from the family home. At the time it was thought he had been drowned by falling into the river. Just before he was missed his playmates saw him with a cated that the horse struck him either piece of fishing net in his hand. He told them he was going fishing. This he must have done, as the body was found yesterday floating in the river four blocks from the home. He, no doubt, fell from one of the net racks.

L. M. Davis, 39 on ballot, is no fanatic, but will give all a square deal.
