

COITON LEAK IS BEING PROBED

Edwin S. Holmes Placed on Trial for Betraying Trust of the Government.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, June 8.—Edwin S. Holmes Jr., formerly assistant statistician of the agricultural department, was placed on trial today, charged with conspiracy in the "cotton leak" scandal. Holmes was indicted in 1906 with Frederick Peckham and Moses Haas. Holmes faced the court alone this morning. The government so far has been unable to extradite Peckham and Haas. It is alleged that Holmes gave advance information on the cotton crop to Haas and Peckham, who were New York brokers. It is charged that the conspirators made $200,000 before the leak was discovered. Holmes pleaded not guilty. The panel was quickly exhausted and a new one ordered.

HUGE MACHINE DIGGING SEWER DITCH ON EAST SIDE

Does the Work of 150 Men With Pick and Shovel.

A monster machine, in the shape of a traction ditcher, is at work on East Thirtieth street, near East Stark, cutting a 12-foot sewer through the hill at that point. The machine cuts a sewer ditch 12 feet deep and 2 1/2 feet wide at the rate of two linear feet per minute, while it will bowl along with a speed of one foot every 10 seconds cutting a six-foot ditch and doing the work of 150 men with picks and shovels. Jacobsen, Bade & Co., who have a $60,000 contract on the east side, is operating the machine. While speaking of this huge dirt heaver, Mr. Jacobsen, the senior member of the contracting firm, said today: "We were forced to buy this traction ditcher, because we could not secure the necessary labor to complete our contracts in Portland. The machine was made in Findlay, Ohio, at a cost of $12,000. There are but four like it on the Pacific coast, one each in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Seattle. "The ditcher that we are operating here is the largest one in the west. It has a weight of about 50 tons and is equipped with engines that develop 100 horsepower. The machines are especially adapted to cutting small sewers and ditches for laying water and gas mains. They are the greatest labor saving devices that I know of, and in a few years will be in general use throughout the country."

PRIESTESS EMMA HURLS DEFIANCE

Portland Laboring Class Is Urged to Save Lives of Alleged Murderers.

Charging President Roosevelt with being "the officer of organized authority and government, and the instrument of the capitalists," and characterizing Detective McParland as a degenerate and the Pinkerton detective agency as the scum of the earth, Emma Goldman has a weight of about 50 tons and is equipped with engines that develop 100 horsepower. The machines are especially adapted to cutting small sewers and ditches for laying water and gas mains. They are the greatest labor saving devices that I know of, and in a few years will be in general use throughout the country."

Two large audiences assembled at the Selling-Hirsch building in the afternoon and evening to hear the noted woman defend the principles of anarchy and arraign trades unions for their laxity and ignorance in the conduct of labor strikes. In the afternoon she developed the subject of "Direct Action Versus Legislative or Political Action."

Statutes were introduced in the lecture to show that almost every important strike in the last 20 years had been lost to the laborers or broken, and charged this result to the lack of solidarity and unity of interest among the different branches of organized labor. Frequent references were made to the success of strikes in Germany by applying the direct action and general strike theory.

In referring to the Steunenberg murder trial at Boise, Miss Goldman recalled incidents in the burial of the men hanged for complicity in the Haymarket riots in Chicago, when their friends formed a line five miles long to follow the dead man to the cemetery. She asked if the audience was going to wait until after the lives of the three men in the Boise prison had been taken before lining up, and urged that instead the lineup be made now.

Last night "Revolutionary Spirit in the Modern World" was the subject of the lecture, being the visitor's last lecture in Portland. The next stopping place on the Goldman tour is Puget Sound, where a number of lectures will be given before anarchy's doors are closed in Canada to present the subject of anarchism and to gain new converts to the movement. Emma Goldman intends returning to New York early in the summer and will later sail for New Amsterdam to attend an anarchistic conference.

BENT WITH AGE ADMITS HIS GUILT

Man 63 Years Old Made False Application for Pension — Goes to Jail.

Tottering and bent with age, George W. Miller of Roseburg pleaded guilty before Judge Charles E. Wolverton in United States district court this morning to having made false applications for pension and was sentenced to serve six months in the Roseburg county jail and pay a fine of $150. Miller is 63 years of age and, while admitting his crime, said he had no intention of doing anything criminal. He said he made application for a pension several years ago, that his attorney got into trouble and the papers were lost. He again made application several months ago and the federal authorities discovered that he had never served in the war. Assistant United States Attorney James Cole presented the facts to the federal grand jury and an indictment was returned against Miller.

ANNUAL GATHERING OF THE KELLY CLAN

Many Members of Pioneer Descendants Will Gather This Month in This City.

The eighth annual gathering of members of the Kelly clan will be held June 29, at the home of P. J. Kelly, Twenty-eighth street, near Holgate. The clan comprises the descendants of Clinton, Albert, Gilman and Thomas Kelly, who came to this part of the country in 1848. Thomas Kelly settled in eastern Washington, the other three brothers coming to Oregon and settling near Portland. Mrs. Van B. De Lashmatt, daughter of Albert Kelly, is the high priestess of the Kelly clan. The chieftain, Plympton Kelly, the eldest son of Clinton Kelly, died last September at the age of 78. He crossed the plains in 1848 and made his home at Kelly Butte. Members of the clan are scattered all along the coast. Some of them live in California and some in Washington, but most of them are residents of Portland and many of them are on the coast. Five votes have been sworn in. Clinton Kelly, who resides in the ward, states that he made a trip around to the different polling places and gives it as his opinion that the vote is run-

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy." Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients." Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm." Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children." Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children." Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments." Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits." Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

ALLEGED BANK LOOTERS NAMED

Quartet of Bad Crooks, One at Large, Charged With Bank Robbery.

An information charging Frank Kelly, Frank Wayne, another named Anderson and a fourth unknown, who is indicted as John Doe, with robbing the Gresham bank last January, was filed in the circuit court this morning by Deputy District Attorney Gus C. Moser. Kelly has been held in the county jail as a federal prisoner on suspicion that he was involved in the Sellwood postoffice robbery, but the grand jury has not yet returned an indictment against him. The district attorney is convinced that Kelly took part in the robbery of the Gresham bank and will prosecute him on the charge. Wayne, who is indicted with Kelly, is the man who was convicted in federal court here recently of robbing the Sellwood postoffice and sentenced to serve nine years at McNeil's Island. Wayne is now in the penitentiary.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness. "I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing but Postum Food Coffee, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.' "I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact. "My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it 15 minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better and better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money. "There's a Reason." Read the famous little "Health Classic," "The Road to Well-being," in page.

CLAIM ORCHARD IS DETECTIVE

People at Wallace Believe Prisoner Is After Thirty Thousand Reward.

WILL TELL NAME OF MURDERER ON STAND

Idahoans Confident That Confession Is a Fake and That a Cattleman Killed Former Governor Frank Steunenberg.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Wallace, Idaho, June 8.—The consensus of opinion in this district seems to be that there will never be any conviction in the Haywood-Moyer-Pettibone cases. The matter has been discussed thoroughly by men who represent the best commercial interests in this section and the theory that prevades all of the mining camps of the northwest is that Harry Orchard is a professional detective. His confession may be aired in court, but when he is put on the stand he will tell the truth and explain which one of the cattlemen in Idaho killed Frank Steunenberg, if Governor Goodfellow will hand him the $30,000 reward. In this instance he will divide the reward with Frank Miller, an attorney of Spokane, walk away from the courtroom and give the sheriff of Ada county a chance to arrest another man. There is but little doubt that both Orchard and Miller know who killed the ex-governor. But the matter of fighting for the reward is quite an item in the famous case. Thiel and Pinkerton agencies are both trying to claim it, but Orchard and Fred Miller are in possession of the facts. When the reward is forthcoming Orchard will tell who killed Steunenberg.

BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS LIFE OF MRS. TRAVIS

Popular Portland Woman Passed Away Yesterday Surrounded by Parents and Sad Relatives.

Mary Bird Travis, wife of William Travis Jr., died yesterday at noon at the family home, 160 East Thirtieth street, after a brief illness. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Riverview cemetery and services at the grave will be private. Mrs. Travis had many warm friends in Portland and throughout Yamhill county, where she spent her childhood days. She was born 27 years ago at La Fayette, her father being R. P. Bird, now a resident at McMinnville, and judge of Yamhill county. At the time of her death her parents, her sister, Miss Kathleen Bird, and two brothers, Guy K. and Robert A. Bird, were present. Mrs. Travis was married to William Travis Jr. a little over a year ago and prior to her marriage was for several years a teacher in the Portland public schools.

PORTLAND TRULY "CITY OF ROSES"

Yards Full of Beautiful Fragrant Vari-Colored Flowers on Every Hand.

CAROLINE TESTOUT IS THE MOST ATTRACTIVE

This Rose Carries the Color of the World-Famed French Rose and Is Even Much Daintier Than Latter in Conception.

Portland, the "City of Roses," has made good her title. As by common consent the bushes have conserved their strength to burst into full bloom in one glorious moment. And that moment came yesterday. With thousands of people stirring countryward and suburbanward to spend the Sabbath in communion with nature, what more effective time could have been chosen for the climax?

On every side are heard exclamations on the beauty of the roses this year. "I have never seen such perfect specimens before!" is heard again and again. Wordsworth's "host of golden daffodils" has literally come true in the roses of Portland. There are yards full of them; there are luxuriant hedges of them; they cover the fence and the walls of the house in wild profusion; they peep out through trellis holes; they climb into trees.

Perhaps the rose that attracts the most attention and which is deemed characteristically Portlandian is the Caroline Testout of luscious pink hue. With the rich coloring of the France rose it is daintier in conception and blossoms as profusely. The France rose is often mixed with the Testout bushes and at a distance cannot be distinguished as different. There are white La Marquises and pinkish yellow Alfred Carriers and a dozen other varieties climbing in abandoned profusion; the crimson rambler wanders at will over stones or under them wherever the easiest exit may be found; and growing on bushes of every height and shape are the cream and pink tipped Pearl deo Jardina, the pink Maman Cochet.

The yellow Mareschal Nell, the milky red Papa Gontier, the brilliant red American Beauty, the delicate pink Mildred Grant and scores of other varieties too numerous to mention. In some yards there are as many as 150 varieties and the Portland householder takes as much pride and pleasure in the cultivation of his roses as an Englishman in the care of his blooded horses and dogs.

A Healthful Diet Suggestion

From Dr. E. A. PIERCE, of the Open Air Sanitarium

There is no more nourishing, healthful, life-giving food than good, wholesome, pure meat. People of consumptive or anaemic tendencies should eat flesh foods; but the greatest-care should be exercised to see that the meat is absolutely healthful when slaughtered, handled under sanitary conditions—away from the dust and insects—and in all ways properly protected. If each housewife were compelled to look into these details for herself, she would have little time for anything else; but, fortunately, the federal government has taken this responsibility off the individual hands by placing scientifically educated inspectors in places of responsibility to see that only healthful meats are offered the public. By asking for government-inspected meat and refusing to accept any other, the housewife insures her family a strengthening, healthful diet.
