ALL ROSES IN THIS GARDEN ARE TRAINED TO TREE SHAPE

Climbing Sofrano in Rose Garden of George Albert.

One of the most remarkable rose gardens of the city is that of George Albert, 850 Vaughn street, where all of the bushes are trained to the tree shape. This has been something of an experiment with amateur rosegrowers, but in the garden referred to it is the only mode followed, and the result is surprisingly good. One of the most remarkable trees here is a climbing Sofrano which has a trunk about seven feet high, from which the branches spread to a distance of at least 12 feet. This decorative floral umbrella is a remarkable sight.

The rose tree in the picture is a Paul Neron, a sturdy growth with a multitude of gorgeous flowers. The Albert garden has many other attractions. The white Maman Cochet is grown to perfection here and the pink Cochet is remarkably beautiful. These roses are for the most part grafted, some of the bushes showing half a dozen varieties grafted upon the main stalk.

WOMAN CHARGES MAN WITH THREATENING LIFE WITH SCYTHE

Herman Yenercker of Bertha is charged with a second offense in Justice Reid's court, this time with threatening to main Josephine Dimbat of the same place with a scythe. Yenercker was arrested not long ago on a charge of assault and battery brought by the same plaintiff.

Relations between the families of Yenercker and Dimbat at Bertha seem to be badly strained. In the first charge Josephine Dimbat alleged that Yenercker knocked her down and then his wife stepped in and finished the job. A general fight ensued. When both sides appeared before District Attorney Manning on the afternoon of the conflict to swear out a complaint, each against the other, all bore the marks of the encounter.

Yenercker was put under bonds to appear when summoned and allowed to go home and protect his family from the further ravages of the Dimbat household.

However, the feud between the families did not subside and now Yenercker will be summoned on the strength of the former bond to answer to a charge of threatening to injure his neighbors with a scythe.

BOYCOTT ON OAKS IS DECLARED RAISED

Federated Trades Takes Final Action in Matter, Which Was Flat Failure.

By resolution last night the Federated Trades Council lifted the boycott against the Oaks, the amusement resort operated by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. The Oaks was placed on the unfair list about two months ago by the Federated Trades Council at the request of striking carmen, although at that time there was vigorous opposition manifested by different unions in the city.

That the boycott was not effective is the reason given for the change of policy. Under the order union men were expected to remain away from the resort. They were not permitted to accept employment at the Oaks, and neither were they allowed to visit the resort.

Financial support was also withdrawn by the International Carmen's association. Until a week ago carmen were receiving a small sum—$25 or $30 a week—to maintain the boycott, but on account of the need of funds to carry on the work of the cause, presumably in San Francisco, the Oaks boycott fund was stricken off the list.

Furthermore, 75 or 100 union men were being deprived of employment at the pleasure resort. This created much dissatisfaction among union men who were not directly interested in the controversy between the striking streetcar operatives and the Portland railways. Others asserted that the boycott was foolish, so that by continually agitating the subject the action last night was finally brought about.

A deed, dated October 10, 1897, conveying a 50-foot lot at the northwest corner of Eleventh and Columbia streets in consideration of $3,000 was filed for record yesterday. This site could not be had now for less than $10,000, which indicates an increase in value of over 300 per cent in 10 years.

GUARD IN MANEUVERS

Oregon Infantrymen Are Ordered to Take Part in Government Drills to Be Held Next Month at Forts Stevens and Columbia.

Orders have been issued at National Guard headquarters directing that seven companies of the Oregon infantry participate in what is supposed will be coast defense maneuvers at Forts Stevens and Columbia early in July. The order designates troops that have been assigned for this duty and fixes July 6 as the date for leaving Portland.

It has been known for some time that seven companies of the Oregon National Guard would partake in the maneuvers this summer under government appropriation. The commands that have been selected are: Company A, Baker City; Companies C and K, Portland; Companies A and C, separate battalion, Eugene. These companies will go to Fort Stevens. Company B, Portland, and Company M, Salem, are assigned to Fort Columbia, Washington. Lieutenant John M. Poorman will be in command. A detachment of hospital corps will accompany each command.

The staff officers assigned to the expedition are: Major John L. May, Captain L. H. Knapp, quartermaster Third infantry; First Lieutenant Rease Leabo, battalion adjutant and Captain M. B. Marcellus, assistant surgeon. These officers will be stationed at Fort Stevens.

First Lieutenant J. B. Hibbard, battalion adjutant, and Second Lieutenant Carl Ritterspacher, battalion quartermaster and commissary, will accompany the Fort Columbia division. These officers are directed to report to Lieutenant Poorman in Portland at 8 o'clock on the morning of July 6, but further than that nothing is known as to what time of day the troops will depart for their respective stations on the coast.

Nothing whatever is known as to the nature of the maneuvers that the companies will be ordered to take part in at the coast stations, not even in a general way. Orders for action are never given until dusk of the day preceding the maneuver. However, it is presumed that the guard will cooperate with the regular troops in coast defense work because the artillery has been given direct command over the movements of the entire force at Forts Stevens and Columbia.

Companies D, E, F, H, I, and L, the remaining commands of the Third infantry; Companies B and D of the separate battalion; separate Companies E, S and F and the field battery will probably be sent on a separate expedition to a point not far from Fort Stevens or Columbia. The state will provide for this expedition.

Adjutant General Finzer is now at Seaside looking for a suitable location for the camp.
