

PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 2, 1907.

Bargains Pouring in Thick and Fast—Our New York Buyers Covering Themselves With Glory A TREMENDOUS WASH GOODS SACRIFICE

Thousands upon thousands of yards captured from overstocked makers at a fraction of their value, and in addition over 50,000 yards of mill ends and remnants, at prices so low as to make this the most sensational sale of the year. Wash Goods of every kind and style—counters piled high with them—the newest, the best, the finest, and all at less than you've ever paid before. At prices that give you two to three yards for the price of one. Lay in your summer's supply now, and remember you are guaranteed the same identical styles and fabrics at half and third the price you pay elsewhere. Extra counter space, extra salespeople wrappers and cashiers, so all can be waited upon promptly. Sale begins at 8 a. m.
