An audience which practically filled the large Recital Hall of Eilers Piano house Friday evening was treated to one of the most enjoyable concerts of the season, and those who were present were privileged to listen to a most remarkable demonstration in the line of what was once called "mechanical music." Such a term could not be applied in the case of the performance Friday evening, however, for the renditions of the most classical selections were given with all the fire and brilliancy of the most renowned master musician. Indeed, it was hard to believe that human fingers were not responsible for the delicate touch which characterized the Planola's work.

However, the Planola's playing is really the next thing to human, for the only mechanical part of the rendition is the actual fingering of the keys—the tempo, the volume of tone—all the varying emotions of the one who presides at the instrument—are completely controlled and expressed through the medium of the Planola, as fully as the greatest artist could bring them forth. The Pianola is the only piano player which has been brought to this marvelous perfection, and it is hardly to be wondered that it has been accorded such general recognition over and above all others, by the great musicians and critics.

Masonic Dedication Crowd Sees What's in His Pistol Pocket.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, D. C., June 8.—As Presi nt Roosevelt this afternoon at the edication of the Masonic temple stood before 10,000 people, a brother Mason moved the tails of his frock coat to tie the white apron around his waist, and exposed a big six-shooter in his hip pocket. It was seen by 500 people. The president flushed. Then a man exclaimed, "That's all right, Mr. President; we haven't forgotten Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley," whereat Roosevelt smiled and everybody cheered.

VAN CLEVE DECLARES UNIONS ARE TYRANTS

eaker Says Federation Has Been Waging War Against Idaho for Years.

Press by Special Leased Wire. Omaha, Neb., June 8 .- "The Tyranny of Unionism and the Crimes of Strikes, was, in effect, the title of the address delivered by President W. J. Van Cleve of the National Manufacturers' associa-tion at the banquet given last night to the delegates of the Iowa Manufacturassociation in conference at Coun ers' association in conference at Council Bluffs.

Declaring that he spoke for the vast majority of the members of the National Manufacturers' association, Mr. Van Cleve said, condeming the violent and anarchistic tendencies of strikes:

"We all know, everybody knows, that immeasurably the greater part of the sinning is on the labor union side."

Referring to Western Federation troubles, without alluding to the Boise trials he said:

"We have a striking example in the case of the Western Federation of Miners.

"That organization virtually waged war against the saide of Idaho for several years. It murdered scores of miners for the sole offense of trying to earn their living honestly without getting a license from the walking delegates of the federation. It killed many employers and destroyed millions of dellars worth of property."

The address had a marked effect and was frequently punctuated with appliance and smethered hisses.

TALL QUEEN GIVEN WELCOME TO ENGLAND

this afternoon.

The Danish sovereigns were feceived at Victoria station at 1 o'clock this afternoon. They were received in a plush-lined pavilion by the British king and queen, Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman, the Prince of Wales and other distinguished personages. When the first carriage in the royal procession rolled out of the station, a tremendous cheer greeted it.

The Danish queen, said to be the tallest as well as the wealthiest queen in the world, rose head and shoulders above the rest.

They will be entertained at a round of dinners, balls and receptions and review the troops at Aldershot.

candidacy and reiterated expressions of his principles. He regards—the question of whether or not the trusts shall be promoted to exploit the consumers at will and tax them without representation by raising prices, as the paramount one of the campaign. He is as ardent as ever in his devotion to government ownership and regulation plans. He regards the tariff as an issue, but a subordinate one.

The more important question before the American public, in the Nebraskan's opinion, is curbing of the big trusts. Solution of the question whether the government shall be run for the benefit of the people or the masses is imperative, Mr. Hyran thinks, and his expressions leave no doubt that he will act in favor of the latter.

Decoyed by a Tang.

Just previous to Van Tassell's leaving home he cashed a check for $25 at a drug store in the presence of the man he accompanied after bidding Mrs. Van Tassell good-bye. It is thought that the stranger believed the amount of the check larger than it was and induced the physician to accompany him by pretending to direct him to a place where a woman was in need of medical attention.

The theory of the California police is that the stranger lured Dr. Van Tassell into a dark section of the city, struck him a blow on the forehead that caused the bruise and left the man's mind a blank, and then robbed him.

Dr. Van Tassell then commenced his strange wandering. Going from place to place without aim or purpose, he finally found himself in Portland. Already his mind was commencing to unravel his condition and he began to think independent of the actions or asyings of others. For a week he drifted about without attracting attention to his peculiar condition.

To those with whom he talked he appeared to be a highly educated man traveling for pleasure. His address was pleasant and his conversation ensaging. None with whom he conversed suspected that they were talking with a man who had reached the age of 28 years without knowledge of events that were common to all persons.

Business conditions, political situations and other contemporary events were unknown to him, yet none suspected his condition.

He alone realized his plight, but not until after reaching Portland. He practically isolated himself and began to assert his own individuality, with the result that he discovered his true condition. He then sought to discover his identity and home. For two days he strayed about the city endeavoring to solve the strange problem that was part of his life. Then he called on Dr. Mackenzie, with the result that he has been identified, but still maintaining that he does not know anyeody by the name of Van Tassell.

Gase Is a Bare One.

Portland physicians are not unacquainted with cases similar to that of Dr. Van Tassell, but nearly all of them unite in saying that they have never run across one so perfect in every feature as his. Total oblivion of every past event in his life previous to a week ago is true in his case, as is also the fact that he is perfectly rational.

Leading physicians who were asked to explain the causes of annesia, which they consider a broad term for the case, say that a blow or a severe shock are the principal causes. They maintain, however, that only in rare instances is the patient as rational as Dr. Van Tassell.

RAILROAD REFUSES TO OBEY NEW LAW

Publishers' Press by Special Leased Wire. Little Rock, Ark., June 8.—The Iron Mountain railroad refuses to put the Rowell eight-hour telegraphers' law into effect today as provided by the statute. The road will set up many reasons for its fallure to comply with the law, the main one being that men cannot be secured.

Another is that it will have to close small offices during the most important time of the day and that this will operate against the best commercial interests.

About three weeks ago Sol Hart, the cigar man, bought a lot in Terrace Park and paid on account of it $100, and in less than 10 days he had sold the same lot again for $100 more than he paid for it in the first place, thus doubling his money in less than a month. We don't say everybody can do this in 10 days, but we have the first buyer to see who is not perfectly satisfied that Terrace Park is rapidly increasing in value. The Municipal Rallway company, the owners of Terrace Park, are sparing no money to make this the ideal suburb of the city. The Spanton Co. office at the tract is open all day today. postoffice business seemed to demand attention.

He said Postmaster Minto at Portland was making a commendable effort to handle his share of a business that was increasing so rapidly it was difficult for the postoffice department to keep track of it.

He said the only thing that would prevent his going would be the press of business here, or newspaper stories misconstruing his mission, as when he went south recently.

Political writers here are asserting that he goes west to build fences, some allege for Taft. The report was at one time current that he had been selected as general manager of Taft's campaign.

There is reliable information that Hitchcock was offered the Taft job, but refused it, and that Arthur I. Vorys, insurance commissioner of Ohio, will be Taft's general manager.

The administration thought it bad policy for Hitchcock, so high in the postoffice department, to take so active a part in politics.

Prominent Portland Women Call Attention to Deplorable Laxity On Part of Housekeepers

An Open Letter-

"A deplorable carelessness exists among thousands of housekeepers regarding the meats that come onto their tables. They order over the telephone, never inspect the shop from which they buy, and in many cases, take but a cursory glance of the meat before cooking it. It is every housekeeper's absolute duty to do her utmost to supply her family with food that is healthful. We are provided with a federal law that requires the closest inspection of meat; we are provided with this meat in abundance; and every housewife who values the health of her family will order and allow to come to her table ONLY THAT WHICH HAS PASSED THIS EXPERT INSPECTION.

"It is a simple matter to insist that your butcher bring you government inspected meats and to visit his shop occasionally to see for yourself that everything is in a sanitary condition. This is the duty we earnestly urge upon all women."

"We have not yet had it examined by competent authority, but we think it is a great thing for the state. Today we are buying machinery to send down there. If it pans out as we hope it will, it will be worth millions to Oregon."

Mr. Barnard is enthusiastic over the prospects, but so far none of the coal has arrived in Portland. A stock com-pany has been formed to work the lease.

GOSPEL SOLOIST TO SING AT WHITE TEMPLE

Dr. Brougher has secured Fred Butler, Dr. J. Wisbur Chapman's noted soloist, to give a concert at the White Temple on Tuesday evening, June 25. Mr. Butler is probably the most noted gospel soloist in America today. He was exceedingly popular in the great Chapman evangelistic campaign in this city and made hosts of friends. In arranging for his visit to Portland, Dr. Brougher asked his audience to guarantee to take a certain number of tickets for the concert. The members of the White Temple congregation gladly responded to this invitation and subscribed for a sufficient number of tickets to meet the expenses of the entertainment.

These tickets will be distributed today at the morning and evening services at the White Temple. Subscribers can secure their tickets at that time. Those who heard Mr. Butler sing during his former visit here will be delighted to know that they will have another opportunity to hear him. to give a concert at the White Temple
