

PEAKS MAY BE ABLAZE

Snow-Capped Mounts Surrounding Portland Will Be Illuminated Independence Night if Plans of the Committee Are Observed.

The illumination of Mounts Hood, Jefferson and St. Helens on the evening of the Fourth of July now seems a certainty. At the meeting of the general celebration committee held last night the proposals made by W. M. Killingsworth to illuminate the snow-capped peaks were taken up and discussed at some length, with the result that the committee on advertising was instructed to ascertain the cost of the illumination, and if not too great to proceed with the preliminary arrangements.

Mr. Killingsworth is enthusiastically in favor of the illumination, and believes that it will prove the greatest hit of the celebration. A few hundred dollars expended in illuminating these peaks, said he, would benefit in advertising Oregon. It will be known all over the United States that Portland celebrated the Fourth in a way that no other city in the country can do.

The committee decided to celebrate Wednesday and Thursday, July 3 and 4, instead of the 4th and 5th, as heretofore agreed upon.

The chairman of each of the sub-committees were named as a special committee to formulate a detailed program of the exercises of the two days and report to the general committee, which will meet again Friday night in the rooms of the chamber of commerce. The following tentative program was furnished the committee to guide it in making up the official program:

Wednesday, July 3.—Morning, boat races and aquatic sports on the river; afternoon, automobile and other races at Irvington park; evening, plug-ugly and illuminated parade on principal business streets.

Thursday, July 4.—10 a. m., grand parade; 11 a. m., literary exercises in one of the theatres; 12 m., firing, national salute by battery; 2 p. m., horse racing at Irvington under auspices of the Riverside Driving association, being annual race day for the association; evening, fireworks at the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds.

Arrangements have not yet been made for an orator of the day, this and other important details will be settled at the next regular meeting of the general committee.

Colonel A. B. Dyer, U. S. A., adjutant-general of the department of the Columbia, is expected to act as grand marshal of the Fourth of July parade in this city. He will be accompanied by a number of army officers from Fort Vancouver, who will act as military aids.

The Third regiment of infantry and light battery, O. N. G., will take part in the parade. The battery will turn out in its handsome new equipment just received from ordnance department at Washington, D. C.

Spanish war veterans, Woodmen of the World and Native Chinese Sons of America have indicated their intention of taking part in the parade. Colonel Jackson, chairman of the parade committee, approves the suggestion of a Journal correspondent relative to the formation of a corps of ex-cow punchers to take part in the parade. Colonel Jackson says that he would like to have every ex-cow puncher in Portland come mounted in vaquero regalia, chaps, silver spurs, etc. The committee is engaged in working out the details of the parade, and hopes to be able to make a complete report at the meeting of the general committee Friday night.

CHURCH TENDERS' RECEPTION TO PASTOR

Dr. C. Whitney, home missionary secretary, and Dr. H. S. Gable, church extension secretary of the United Brethren church, were tendered a reception last night at the church of that denomination on East Morrison street. Bishop W. M. Bell and several United Brethren ministers of Oregon were present and spoke words of welcome. Chairman Zeigler, Zella Zeigler, Mrs. E. B. Clark, Mrs. J. A. Helle, and Rev. H. C. Shaffer also made short addresses. Bishop Bell, of Berkeley, California, spoke of the wonderful development in and around Portland.

BETTER SERVICE WITH NEW SWITCHBOARD

Within 10 days all the lines of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company which are served from the exchange at West Park and Alder streets will have been cut in to the new switchboard that was recently installed. The 10 men who have been at work in the basement of the building for the past six months changing to the new switchboard will complete their work within 10 days and their interference with the service will end, giving telephone users an opportunity to observe the bettered service that the new switchboard will bring about. All the lines of the Pacific company on the west side of the river will then be served direct from the new switchboard.

BIG RETURNS FROM REALTY AUCTION SALE

J. Whyte Evans' auction of real estate in the chamber of commerce yesterday morning and afternoon resulted in total sales amounting to $35,000. The Washington apartment house on Northrup street and several smaller places were bid in. The attendance in the afternoon was comparatively light. Mr. Evans says that he expects to have a large number of people present at the morning session, with the intention of bidding on holdings, failed to return in the afternoon. It is probable that some arrangements will be made so that hereafter there will be but one session a day of the auction sale.

MUSICIANS WILL IGNORE BOYCOTT

Union Grants Permission to Members to Attend and Play at Oaks.

At a meeting of the Musicians' union last night it was decided to ignore the boycott of The Oaks which was declared by several unions as a result of the carmen's strike, and to permit its members to work at the park or wherever they desire.

The boycott of The Oaks will be thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the union last night. It is agreed by a majority of the unions that the boycott is serving no good purpose and should be raised.

The musicians' union especially is opposed to it. A number of its members have been engaged to play in different bands at The Oaks, and they would be forced to refuse if a penalty were imposed by the union whenever they went to the park. Consequently the union last night granted full permission to its members to work at the park or attend whenever they so desire.

They will bring the matter to a final issue at the meeting of the Federated Trades Friday night. It is said to be likely that the boycott will be raised, for the reason that it has not affected the company or the park and that it is not helping either the strikers or any of the unions.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Great Fer-Don's Demonstrations and Medical Experts Win Favor With Portland People.

Many Who Were Skeptical at First Sight Now Believe After Seeing Remarkable Results Obtained.

East Portland Now Scene of Action

The Great Fer-Don has opened his free entertainments in East Portland. Having remained more than two weeks at his free show ground on Washington street, he found that it would be necessary, to accommodate the enormous demand for his remedies and requests for his demonstrations, to go to the east side. Last night he gave the first of a series of entertainments, lectures and demonstrations at the large free show grounds at Williams avenue and Knott street, Albina. About three thousand people witnessed the remarkable demonstrations which have made Fer-Don literally the "talk of the town." Many who had heard of these wonderful benefits being derived from one application of Fer-Don's remedies, but who had not yet witnessed them, were surprised to learn that the half had not been told. One man said he had heard but had been skeptical. He had seen and believed. To see is to believe, and Fer-Don believes in showing the people. Unlike many who talk a great deal and trust their persuasive powers to do the rest, Fer-Don proves by actual demonstration every assertion he makes and by so doing has made countless friends.

F. M. Austin, 591 Rodney avenue, has suffered for several years from rheumatism in the right arm, being unable to use the hand. He was among those who came upon Fer-Don's platform last night seeking relief. In three minutes he was so greatly benefited that the soreness had left the hand and he could use it as well as any one in the audience.

S. B. Reddick of 340 Knott street, deaf for twenty years, was relieved in three minutes by one application of Fer-Don's Magic Relief. He was made to hear a whisper.

While Fer-Don has changed his free show grounds to the east side, the offices of the Fer-Don's medical experts still remain at 252 1/2 Washington street, in the Grand Theatre building. Large crowds which daily visit these offices testify to the fact that these men are doing a wonderful work here in our city. And not only from our city, but from all surrounding towns they come to seek a cure from various chronic diseases. These experts use no knife in curing appendicitis, tumors or cancers. The Syarthgil treatment, which is new here, has saved one man from an operation for appendicitis and has been remarkably successful in cases of rheumatism and other diseases. Their methods of removing gall stones without operation with three doses of medicine is attracting attention from scientists everywhere. Improved methods of treatment have been responsible for the extraordinary success of the Fer-Don Medical experts, as by these methods they are able to perform real, positive cures, in many cases where the patient had been pronounced by others incurable.

We want every citizen of Portland who believes in a "square deal" and wants one for himself to buy his meat of Smith. The daily press tells you of the outrageous prices for meat in Chicago, the home of the Beef Trust; the self-same condition would exist in Portland if Smith were not.

"FIGHTING THE BEEF TRUST." In the little town of Gresham, Oregon, the Beef Trust, by cutting prices, succeeded in running out the local butcher. It then raised the price of meat from 5¢ to 10¢ per pound. Ordinary cuts of boiling meat are costing 10¢ now. The people of Gresham see their folly in patronizing the Trust; they are holding indignation meetings and are begging Smith to start a branch shop there. Keep Portland out of the clutches of the Beef Trust.
