Jewels Valued at Seven Hundred Dollars Disappear From Express Company's IT WILL GO HARD WITH Wagon This Morning-Detectives Mystified.

Detectives of the Pacific Expres company and city detectives are mysti-fied over the disappearance of a package containing $700 worth of jewel from one of the company's wagons. The property was sent by express to Miss Fannie H. Simon and, according to the express company officials, was placed in the money wagon for delivery. They also assert that owing to the padlocked door on the wagon and the iron grating on the sides it would have been im possible for anyone to take the package from the vehicle. The men driving the wagon reached the Simon residence this morning, however, and found the package missing.

The express parcel contained a ciamond sunburst with diamond in center, surrounded by eight smaller stones; an alligator pin with two rubles in the eyes; a pin of pearl with ruby center; a large diamond solitaire and a gold cigar cutter inlaid with diamonds, ruies and sapphires, Sheepdog Trials.

From Country Life in America. Sheepdog trials are becoming popular in Canada, and there is some call for them in the neighborhood of New York. But the east can hardly be called a sheep country, and where there are no sheep there can be little use for working sheepdogs. Sheepdog trials are looked upon as a sort of national pastime or game in Wales and Australia, and to watch the dogs work is to recognize the marvelous intelligence of these aids to shepherds.

The great Toronto show or fair is now the gathering place of the sheep-dog owners, and the entertainments their dogs have given have been greatly applauded. Major G. M. Carnochan is the chief supporter of the trials near New York, and his dogs have given very good exhibitions.

The uses of these competitions are manifold. They point to the dog as a utility animal for man, and of what service he is particularly to the shep-herd. In the great paddocks of Australia and on the mountains of Wales tensive mining interests. Judge Burke of a hundred men; he is an indispensa-resigned as counsellor of the Great ble animal. Again, these trials give to townfolk an inkling as to the intelligence of a dog, and it is to be hoped they will treat him accordingly.

Mrs. Bidwell did not the initiative and the referendum. That is, it is repeated in the forms so that no mistake can be made as to its requirement in the form. "The petition is required to be made up of pages on which no more than 20 signatures can be placed. The purpose evidently of this scheme was to prevent the making up of petitions in rolls or books so that the person signing could not see what he was signing, as the law intends to prevent the signing of more than 19 lines away from the warning clause. It is evident, therefore, that the warning clause must be on each page of the petition in order to prevent megal or unqualified voters from signing the same, by having their attention called to their ineligibility.

"The warning clause itself does not define a crime; it is merely a notice that it is a crime, showing that the legislature did not intend to enact but that the warning is a mere statement of the law as to the crime, because later on in section 13 the crime itself is defined, of which the warning is a notice.
