NOTES OF THE GAME

Moore did a piece of dummy base running in the fourth. McCredie was perched on second when Moore hit a not one which Willis gathered in and flung to Irwin. McCredie was hiking to third, but seeing that he was caught, he turned tail and yelled to Moore to go to second. Instead of doing so, Moore ran half way between first and second stations and stood there until McCredie was caught and the sphere was shot to first, putting Moore out also. If Moore had stayed on first his work would not have been so had, but Donahue Zang the bell in the third. Donahue zang the bell in the third. Be started with a great two-base hit to the center field fence. Bobby Groom ran for him after that, getting on a double steal cleverly ascented by himself and Casey. A single by McCredle and a two-baseer by Molt scored the former in the sixth. The final run made in all sorts of fantastic shapes. such base running as he did was simply inexcusable.

Donahue's right knee is bad and he cannot run, but it was a wise move MoCredic made to send the Irishman to the middle garden. "Donny" has been hitting a great streak lately and is too valuable a man to be left on the bench as long as he can hobble. Each of his great two-base hits was responsible for a run and if the man's legs had been sil right he could have stretched one and probably both of those bingles into three-baggers.

The grandstand play of the day was made by Casey who Jumped high into the air, caught a wild throw of Moore's with one hand and put it on Street as the latter sild for the bag. Mohler tried the same kind of a trick soon afterward, but he didn't come through with it.

Casey's maff of Irwin's easy fly in the fourth was due to poor team work. Casey is very sure of high files and he usually takes everything of the kind that drops anywhere near the keystone sack. But at this particular time Fay, Domshue and Casey all ran for it. Fay bumping into the second baseman just as he caught the ball.

McCredie batted 1.000 per cent yester-. .

"The man that grips his bat by the end and swings hard on the 'spitball' has scarcely a chance on earth,' says Fielder Jones.

"It is the batters that take a short, quick chop that connect.

"When I see a slugger dig his toes in to take an awful swing, I feel safe, but when he grips his bat up high and takes a quick poke, then I know there is a chance for trouble."

McKinney, Zacharias, Hug, Moores and Kelly to Try for Northwest Team.

(Special Disputch to The Journal.) University of Oregon, Eugene, June 7.—The University of Oregon track team has five candicates for the team which will go to the Jamestown exposition, and these men will make any one else go some to beat them out of their positions.

They are McKinney, the big shotputter, discus-thrower and hammer man; Zacharlas, the crack hammer man, who is second only to McKinney in discus and shot, and Hug, who threw so close to Zacharias in the hammer and usually beats him in the shot. The next man is Moores, the crack hurdler and sprinter. If a team of any completeness is taken he should be included. Kelly of course is the fifth and around him as a necleus the team will be built. Whether all of these men go will depend upon the number taken, for if a complete team is taken they can hardly be left out. The most doubt seems to hang around Moores and Hug. Moores, however, tied the world's record in the low hurdles on a curved track and that will help his chances materially. man; Zacharias, the crack hammer man, afternoon. The Tri-City league will inaugurate their double-header series by matching the four Portland teams in two games, one called for 1:30 and the other for 3 o'clock.

In the first game the Trunkmakers and the Brewers will be pitted against each other. These two teams have not met this season and are as evenly matched as two teams could be and are tied in the percentage column for fourth place. Manager Portlow of the Trunks has been rustling around and has an entirely new team.

The second game will be between the leaders in the pennant race and the tailenders, the Frakes and the Cubs. When these two teams met before the Frakes won by a little luck, for they secured only one hit off the Cub pitcher. The Cubs have been unlucky all through the season, but put up hard fights against their opponents, losing by one score in fast games. They will try to win over the Milliners and come up out of the cellar. Lineup of the four teams announced tomorrow. Holladays Accept Challenge.

Sporting Editor—In answer to the challenge made by the St. Johns team in your paper we, the Holladay team of Portland, would like to play them Sunday, the ninth, on any field in Portland. Arrangements can be made by calling up East 2227 this evening (Friday), and asking for Wolf.
