was not heard to utter one word of protest, or known to do one act in opposition against those evils. In all those years of his public employment when the city's franchises were given away, and the interests were seeking favors, Mr. Devlin has not once lifted his voice against them. Can you expect for the future any different methods or conduct?

This is why these three classes are for Mr. Devlin and against Dr. Lane.

1. The buzzards of society, who fatten upon vice and corruption and make smooth for the feet of the young the downward path to hell.

2. The machine politicians, who degrade politics, the noble art of government, into a trough for their unclean feastings.

3. Those who would be enriched from the franchises which the public has given them, and who would levy tribute upon the commonwealth.

Is this the old, old fight—the plain people on one side and those who make gain from them on the other.

CAMPAIGN SACK

he speaking on "What I Know of People and Politics in the North End."

Made Venomous Attacks.

The speaker declared that Governor Chamberlain, Mayor Lane, former Governor Penney and a multitude of others had all been elected by the ruffianism and scavengers of the north end. He welcomed the many Swedish-American citizens of Portland into Devlin's camp, then launched into a bitter denunciation of the Portland police force. This was the only unfavorable thing he found with Mayor Lane's administration.

When half through with this portion of his address, a voice in the audience exclaimed: "Your five minutes are up, give someone else a chance. The remark evidently frustrated Mr. MacCamant, for he concluded as follows: "I beseech you, fellow citizens, to go to the polls next Monday morning and vote for Mr. Devlin."

Song Was Applauded.

Mrs. Fred Olsson sang "Goodbye, Goodbye," and it elicited a thunderous applause. Two men and one boy who were in the gallery continued their appreciation, were joined by the rest of the good-natured crowd and an encore was responded to.

Wallace McCamant next took up the battle-cries for Mr. Devlin. He began where Mr. MacCamant left off, in the police force, and left Chief Gettichmacher and the entire force of detectives and patrolmen hanging in trembling shreds on a clothesline of stinging eloquence. Otherwise Mayor Lane's administration suited him at least, he had nothing to say in any possible shortcomings in the conduct of city affairs.

He characterized the work of the present police force as the "most colossal failure in the administration of justice in the history of the city." Mr. McCamant's address that was a discourse on politics during antebellum days and the great battles of the civil war. He thought W. J. Bryan had a better chance of being elected in 1908 than at any previous time, but believed him to be a dangerous man to the welfare of the country.

Concluding, Mr. McCamant said that it is impossible to divorce municipal politics and national politics. He laid particular stress upon party loyalty and declared that men of honor would "silver-tongued orator from Colorado," complimented Dr. Lane on his strong personality, but in view of the fact that he believed Mr. Devlin was the best informed man on municipal dock propositions, he had concluded to vote for him.

After several enlivening selections by the quartet of ladies, Judge Northrup introduced Mr. Devlin, who was accorded a hearty applause by those who arose in response to the request and greeted him.

Mr. Devlin, after a brief introductory address, opened his typewritten speech

LEE LONG REPUBLICAN VOTES FOR HARRY LANE

"Will Not Take Any Chances on a Man's Promises to Do the Square Thing When He Has the Rakings of Hell Working and Supporting Him at Polls."

Portland, Or., May 31, 1907.—Dr. Harry Lane, City, Honored Sir: Your printed matter came duly to hand this evening. In red print are the words: "With Whom Are You?" I am with Lane, thank God, as all honest, honorable and law abiding citizens should be. I am and have been a life long Republican. I cannot, will not, nor shall not vote innocent girls and boys into the bottomless pit of hell. Mr. Devlin claims in his printed pamphlet that he will do the square thing. But I for one am not going to take any chances on a man's promises that has the rakings of hell working for and supporting him. No, sir; not much. I know what you will do by what you have done. That is the best evidence to me. That is better than any man's promises. That is actual fact, no guess work about that. Yes, Dr. Lane, if living I shall vote for you on election day as all good, honest fathers should do. And I sincerely trust and pray that as each voter enters the booth the spirit of the all wise God will so guide his hand as to cast his vote for Dr. Harry Lane and the downfall of evil. Very respectfully yours, GEORGE W. EGLIN, 535 Union avenue.

ESTACADA FREE FROM GRAFTERS

Mayor Reed and Council Issue Statement Denying Corruption Exists.

SAY COMMISSIONER IS A QUALIFIED CITIZEN

Bitter Fight on in Election to Be Decided Tuesday—Accusations Flung Back and Forth by Contending Factions in Suburb.

Mayor Reed and the city council of Estacada have issued a statement denying stories of graft emanating from that place and challenging proof of any charges. They further assert that the charges are false and malicious, cannot be verified and are working an injury to the entire community. The election in Estacada will take place Tuesday, June 4.

It is stated by the council and mayor that all the present officials are duly qualified officers, according to the charter and that the water commissioner is a qualified citizen in spite of the statements made by the opposition. It is also denied that members of the council tried to bribe property-owners who protested against the macadamizing of certain streets.

The statement declares the council offered to help these men pay their assessments so that the improvement could go on as originally planned and property owners themselves promised to aid others in the same way should the improvement before their own property be suspended. The accusation brought against A. Lindsey that he obtained the contract for street work by promising members of the council immunity from assessment and that Councilman Jones was to receive the contract for delivering the gravel are both flatly denied.

All funds derived from the sale of bonds for the purchase of the water system were properly deposited through Treasurer Cooper who gave his personal receipt before placing the money in the bank where all the city money is deposited, according to the statement. Cashier Fraley of the Estacada State bank says that all moneys received from and paid out by the city have been duly accounted for. It is also declared that a large majority of property owners in Estacada voted in favor of buying the water plant at the terms stipulated. It was charged that the plant cost $10,000 and is now nearly useless.

There is a deep personal feeling in the fight on at Estacada. There are several parties affected by the fight including both personal and corporate. Dr. W. K. Haviland opposes Mayor Reed for the council and says that he has 80 per cent of the resident property owners on his petition, which his opponents deny.

ALL DEVLIN MONEY AT SCHILLER'S IS COVERED

At 9 o'clock last night all Devlin money at Schiller's cigar store had been covered and there was a surplus in favor of Lane. For an hour there was $60 posted on Lane with no takers. Finally at 10 o'clock this evening the boards at that place clear.

wait to see whether he had killed the man or not. It was the first car of the day, number 29, outbound, about which the fight raged. As it drew up at Burlingame, the crew of a freight train standing on a siding by the depot opened the hostilities with a series of names. The attitude of the men on the car, which carried no passengers, increased their anger. Finally one threw a brick. In a moment, as the gleam of the pistol in the hands of the inspector caught their attention, the trainmen rallied to the aid of their fellows. Bricks, scraps of iron, rocks, everything available, was hurled at the trolley. The United Railroad men waited for no orders. Before the conductor could grasp the bell rope, the motorman had thrown over his shoulder the well-known moment of Lofton emptied his pistol at the crowd. One of the men doubled up and fell, limp. He was carried to the caboose of the freight train by his comrades.

MT. ANGEL STUDENTS ACT FALSELY ACCUSED

Mount Angel college students entertainingly presented the well-known drama, "Falsely Accused," Friday evening to a large and enthusiastic audience. The production was pronounced meritorious in every detail, and the acting was regarded as exceptionally good for amateurs.

Much credit for the success of the performance is due J. R. Buck, manager of the student troupe, who made all arrangements in connection with the production.

Majority of Union Men Declare for Mayor Because of Corporation Affiliations of Republican Candidate and Huge Campaign Sack.

A large majority of the union labor vote will be cast for Lane. Three weeks ago Devlin's managers counted confidently on an almost solid labor vote for their candidate, but the situation has changed. The well known fact that Devlin is backed by the corporations and the extraordinary extent to which money is being used in his campaign have alienated working men by hundreds, who were at first inclined to support him.

In the primaries Devlin received the support of the street car men almost to a man, but they are no longer with him. Many of them say they were deceived as to the nature of his candidacy, believing at first that he was opposed by the corporations. When they found that the reverse was true the change of sentiment was immediate. The feeling of opposition to Devlin grew intensely as it became more and more apparent that money was being poured out like water to effect his election, and as the conviction grew that Devlin would not disclose the sources from which the huge campaign sack was replenished. It is estimated that fully 80 per cent of the street car men are now for Lane.

Among the longshoremen the Lane sentiment is overwhelmingly strong. "Lane's good enough for us," is the expression heard on every sand along the waterfront. Among the men of the building trades Lane is a strong favorite and even among the day laborers in the employ of the city, a class of men which the machine expected to swing almost solidly to Devlin, Lane seems to lead.

Similar reports come from a number of the other unions, showing that the labor vote for Lane next Monday will be very heavy.

DEMOCRATS MEET AT HEADQUARTERS

Democratic watchers and challengers are requested by the campaign committee to meet at Devlin headquarters at 2 o'clock this afternoon to receive instructions for tomorrow's election. A competent lawyer will be at Democratic headquarters today for the purpose of explaining the election law to the children of election judges, either Democratic or Republican.

Dr. Lane is a man who places the interests of the people above those of party or creed or anything else. Dr. Lane stands for a better social condition of the city of Portland," continued Governor Chamberlain. "You remember a time a few years ago when it was not safe for a woman to walk the streets after dark. These conditions are different now. It is safe for women. It has come to be a home town, a moral city, and much of this is due to the tireless and often unsupported efforts of Mayor Harry Lane.

STEFFENS' WRITES

"However, we are getting past that fool stage—as you and Portland will show. When there is a choice, when there is a Fall or Fagan, a Roosevelt or a Chamberlain, then the people cross the party lines. Portland is called a Republican town. Let them call it what they please. The voters of your party have nominated a man for mayor who was mayor of the whole people of Portland, and the whole people know it.

WILL Vote for Lane.

"I predict that a majority of the whole people of Portland will do what the people of Toledo, Cleveland and all other cities have done, who have had a mayor who represented their cities—they will ignore details, forgive mistakes and allow for all personal idiosyncrasies.

"The people of Portland will vote—for Portland. And that will elect Harry Lane."

YOUR optimistic friend, LINCOLN STEFFENS.

"P. S.—Mr. Heney joins in best wishes for your success."

Saturday we were swamped by the great crowds that thronged our store all day. Hundreds were turned away without being waited on. Stock is in terrible shape—everything topsy turvy, as if a cyclone had turned loose in the house.
