

Freak Eggs Found on a Polk County Ranch

Diminutive Turkey Egg.
Three unique eggs have been found by C. A. Ball on his hop ranch near Ballston. One is a hen's egg, very small in size, and of a shape that is twisted out of all semblance to a normal egg. Another is a turkey egg, which instead of being almost as large as a hen's egg, as is usual, is but little larger than a marble. In addition to being a freak in size, this turkey egg consists of nothing but shell, there being neither white nor yolk inside it. The third egg is the China pheasant egg, that is nearly twice the normal size.

Big Chinese Pheasant Egg.
Mr. Ball says that there will be an abundance of China pheasants this year, as the season has been very favorable to them in the hatching and brooding season. Among other freaks that Ball found among the birds was the nest of a quail containing an even dozen eggs.

Distorted Hen's Egg.
After Mr. Ball had discovered the nest and cleared the brush away from around it, the little quail laid eight more eggs, bringing the total number in her nest up to 30, and then began setting on them to hatch a brood of chicks. This performance is most remarkable in a wild bird, for they usually desert a nest promptly, if it has been disturbed. The quail mother is still staying with her eggs.

FRUITFUL YEAR ROUNDED OUT

Review of Conference of the United Brethren at Plainview.

SPECIAL STRESS PUT ON MISSION CAUSE

List of Assignments of Pastors and of Officers and Trustees Elected—Meeting Women's Missionary Body—Closing Exercises.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Plainview, Or., June 12.—The fifty-fourth annual session of the Oregon conference of the United Brethren church closed its five days' session at the Plainview United Brethren church Sunday evening with the best of feeling among its members.

The conference met at 2 o'clock p. m. Wednesday, June 5, with Bishop H. L. Barkley, D. D., of Portland, presiding. Rev. Walter Reynolds of Philomath was elected recording secretary and conference treasurer and Rev. W. H. McLean of Shelburn statistical secretary.

After the opening exercises of the conference, Bishop Barkley read his report for the closing district, which was filled with valuable statistics and contained excellent suggestions for future work, among which he made an earnest plea for better salaries for ministers and larger gifts to the mission cause.

Discipline and Reports.
Presiding Elder A. R. Landy reported his report on the examination of ministers and reports from the separate fields was begun. All ministers passed the examination.

Officers and Trustees.
D. V. Gregg of Bellfountain were re-elected on the board of trustees of the College of Philomath. J. Whedon of Plainview was also elected on this board, but declined in favor of A. W. Haines of Tigard, who was elected to fill the vacancy.

Interesting reports on all branches of the church work were read and ably discussed by both ministers and lay workers. Rev. A. R. Landy of Salem was selected presiding elder.

NEW WASHINGTON LAWS IN EFFECT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, June 12.—All bills passed by the recent legislature other than those which carried an emergency clause or were appropriation acts are now in effect. One of the important new laws is the pure food act, which is a copy of the federal statute. Practically all the grocers are prepared for it. The banks will all come under the regulation of the new state bank examiner. The reciprocal demurrage act is another important measure.

THIS RUMSHOP MAN TO NOTIFY PATRONS

One saloonkeeper who intends to submit gracefully to the order of the district attorney, enforcing the Sunday closing law, has prepared the following sign, which he proposes to hang on the front door of his saloon every Sunday hereafter:

FEDERAL ATTORNEY JAMES COLE WINS TITLE OF "TRUST BUSTER"

Assistant United States Attorney James Cole, who has been conducting the investigation against the furniture trust, has had a new title thrust upon him—that of "trust-buster." The way the new name came to be given to him occurred yesterday and was conferred by a small second-hand dealer on Front street.

Yesterday morning, after Mr. Cole had been instrumental in having the fines of the small retailers cut down from $25 to $10, one of the second-hand dealers pleaded guilty, forgot to state that he was a second-hand dealer, and Judge Weiverton assessed the usual fine of $25.

After court the dealer went to Mr. Cole full of wrath and expostulated in a loud voice against the discrimination. It was all in vain.

Mr. Cole said: "Well, $25 will not break you, will it?" The dealer was in a quandary and commenced to take stock of his capital, liabilities and goods on hand. He found he could raise the $25 and still have enough left to buy food. Then he repented that the fine would not drive him into bankruptcy. Mr. Cole said that would be about all, and the dealer took his departure.

COUNCILMAN VAUGHN DESIRES ORDINANCE WITH MERIT PASSED

Removal of buildings must be continuous, brick, stone and mortar piles must not remain in the street for over 90 days, over half the street must be used and covered ways must be erected and well lighted around new buildings. This in substance embraces the provisions of an ordinance introduced in the city council yesterday by Councilman Vaughn.

When a building is one story high the contractors must erect covered ways with safe footwalks. In the removal of buildings the movement must be continuous during the day and no buildings will be allowed to remain near a fire hydrant.

THIS GAME WILL BE SOMETHING RICH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, Wash., June 12.—When the Washington bankers assemble in state convention here on June 20 they will be met with a challenge from the local financiers for a ball game.
