Second Annual Convention of Oregon State Bankers in Session.

Oregon's representatives of wealth are gathered in Portland today where the Oregon State Bankers' association is holding its second annual convention in the hall of the Woodmen of the World. Today and tomorrow the time of the visiting delegates will be taken up very fully with the official business of the association, the election of officers for the ensuing term of one year and with various social functions prepared in their honor.

Representatives of the banking business from every section of the state were present this morning at 10 o'clock when the convention was called to order by President E. V. Carter of Astoria. The convention was formally opened with an invocation by Rev. A. Morrison, D. D., rector of Trinity church. Following this Mayor Lane welcomed the visitors to the city in a short address, which was answered by Vice-President E. W. Haines of Portland.

The morning session of the convention was filled with the annual reports of the president and of the secretary and the treasurer. President Carter reviewed the work of the association since its organization a year ago and related the need of the association in bringing the bankers of the state into closer touch and acquaintance.

The reports of Treasurer William Pollman of Baker City and of Secretary J. L. Hartman of Portland showed that the organization was in a most satisfactory condition regarding both membership and finances.

The afternoon session was cut short to allow those delegates who desired to do so to make a trip to Vancouver, where a special dress parade of the Fourteenth infantry had been arranged in honor of the association. A large number departed at 3:30 on the steamer Undine.

Addresses will be made this evening by E. D. Cusick of Albany, Joseph Chapman Jr. of Minneapolis, A. L. Mills of Portland and C. P. Tupper of Worthington, Minnesota. Five-minute reports by counties on the local banking conditions will be made by the delegates from the various counties.

The convention will be closed Saturday afternoon. The morning session will be called at 9:30 o'clock, and the main feature of the meeting will be the nomination and election of officers.

MINISTER'S FOOD
The Value Discovered During Absence of Family.

A Florida minister had an interesting experience when his family were compelled to leave home on account of the yellow fever. He says: "When we were visited by a yellow fever scare my family left for an indefinite stay in the interior."

"I had, for about two years, been under considerable physical and mental strain, and my nervous system seemed to utterly give way. I had some excellent physicians, but their remedial agencies failed to reach the case at all, affording only temporary relief."

"At the time the family left, my attention was called to Grape-Nuts food. Several things had led me to believe that my troubles were largely due to improper nutrition. The absence of the family gave me a good opportunity to try the new food, for it is perfectly cooked and therefore required no work on my part."

"So I began to make two meals a day, supper and breakfast, on Grape-Nuts and cream or milk, and had nothing else. I confined myself to the proper allowance, not overeating. The improvement was marked, almost from the first—my digestion was better, sleep became regular and restful, and I began to gain flesh. I could soon do work with less fatigue and more satisfaction."

"My nervous system was wonderfully improved, and I soon weighed more than I ever had before and found my strength equal to the responsibility."

"This was not all; on the return of the family Grape-Nuts became a regular article of food at the morning meal. The children ate it and improved."

"My wife, who was nursing an infant, discovered that after she began using Grape-Nuts regularly, for the first time, Nature's food supply for the baby was adequate without resorting to artificial substitutes. Grape-Nuts food not only carried us through the sickly season, but has been a Godsend to our entire family." Read "The Road to Wellville," a book "There's a Reason."

Assassin Was Broke While in Spokane, but Said He Would Soon Have Coin.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Spokane, Wash., June 14.—"Harry Orchard told me several times in the fall of 1905 that he did not have to work to make a living," said John Kammerer, a former pawnbroker of Wallace, and who is now a member of the Globe Realty company of this city. Continuing, Mr. Kammerer said:

"I was in my store on Sunday, September 17, when a man walked in and pawned a field glass. I remember he kicked because I only gave him $5. He claimed he was from Denver and was then on his way to Spokane and ran out of money, but added that he would have plenty in a few days."

"He told me his name was Harry Orchard, and that was the name that appeared on my books. On September 22 he came to me and pawned a Colt's automatic revolver. Later he pawned a gold watch, and still later he wanted to pawn a rifle, but I would not take it. He hung around the gambling joints and said he was out of work, but would have plenty in a short time."

"He came and redeemed his things, but I do not remember just when. I remember he had about $300 in bills when he came in."

"The glasses are the ones Orchard used in stalking Steunenberg at Caldwell."

FEDERAL PLUMS FOR OREGON

FOOLHARDY EXPLOIT RESULTS IN TRAGEDY

John Murray Tries to Board Flying Freight Train at The Dalles— Horribly Mangled.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., June 14.—As a freight train was passing the Umattilla house a little after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a man named John Murray, known among his associates as "Loco Slim," ran out of Poland's saloon and grabbed a hand rail. The train was going at high speed and he was pulled against the car and finally thrown under it and struck by the grease box. He was killed instantly. One who witnessed the accident says the man was rolled into a ball and dragged about 18 feet.

When the train had passed the mangled remains were exposed to view and the sight was most ghastly. The coroner viewed the body. As the accident happened in one of the most public places in the city it created considerable excitement.

Murray was about 29 years old and had been working for five days for the Pacific Coast Construction company about seven miles east of the city at the summit. He came to town with two companions about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, had his check cashed at the saloon and had taken a few drinks. What reason he gave for attempting to get on the freight train is not known, as he had not signified his intention of leaving the city.

Murray worked for several years for the Ransome Construction company at Oakland, California, but it is not known whether or not he has any relatives living there.

ACTIONS TO COMPEL DIPPING OF SHEEP

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., June 14.—Complaints have been filed before District Attorney Phelps against Washington sheepmen who disregarded the proclamation of Governor Chamberlain in refusing to dip sheep before bringing them into the range of Oregon. This offense the penalty is a fine of $500 and the cost of dipping must be met besides. Dan P. Smythe, secretary of the Wool Growers' association and a member of the state sheep commission, brought the matter before the district attorney.

CONTEST FOR CHAIR OF LAND CONVENTION

(Journal Special Service.)
Denver, June 14.—There is a hot contest over the chairmanship of the land convention to be opened next week. Senator Carter of Montana and D. T. Wilson are willing to act. Carter's brother is a high official in the land companies owned by the Union Pacific. Secretary of the United States. By signing this all nations will enter the congress on an equal footing. The congress then adjourned until tomorrow.

ALL COUNTRIES TO BE EQUAL AT THE HAGUE

(Journal Special Service.)
The Hague, June 14.—The first real business of the conference was transacted today when the delegates signed the protocol of the 1892 conference. Choate and General Horace Furter signed for the United States. By signing this all nations will enter the congress on an equal footing. The congress then adjourned until tomorrow.

INDICTMENT AGAINST PERKINS DISMISSED

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, June 14.—George W. Perkins was dismissed yesterday by the special grand jury, which is dealing with the insurance cases, on the grounds that he had returned against him in connection with his dealings in the bonds of the International Mercantile company.

DISTINGUISHED IN MUSICAL CIRCLES

A NOTEWORTHY ASSEMBLAGE NOW GATHERED IN PORTLAND—CLOSE RELATIONSHIP WITH MANY PORTLAND FAMILIES.

Informal Invitation Extended to All Music Lovers to Attend "Inspection"—Corner of Park and Washington Sts. the Center of Interest.

Portland is a city noted for its high appreciation of art in music. It is not to be wondered, then, that such a generous cordiality should be extended to the distinguished family of musical celebrities as are now united in an imposing gathering at Washington and Park streets.

NAMES EVERY ONE KNOWS.
There is Weber of New York, Chickering of Boston, Kimball of Chicago, Hazleton of New York, Stock of New York, Hobart M. Cable of Chicago, Bush & Geris of Chicago, Wheelock of New York, Pease of New York, Crown of Chicago, Haddorf of Rockford, Illinois; Lester of Philadelphia, Schumann of Chicago, Story & Clark of Chicago and a host of others. These names are familiar to every lover of music. They comprise the piano family popularly known as "The Line of Highest Quality," thus designated because possessing the greatest merit of any line on the market.

But these are not all. There is the famous Steinway, the greatest piano player in the world; the marvelous Welte-Mignon, impersonating, entirely unaided and with absolute fidelity, the playing of Paderewski, Strauss, Gaby, Busoni, Carreno, Hornemann, Gabel, owitsch, Sauer and other equally noted pianists; as well as other pianos played, including the matchless electric Peerless; then there are Victor and Columbia Talking Machines, reproducing with vivid realism the voices of the world's greatest soloists, the playing of the finest bands, orchestras, violinists, harpists, banjoists, etc.

TO VISIT YOUR HOME.
It is truly a distinguished family. It is a family with which association will bring you pleasure. The best pianos, very like yours, have a tendency to gain admission to the best homes. How about your home? Would not some one of these noted pianos be welcome in your household? Such pianos, such instruments as these, may be safely admitted. If your home lacks the membership—and companionship—of a piano, now is an excellent time to increase the family circle.

The security and satisfaction in selecting the piano from the House of Eilers—the House of Highest Quality—needs little emphasizing here. Recognized for liberality and fairness in its dealing for placing within reach of the individual buyer the ability to purchase on a basis which saves an amount equal to the total wholesale profit of the average dealer, for selling at strictly one price for providing the easiest payment plan and for giving the most attractive exchange privilege and the strongest guarantee, the House of Eilers stands far and above all other houses.

THINK OF THE MONEY SAVED.
Compare the prices of these reliable pianos at Eilers, these pianos of Highest Quality, with prices elsewhere. A saving of $50 to $100 is absolutely certain. It's the most logical matter in the world—a simple matter of buying in larger quantities, covering a greater territory, enjoying more economical shipping and distributing facilities, and doing business on a more modern, more progressive basis.

CALL OR WRITE TODAY.
A comparatively very moderate sum will purchase an excellent piano; a small amount, entirely within your means, will make a satisfactory initial payment, and a few dollars a month will make your home more attractive, more enjoyable, more congenial than ever before. Call or write at once for full particulars regarding our money-saving, easy-paying Piano-buying Plan. Eilers Piano House, 338 Washington street, corner of Park Street, in every important city in the Pacific northwest, from California to Alaska and throughout all the great inland Empire.

HAYWOOD CHEERFUL

comedy touches. Notwithstanding the setting it was a horrible business.

Orchard left Denver and went to San Francisco with the avowed intention of assassinating Bradley, a millionaire mining man once in the Coeur d'Alene. Here in Boise, Bradley is not approved. His conduct in this matter, it is asserted, is not what should be expected from a man who owes so much to the state authorities. This whole Steunenberg tragedy arose through the labor difficulties that arose at Bradley's mine, and yet Bradley cannot or will not appear as a witness for the prosecution.

Wife and Children.
But there is another side which should be told. Bradley has a wife and child. He feared to let them know that he was under the ban of the instrument that made possible Orchard's monster. When he discovered poison in his milk and the chemist informed him that the bottle contained strychnine sufficient to kill a half hundred people he worked to the discovery to save the feelings of his wife and in doing so he made the case for the prosecution ever so much harder to build.

Greater intricacies followed the explosion at the Bradley home a few days after the milk poisoning. Bradley endeavored to the utmost the theory that it was due to a gas explosion.

When this trial was at its beginning Darrow, the optimist, assured all who cared to listen that Orchard, the "monstrous" man, having read of the explosion invented the rest and had no more to do with Bradley than he had with a South American revolution. But that will not hold. Darrow is trying and it is hard for him to do so, to look at this incident in the trial as a serious affair.

Corroboration of the Orchard story has been forthcoming yesterday and today with such certainty and precision that no one can longer doubt but what Orchard resorted to poison and the bomb to rid the world of Bradley, Pettibone and Orchard in this transaction were brought to a connecting link. Jake Wolfe, Pettibone's manager, wrote the communication.

As these matters were unfolded Haywood's face clouded. Still hope was not abandoned. A brilliant coup could save the day. Pettibone was agent for Tanquer's Notions, Barry or Dempsey or Debs, Orchard's allies, may have been formed or mail flingers in the correspondence may have been legitimate. Why should the west have been searched for lawyers if they cannot meet an emergency, and in this San Francisco business an emergency does exist.

Jury in Limelight.
On the corner chair of the jury box sits O. V. Sebern, until the other year a resident of Wyoming, in all essentials the type of the frontiersman, lean and trained to bone and muscle, with hawk-like eyes, deep set. He sat on the Tom Horn jury. He spoke a few words this forenoon demanding light from a witness on many a hazy point, and a single passed through the courtroom. His words brought the jury box to the very forefront of the setting, where, after all, it should be.

The scene had to change to Denver in this trial. It opened there and it may end there. When the San Francisco jury was sealed so far as the prosecution was concerned, Pearl May Moore of Denver, petite and precise as a registry clerk for the government should be, told of Jake Wolfe of Denver sending a registered letter to Steve Dempsey of San Francisco, a letter which Orchard says he received and which contained money from Pettibone.

Astoria is nearing the end of her century's waiting for the good things nature ordained for her.

power to close public drinking places in the city of Portland on Sunday.

"Subdivision 48 of section 12 of the city charter provides as follows: 'No provision of the law concerning the sale or disposition of any spirituous, vinous, fermented or malt liquors in Multnomah county shall apply to the sale or disposition of the same in the city of Portland.'

"The charter containing the above was adopted by the vote of the people in June, 1902, and enacted by the legislative assembly and became a law on January 23, 1903, and has not been repealed. The provision quoted was intended to, and did, in my opinion, exempt the city of Portland from the state law governing the sale of liquor, and no specific authority is vested in any official to regulate such traffic in the city of Portland, excepting such as is conferred by the charter and ordinances of said city."

"L. A. McNARY, City Attorney."

TO REMAIN PRISONER

Schmitt will try to hold his office until the last.

Under the charter, however, Schmitt, by reason of his confinement in prison, will be unable to perform the duties of his office. Under the circumstances, he must select some one of their number to act as mayor during Schmitt's disability. As chairman of the finance committee of the board, Gallagher will become acting mayor. The complete city government will then be in the hands of the prosecutors. This means that the head of Chief of Police Dinan will be the first to hit the basket. It is stated that President Duffey had been ordered to resign his office and be deposed at an early date. As soon as the graft prosecutors feel sure of their ground they will continue the despoiling process all along the line.

Slept Under Guard.

Mayor Schmitt spent last night at his home on Vallejo street near Pierce. Two officers stood guard, one in the house and the other at the front door outside. Schmitt's attorneys will give notice of appeal at once, and an attempt will be made to have him kept in the city prison until the appeal is decided. There are four other indictments on French restaurant extortion charges lodged against Schmitt. The evidence in which cases will be identical with that presented in the Maffanti matter. But there are indictments for other crimes pending, and these will be taken up now before the remaining extortion indictments are brought to proof.

Of the charges remaining to be tried against Schmitt are those of accepting bribes from the United Railroads and the San Francisco Gas & Electric company; and 28 of bribing supervisors in the cause of the United Railroads and the Gas company. The prosecution would not say which case would be brought up first.

city, who was convicted last night of the crime of extortion. An informal ballot was cast upon the retirement of the jury and the vote stood 11 for conviction and one for acquittal. The dissenting voice was that of Mr. Burns, a shoemaker. An argument of an hour's duration followed and the first formal ballot was cast, showing the jury unanimous for conviction. The jury then returned its verdict after having been out just an hour and 35 minutes.

As soon as the verdict was pronounced Judge Dunne announced the judgment of the court would be pronounced on Wednesday, June 27, and stated that he was ready to hear any motion of the prosecution. District Attorney Langdon asked that the usual course be pursued and the mayor was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. Mayor Schmitt at first refused to give out a statement for the press but later stated that he was innocent, even though convicted, and that he would fight to the court of last resort. He also said that he did not expect fair treatment at the hands of Judge Dunne.

STOCKHOLDERS WILL RESTORE CONFIDENCE
New York, June 14.—In an attempt to force the Union Pacific railroad to disgorge its stock in parallel and competing lines and to prevent it from buying more of the same kind, stockholders, representing about 800 shares in the road, are preparing to commence suit against the company. This action is to be taken to restore the confidence of the public.
