A deal has just been consummated whereby E. A. Baldwin, owner of the Sargent hotel on the cast side agrees to remodel the hotel on a large scale. Four suites on each floor of the hotel are being fitted up with large private baths and other conveniences. A new steel electric elevator, costing $5,000, is being installed. This will be in a glass-enclosed case and run upon the outside of the building. Another private dining-room, larger and better than the others, has just been finished. Owing to the large increase in patronage on the European plan, Mr. Sargent has decided to discontinue the dual plan and thus give the general public the benefit of the service and comforts of the grill. The regular table d'hote dinners served daily from $ to $ for 50 cents, and on Sunday from 4 till $180, for 75 cents, are very popular, and lately it is necessary to order a table in advance when one desires to dine there, Mr. Sargent rightly deserves the distinction he enjoys of being the leading caterer in Portland, as his long experience enables him to please everyone. ## ELABORATE DECORATIONS AT CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICES

Yesterday was observed as Children's day in many of the Protestant churches of Portland in accordance with what has become an annual custom. The sermon to the grown up folks was supplanted with exercises in which the children participated, with songs and a short talk suited to the understanding of the little ones.

In the First Presbyterian church the decorations were particularly elaborate and beautiful. Three arches of Oregon grape with field flowers spanned the center alsie and Marguerites and bachelor buttons with maidenhair ferns banked the pulpit, topped each pew end and hung from the electroliers and a great bunch of deep blue lupines hung above the pulpit. As the children in their light summer dresses marched into the church under the floral arches the spectacle was artistic and moving.

Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, the pastor, preached a sermon to the children's day service in the evening, many of the children taking part.

Yesterday was observed as Children's virtues of ants which may be imitated

HERE TO LOAD FLOUR TO SIBERIA AND CHINA

Coming Up the Coast From Callao, Peru, British Steamer Ascot Ran Into Enormous Whales Off Cape Blanco.

The British steamer Ascot, which arrived here yesterday from Callao, Peru, was recently engaged in returning prisoners captured by the Japanese in the war to Siberia and European Russia. The last load consisted of 2,650 men. They were delivered at Odessa on the Black Sea. Captain Booth says the prisoners were fat and sleek, everything going to show that they had been well treated by the Japanese.

From Odessa the Ascot went to England and took cargo for Bombay. From Bombay the course led to Calcutta and then to Buenos Ayres, a distance of 9,200 miles. This run was made without a stop and is considered one of the longest on record. A great quantity of 9,200 miles. This run was made without a stop and is considered one of the longest on record. A great quantity of coal was consumed, but nevertheless the Ascot had enough cargo to keep her going for several weeks to coast ports from Buenos Ayres to Callao, through the Straits of Magelian. It took 21 days to make the run from the Peruvian port to the Columbia river. Fine weather was encountered all the way, and so close did the course follow the shore that all the prominent capes could be seen plainly from the deck.

Cape Blanco on the Oregon coast offered the best feature in the way of scenery because as far as the eye could see great numbers of whales spouted water until it seemed that the ocean was a veritable sea of fountains. Some of the whales were of immense size. They traveled in pairs, and often came very close to the big freighter. One time they played around the bow like a school of porpoises.

The Ascot, despite her voyages in Indian and South American waters, carries a Chinese crew. The coolies will be pleased to learn that when their floating home starts out from this port she will be bound for the Flowery Kingdom, Frank Waterhouse & Company having chartered her to carry a cargo of flour and wheat to China. The Ascot carries about 6,000 tons. She berthed at the flour mills, and will commence receiving cargo at once.

Captain Olson Rewards Firemen for Good Work.

Captain William Olson of the steam schooner Jim Butler today presented Captain Smith of the fireboat George Williams with $25 for the good work performed in saving the craft from performed in saving the craft from being destroyed by fire last Saturday at Linnton. The money will be turned over to the firemen's fund.

The Jim Butler's cargo of lumber is being relashed and she will sail for San Francisco tomorrow. Captain Olson reported the fire at the custom house this morning and stated that comparatively little damage was done, although the hold had to be flooded to quench the flames.

Captain Olson spoke highly of the work done by the firemen.

"The fire boys should be given credit for having done good work in extinguishing the flames on the Jim Butler." said Captain Olson this morning. "The smoke was so dense below that the ship's crew who were fighting the flames had to get out. Then the steamer Lurline, which was alongside, let go and pulled away. At this juncture the fire boat came alongside and got the men on board and they fought the fire bravely. The first had gained such headway, however, that I ordered the flats, where we could work to better advantage and at the same time safeguard the mill wharf where the steamer was moored.

worked and she was pumped out at 10 o'clock Saturday evening. I think the firemen did excellent work and they saved the ship."

LATE ELECTION HELD ILLEGAL

Attorney Duniway Tells Socialists Ten Days' Election Notice Was Not Given.

"The whole election was illegal," was the somewhat radical statement made by R. R. Duniway, a well-known Portland lawyer, at a meeting of Socialists yesterday. "The law says that a ten days' notice must be given of an election and provides certain forms for that notice. These forms were not complied with. In the strict meaning of the law the whole election is illegal and void, but there is not the remotest possibility that it will be held so. The officers who pass on the election were elected, that it will be held so. The officers who pass on the election were elected, and so are in a position to judge of their own case, and, of course, will pass on it as well and good.

"As for the bond issue, the matter will be fixed up by a friendly suit before a friendly court, and the whole thing will be whitewashed and thus made whole.

"Oregon is now no longer under a republican form of government, but is a pure democracy. This initiative and referendum law places unlimited power in the hands of the voters. They can now pass a law making it a capital offense for a man to have red hair. And he would have no appeal. The Socialists now have the chance to do as they please if they can get the majority of the people to do as they wish. For instance they can attack any corporation they wish to and practically confiscate it under the name of a constitutional amendment, taxing it any amount they wish to, 10, 100, 1,000 or any other percentage a year."

Other speakers at the meeting were Mrs. A. S. Duniway, a woman suffragist leader; Mrs. Squires, who warmly denounced the hint that she was an anarchist, and C. Thompson, who roasted the lawyers concerning the last election. Chairman J. D. Stevens announced that the Socialists will have a candidate in the field to succeed School Director Beach, and that pext Sunday C. Thompson would speak on "The Attitude of the Press in Reporting the Haywood Trial."

W. Bruce, a graduate of the Chicago school of oratory and dramatic art, is to recite, and Miss Alice Justen, one of Portland's sweetest singers, will give a contraito solo. Besides this, many of the sailors will take part in songs, reci-tations, etc.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

The steamer Alliance, Captain Olson, will be in this evening. She will berth at Greenwich dock on account of the high water.

The steam schooner Daisy Freeman will be at the drydock this afternoon for repairs. She left up from Astoria yesterday in tow of the steamer Harvest Queen.

District Forecaster Beals predicts that the Willamette will remain nearly sta-tionary Tuesday and Wednesday and fall slightly Thursday. It is believed that all danger from extremely high water all danger from extremely high water this summer is now past.

C. M. Fowler, formerly Astoria agent for the Kamm steamers, is now commercial agent for the A. & C. railroad, with headquarters in this city.

The British steamer Wyneric has arrived at Victoria, B. C., her bunkers damag d by fire. The steamer was 22 days making the run from Mayquil. Several times Captain Dent and his crew were overcome by gas in fighting the fire.
