Dried Fruit Market Excited. Considerable excitement has been created the Pacific coast dried fruit markets by the considerable excitement has been created in the Practic const dried fruit markets by the high prices being effered for supplies by packers and canners. Demand for dried fruits is abowing a sudden increase and this has resulted in prices being bid higher for futures. While it cannot be stated definitely at this time just how heavy the prune crop in this state will be the present season, indications are that it will be somewhat less than a year ago. California reports indicate that the crop there will be smaller than usual and in consequence packers are offering more money.

A special from Fresno, California, says that peaches are now bringing loc. Sales were made last week at thist figure. Last year, with less than half a ctop, when the market went to lice it was considered an event. It was the highest price reached for many years. But time year, with twice as many peaches, the market opened at Sc, soon went to Sc and is now 10c. And the curing of the crop will not begin until the second week in June. begin until the second week in June. Raising are firm at 5c, notwithstanding efforts to break the price in the eastern market by offering goods on a 4½c basis. While the indications are that the raisin crop will be large, the high price is due to the failure of other crops, and there is no question that the trade will take the goods at the prices being asked. There is a good deal of talk among the packers about the way last week's advance affects the felms pool, bought by the Selma Fruit company. The pool consisted of 1,200 tons, and the half cent advance means $12,000 more for the growers. growers. Strawberry Market Changes Front.

cooler weather the strawberry marke up considerably this morning; receipt med up considerably this morning; receipts to being so heavy. If the present weather nitiones the supplies will be decreased still are and higher prices will rule as a result. Thus the past 24 hours the market was very still. Some sales of herries were made as was 50c a crate and fancy fruit in many tances wold down to 70c because the trade in hean filled up and did not care to buy care very low figures were named. Many imission merchants foreast what was going happen in the market yesterday and notified in shippers not to send supplies. These nose, however, were unavailing for the betries to faster than ever and the lowest prices orded in about three years were made in connects.

There is a gint in green pea supplies along street and prices are ranging between 3 and with sales slow.

Apriloots are now arriving in very good confort and some sales were made this morning in low as $1. Some at $1.25.

Heavier storage operations are shown in the local butter market as a result of the heavy arrivals of eastern stock in the north which puts off for a time the shipments in that direction from here. The market, while not showing weakness, is somewhat easier as a result but the heavier storage call is keeping the channels of trade clear.

Egg market is steady with heavier storage operations. Price about unchanged.

Poultry demand is up to supplies at former figures.

cheese market is holding firm with value schanged.
Potato market is holding its own but there is a slight showing of weakness. This is true
f the new as the old.

SOMEHTING THAT ALL

Weather conditions are such that considerable care must be taken at this time in the shipments of dressed meats to market. The stock must be allowed to cool after slaughter and then . shipped at once. It is on account of the lack of care in shipping that some shippers receive very poor returns. This includes both vest and hogs.

Few fruitgrowers realize that they are liable to heavy fine and punishment in neglecting to place their names on every crate . or box of fruit they ship to market. While no convictions have yet been made the inspectors are ready to enforce the law.

Fruit shippers should likewise remember that they cannot use second-hand packages for fruit. Shipments in old packages are liable to confiscation and fine.

There was a sharp advance at the opening of the New York market. This was due to the decline in wheat at that time, but when the grain market sold up stocks eased off considerably, but the closing was generally higher than last night. Some talk of further gold exports also had a weakening effect upon values.

Americans were lower in London with the tone weaker. One of the chief factors in to-day's New York market was the early weak-ness in London.

Discharge of Federal Grand Jury Leads to Much Speculation.

Since the discharge of the federa grand jury yesterday on request of an order by United States Attorney William C. Bristol, much speculation 1 s been indulged in as to the disposition been indulged in as to the disposition of the famous land fraud cases and other matters of importance which it is believed the government has to dispose of. Mr. Bristol stated today that ne regretted the adjournment of the grand jury but that such a course was the only one left because of the lack of funds to carry on the government work. Commencing July 1, the new appropriation for the coming fiscal year w.ll be available and will be apportioned about July 15. Mr. Bristol has made a requisition for $50,000, with which to carry on the work for the Oregon c.s-trict.

Dr. W. K. Haviland, elected mayor of Estacada Tuesday, over J. W. Reed by the close margin of six votes, after one of the hardest-fought contests probably ever held in an Oregon town, is a physician who received his education and it is expected that Francis J. Hency will be in Portland to try Congressman Binger Hermann, Booth and Hall for complicity in land frauds. Mr. Bristol will allow Hency to go ahead with the prosecution of these cases, it is believed, before taking up other cases.

Another move that will probably be made by the government will be in regard to the men who are in jail for minor offenses. It is the desire to rid the docket of these cases because many of the defendants have been in jail for many months. Since the investigations of the grand turned to her home at 735 Savier street this morning. Miss Burgett has been suffering with melancholia and yesterday morning wandered away from her home and in the outskirts of East Portland was inquiring for work. Some one gave her the address of the Travelers' Aid association at the Y. W. C. A. and when she appeared there Mrs. Baldwin detained her, recognizing that she was slightly demented.

This morning, after a long search, her parents inquired at the Travelers' Aid desk at the union depot and were directed to the headquarters. They were affected to tears by the kind care and treatment their daughter had received through the day and night.

The Burgett family has recently come here from Nebraska. This is only one of many cases where the association has aided strangers and young women in difficulties.
