PORTLAND ROSE SHOW AND FIESTA, JUNE 20 AND 21

SPECIAL SALE

Dress Goods and Silks

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

An event that's bound to create unusual interest among Portland women who demand good goods. Owing to the lateness of the spring season and continual delays in traffic we find our dress goods section somewhat overstocked. We prefer to sell them at a sacrifice now than later, so we've marked them down to just about actual cost. All the popular weaves and colors are included, and the selection is the best ever shown in this city. Mail orders filled and samples sent on request.

A housewarming party was held at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ira Routledge, 870 Belmont street, Monday evening. The rooms were beautifully adorned with flags and flowers. One hundred and thirty-five guests were delightfully entertained until a late hour. Music was furnished by Professor Yoder's orchestra, assisted by the Misses Grace Kemp and Lucy Metzger. Mr. McCann gave humorous recitation. Mrs. Harry Stone, A. Wells and Ira Routledge contributed to the enjoyment of the company with their Visiting guests are attracting a good deal of attention now, and much of the entertaining that will be done for the next few weeks will be in compliance to the out-of-town people who have come to spend a part of the summer with friends here. Several guests have already arrived from the east and will go to the coast with their hostesses later in the summer. On account of the cold and rainy weather of the past two weeks there has not been much sailing lately, and many have postponed their departure from the first of June till the middle or end of the month. With the closing exercises of the Portland academy Friday evening most of the excitement and commotion incident upon the graduation of the young people from the preparatory schools came to an end. The public schools and high schools have their exercises this week, but the social affairs have for the most part been already given.

Characterizing this month are the various social entertainments. The rose fiesta has emphasized in the minds of Portland hostesses the necessity of using the flowers in extensive decorating and entertaining plans, and a number of pretty new ideas have been evolved.

Miss Cogswell of Albany, New York, is the guest of Miss Frances Lewis. Miss Lewis returned last week from a three months' visit with her sister, Mrs. Sherman Hall in Kansas City, where she went in the spring at the same time that Miss Beatrice Hill, then the guest of Miss Carolyn Burns, was returning to her Massachusetts home. Miss Cogswell returned with Miss Lewis and will remain west for two months. Wednesday an informal tea was given at the Lewis home to introduce the guest and many of the young married people and the younger set were there. Miss Frances Lewis was charming in light blue silk and Miss Cogswell in white lace. Miss Emily Lewis and Mrs. George Good assisted in receiving. Pouring tea and coffee were Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. William H. Warren, Mrs. David T. Honeyman and Mrs. Ernest Tucker. A pretty feature of the day's entertaining was the presence of a fleet of young girls who have just completed their preparatory school work and appeared in older society for the first time. Miss Evelyn Wilson and Miss Mary Helen Wilson were the graduates from St. Helen's hall and Miss Anita Burns who has just returned from the Cliff. In the afternoon there were in light frocks and attracted much attention.

A few of those present were Bishop and Mrs. E. Scadding, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mr. and Mrs. George Good, Mr. and Mrs. J. Couch Flanders, Charles and Mrs. Ernest Grell, Thales Linthicum, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Lewis, Miss Carolyn Burns, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Margaret Morrison, Miss Margaret Montgomery, Miss Edith Houghton, Mrs. Allen Lewis, Mrs. C. J. Reed, Mrs. Zora Snow, Mrs. William H. Warren, Mr. J. K. Kollock, Mrs. Howard Mather, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, the Misses Hastings of Chicago, Miss Carolyn Wilson and others.

Rose whist was the game with which Mrs. John J. Reed entertained her friends at her East Madison street home on last Saturday afternoon. Each table represented a rose of a certain variety, a single, perfect blossom marking the table. On descending the stairs each guest was presented with a rose by little Miss Edith Oida, who was stationed on the landing with a large flat basket of blossoms. By these partners were found. The counters for the points were roses, distributed from pretty baskets by three little girls, the Misses Helen Werlein, Beatrice Locke and Edith Oida, and the winner of points placed in individual baskets for that purpose.

At the close of the game, at which only 12 hands were played, the roses were counted and prizes awarded to the table having the highest score. The prizes were for the most roses, the most roses in white, and the most roses in pink. The winners were Mrs. Fletcher Gaddis, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. A. J. Fiel and Mrs. T. W. Kirby. Punch was served on the veranda by the little girls assisting Mrs. Reed, and at the close of the game refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. T. W. Kirby, Mrs. A. J. Fiel, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Fletcher Gaddis, Mrs. George Williams, Mrs. C. C. Hickok, Mrs. Richard Martin Jr., Mrs. Herbert Houghton, Mrs. W. H. Holt, Mrs. R. B. Northrup, Mrs. E. C. Hochapfel, Mrs. H. E. Noble, Mrs. P. C. Patterson, Mrs. A. E. H. Werlein, Mrs. H. H. Jones, Mrs. George I. Thompson, Mrs. Leslie Reed, Mrs. H. H. Frost, Mrs. Joseph G. Evans, Mrs. John Krause, Mrs. Robert Krohn, Miss Margaret McKinnon and Dr. Florence Sharpe Manlan.

Mrs. W. Y. Masters gave a card and dancing party to the Portia and Neighborhood clubs Friday evening a week ago. There were about 60 present. Mrs. B. S. Pague and George F. Brice were the prize winners at cards. Dancing was indulged in until after midnight.

Tuesday Mrs. B. S. Pague also entertained the Portia club. Five hundred was the name for the afternoon. Mrs. Orla Young winning the first prize and Mrs. L. B. Reeder the second. A unique feature of the afternoon was the serving of the ice cream in small flower pots which were covered with cocoanut, and a large pink carnation decorated each. Mrs. Bert Haney will be the hostess Tuesday, June 22.

The dress rehearsals for the Al fresco entertainment to be given by the Oregon Collegiate dramatics next Wednesday evening at Cedar Hill, presenting "As You Like It," promise a most satisfactory production. The play is attracting much attention and there will doubtless be a large attendance of society. The patronesses number many of the most prominent matrons—Mrs. J. N. Fieschner, Mrs. Miss Lucile City Carson, Mrs. William D. Fenton, Mrs. James Ladlaw, Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur, Mrs. William L. Brewster, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. C. J. Reed, Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Mrs. T. L. Elliot, Mrs. Alan Welch Smith, Mrs. William M. Ladd, Mrs. N. J. Levinson and Mrs. A. E. Rokey.

The committee on scholarship has awarded the scholarship this year to Miss Olive Donnell, a graduate of the February class from the Portland High school. The play is given for the benefit of the scholarship fund, by means of which a girl student, chosen by competitive examination, is sent each year to the University of Oregon.

Invitations are out for commencement at the University of Oregon from Sunday, June 23, to Wednesday, June 25. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday morning by Rev. MacH. Wallace, pastor of the Brewster Congregational church of Detroit, Michigan. Monday there will be the annual baseball game on the campus between the faculty and the seniors in the afternoon and the recital of the school of music in the evening. Tuesday morning honor and wore an imported gown of white chintilly lace over yellow satin, cut with a long train, and she carried Mareschal Nell robes. The bride wore an extremely handsome gown, also imported, of white satin, brocaded with silver and trimmed with exquisite lace in a wedding bell pattern. Her veil was secured with a wreath of tiny white roses. Her sister, Miss Helen Brents, was the bridesmaid and wore pale blue chignon over silk. The bride, who has often visited here and is a popular guest, is a brunette of a rare and striking type and made an exceptionally handsome picture as a bride. Mr. and Mrs. Robb came to Portland after the wedding and are now touring the sound cities before returning to Walla Walla to make their home.

The Misses Hastings of Chicago were the guests of Mrs. Holt C. Wilson last week. They have just returned from China where they visited for some time while on a tour of the world, which they have just now completed. Tuesday the alumni business meeting and class reunions take place, with the president's reception in the afternoon and the oratorical content for the evening. Wednesday is commencement day, with the exercises in the morning and an address by Senator John M. Gearin, the university banquet to the alumni in the afternoon and the alumni ball in the evening. A large number of alumni and other interested friends will go up from Portland for the exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leslie Finley, Married Last Week.

The largest tea of the week was given by Mrs. E. H. McCracken Thursday afternoon at her home on King's Heights. The honor guest was her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry McCracken, recently a bride. About 250 guests called.

The rooms were delightfully arranged with pink roses in the reception rooms and quantities of dainty white syringas in the dining-room, with pink carnations on the tea table. Mrs. McCracken was handsome in white net, with white embroidered roses applied. Mrs. Harry McCracken wore a stunning gown of white elysee, with a yoke of duchesse lace and a rose maitre bertha. Receiving with them was the hostess daughter, Mrs. George Foster Mason, from Seattle, who wore white silk snowdrop net, with point lace garnitures.

Assisting about the reception room were Mrs. John McCracken, in black lace over flowered silk, and several young girls in light frocks; Miss Leslie Knapp, Miss Edith Houghton, Miss Alice Sansbury, Miss Lisa Wood and Miss Maria Pratt of Oregon City. In the library Mrs. Charles B. Hurley of Tacoma, and Mrs. David T. Honeyman served punch. In the dining-room the tea table was presided over by Mrs. A. E. Rokey, in a black and white brocade empire gown; Mrs. J. Frank Watson, in pale gray chiffon; Mrs. A. A. Morrison, in white crepe; and Mrs. R. W. Wilbur, in pale blue silk.

Mrs. H. D. Green returned Monday after a five months' visit in the east and has taken apartments at the Nor-tonia for the summer. Mrs. Green visited in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington and was gaily entertained everywhere. In Boston she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Burr, and Major Burr, who is to be advanced to the rank of colonel in about two months. At Governors Island, off New York, she was with the family of Captain Jordan, formerly of Portland, and General Grant. She has a large circle of friends and relatives in the metropolis and spent much time there prior to leaving for Philadelphia as the guest of the Blair Scotts, formerly of Portland, and Washington, to visit Admiral Sebree's home and Mrs. Kelly, the widow of the former United States senator.

Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson entertained Tuesday afternoon the psychology and oratory departments of the Woman's club and the visiting committee. Wednesday afternoon she entertained the French department and the social and hall committees. A light luncheon was served in the dining-room, where sweet brier and American Beauty roses were the decorations. In the living-room Mrs. Johnson is the retiring president of the club and is to entertain Mrs. Fredrick Eggert, the new president, with all the past presidents Tuesday week.

Mrs. Walter Cook returned early in the week from Walla Walla, where she attended the wedding of Miss Mabelle Brents and John Robb, a week ago Wednesday. The wedding was celebrated in the Episcopal church, the first in the new building, and it was one of the most elaborate events ever seen in Walla Walla. The bride is a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families of that part of the state and is a cousin of Mrs. J. N. Teal and Miss Genevieve Thompson of Portland. Mrs. Walter Cook was the matron of day afternoon Mrs. Wilson gave an informal musical tea at the Waverly links in their honor and Miss Elizabeth Hartman, who was the entertaining artist, the program was delightful and Miss Hartman, the young soprano who is to leave in the summer for study in Italy, received many compliments on her lovely voice. Mrs. Edward Alden Benis accompanied her. Tea was served after the program. Mrs. W. Ayer and Mrs. George Good presiding at the table.

The commencement activities at St. Helen's hall last week were of interest and many attended the exercises. Thursday evening the commencement dance closed the week's festivities very prettily. The study room and recreation room were thrown into one for dancing and the decorations were beautiful. A corner of the room was devoted to each class with its pennants and colors to mark it. Couches, rugs and a screen of greens for the musicians gave a pretty effect.

The patronesses were Mrs. Charles Knapp, Mrs. A. Morrison, Mrs. Arthur Emmon, Mrs. Henry Hewitt, Mrs. E. H. Brooks and Miss C. L. Wilson. Many of the old graduates returned for the dance, among them were Miss Myra Loveridge of Eugene, Miss Katherine Armstrong of Corvallis, Miss Carrie Short of Astoria, Miss Elizabeth Lord of Salem and Miss Aileen Davies of Portland.

A number of girls prominent in the social set were among the graduates this year, and there has been much entertaining for them. Miss Evelyn Wilson and Miss Mary Helen Wilson have finished the college preparatory course.

Mrs. G. G. Gammons was hostess twice last week at pretty pink luncheons. The table was prettily with a huge brass jardiner of Caroline Testout roses and the favors were dainty fans. The guests Monday were: Mr. Lee Hoffman, Mrs. Ralph W. Wilbur, Mrs. Ralph Hoyt, Mrs. H. E. Noble, Mrs. A. D. Walker, Mrs. Batchelder and Mrs. Tyler Woodward.

Friday her guests were Mrs. C. E. Curry, Mrs. Louis H. Tarpley, Mrs. Lewis Kuss, Mrs. George F. Russell, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. Mark Gill and Miss Gill.

The society baseball game that is to be played Saturday afternoon at the Flunomah field for the benefit of the Flunomah Mission day nursery is attracting much attention. The patronesses are Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. Ralph W. Wilbur, Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mrs. Louis H. Tarpley, Miss Nellie Williams, Mrs. Sol Hirsch, Mrs. John C. Alsworth, Mrs. Ralph Hoyt, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. George F. Russell, Mrs. A. E. Rokey, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. R. J. MacKenzie, Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. James Zan.

The patroness and patronesses for the play, "The Bridge of the Gods," given at the Helgic last night by the Junior class of Pacific university, were Governor and Mrs. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stott Myers, President and Mrs. Ferrin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eggert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Leidaw, Mr. and Mrs. David Loring, Professor Mary E. Farnham and Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, A. Bell and Miss Wellesley of Pendell Court, Surrey, England, were guests at the Portland hotel on Tuesday last. Mr. and Mrs. Bell entertained Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Goodrich and their little daughter, and the party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich's little daughter.

Mrs. John C. Alsworth gave a delightful musical Friday afternoon at the Waverly clubhouse. About 100 guests attended. The artists were Miss Vilia Whitely White of Boston, soprano and Miss Josephine Large of Chicago, pianists. The program was delightful and the two musicians, who spent last summer here and are great favorites with Portland audiences, were most enthusiastically received. Tea was served after the music.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kennard were at the Imperial in New York last week en route to the Jamestown exposition. They attended the commencement exercises at Ossining-on-the-Hudson, the school where Miss Vera Goodenough has spent the past school year. Miss Goodenough left for Europe on the steamer Romanic, which sailed June 8 from Boston, and the Kennards went to see her off.

Arthur L. Finley gave a farewell "stag" dinner in the Turkish room at the Portland Monday evening prior to his marriage Wednesday.

The guests were: B. S. Pague, C. S. Jackson, A. L. Harbur, George J. Major, E. W. Foster, Charles Anderson, F. H. Sherwood, George W. Baldwin, Clyde H. Eagan, Charles H. Skewes and John A. Horan.

Miss Leslie Weidner, a graduate this year of Portland academy, gave a delightful recital Monday afternoon in which she was presented by her instructor, Mrs. Anna B. Carroll. She played a difficult program with ease and finish. Miss Weidner is popular in the real young set and a great many of her young friends were present.

The Friday evening informals at the Irvington club have been indefinitely postponed because the training season for the tournament is on. The evenings have been well attended recently and Jay S. Hamilton, president of the club, has proved himself a good presiding of-floor. The tournament which was to have begun this week has been postponed till next week and after the finals it is planned to have a big social evening in honor of the winners.

The lime-light lecture, "Scotland: With Memories of Her Happiest Queen and Immortal Bard," by the Rt. Rev. Charles Scadding, bishop of Oregon, which was postponed some weeks ago on account of repairs on the parish house, will be given tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Trinity parish house.

Mrs. R. L. Donald entertained yesterday afternoon the cast of "As You Like It" with five hundred. Mrs. George Haskell Marsh, the president of the Collegiate Alumnae, and Mrs. Alan Welch Smith, one of the members, who will be a patroness the evening of the play, were the other guests.

Walter Whittlesey has returned to spend the summer with his mother at her home on Northrup street. Mr. Whittlesey, who was graduated from the University of Oregon in 1901, has been doing excellent work the past year as instructor in the sociology department at Princeton.

Mrs. Lewis Russell entertained delightfully at bridge Wednesday afternoon. There were 16 tables and a prize was given at each table. The rooms were very pretty with red roses in the library, yellow Shasta daisies in the drawing room and pink roses in the dining room.

There is much interest felt in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Aida Beryl Umphlette of Grants Pass and Lloyd E. Wickwarham of Portland. Mr. Wickwarham is well known in club circles, and Miss Umphlette has visited in Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Brien of Petaluma, California, were guests last week of the doctor's cousin, J. P. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien on North Twentieth street. Dr. and Mrs. O'Brien were here several days en route east on their wedding trip.

Mrs. Frank Warren Jr. is entertaining Miss Maury of Cincinnati, Ohio, who arrived Wednesday to remain for two months. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Warren will entertain at bridge informally in Miss Maury's honor.

Miss Beatrice C. M. Hadden and Miss Vera Fields will leave about the first of July for a trip to Europe. After visiting London and Paris, Miss Hadden will return to Berlin for a season of study under her former teacher, Xaver Schwenken.

Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson, retiring president of the Woman's club, will give a luncheon Tuesday, May 25, in compliment to Mrs. Frederick Eggert, the incoming president. The guests will be the past presidents of the club.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Waldo Coe have sent out cards for a large reception Monday evening, June 24. This will be the formal opening of their hands, some new home on Twenty-fifth and Lovejoy streets.

Miss Marjorie Noble and Miss Janet Noble left Tuesday on a tour of Europe and the Mediterranean country with party of friends from Los Angeles. They will sail from New York next Thursday.

The Pan Hellenic society was entertained Friday night by the Misses Alice and Carolyn Benson at 320 Eleventh street. Bridge was played.

Miss Claribel Goodwin of Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Le Barrie Goodwin of the Portland hotel, arrived in Portland Friday to visit her parents.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Miss Ina Lucile Craig, whose wedding to Arthur L. Finley took place Wednesday evening, was entertained in a delightful manner by Mrs. Hiram Stipe on Saturday June 8. The parlors were profusely decorated with Caroline Testout and France roses. The early part of the evening was spent in playing German whist, the score cards being heartshaped, with dainty engravings of brides. The prize was won by Miss Eugenia Craig. The "Wedding of the Flowers" was then participated in, the prize falling to Miss Craig. A guest book was then presented to the bride-to-be, each guest being blindfolded and required to draw a pig in the book. This caused much merriment and Mrs. William Goodwin's drawing was selected by Miss Craig as being the most accurate. The prize for this was a miniature pink pig ornamented with pink satin ribbons; this was filled with pink bonbons.

At 11 o'clock the dining room was thrown open and disclosed a pretty sight. Suspended from the chandelier was a large white dove carrying pink satin ribbons in its mouth terminating at Miss Craig's place, which was given a bride-like suggestion with an immense lover's knot of pink satin ribbons. Pink candelabra shed a soft light over the table and the centerpiece was a large cut glass bowl filled with France roses and dainty ferns, placed on a beautiful dolly embroidered in pink. The place cards were small pink baskets and single pink roses and the favors were tiny suit cases filled with rice. Refreshments were in the most colorful. The guests were seated Miss Craig discovered a beautiful basket lined with pink, the handle arched with large pink roses and satin streamers. This contained the gifts of Miss Craig's friends. Each gift was in pink and the opening of the many packages drew the delighted eye evening to a pleasant close. Just before the departure of the guests each one was asked to give the bride-to-be a wish, which had been previously written on large hearts and these were also presented to Miss Craig, the reading of which called forth many happy thoughts.

Those enjoying Mrs. Stipe's hospitality were Miss Craig, Miss Eugenia Craig, Mrs. F. Craig, Mrs. G. W. Dickson, Mrs. M. Whitehead, Mrs. Clayton Semman, Mrs. F. J. Brady, Miss Jennie Goodwin and Mrs. J. F. Strahl.

for the summer. Miss Goodwin was injured in a railroad wreck near San Jose several weeks ago and has just been able to reach Portland because of her injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rodfeld of Heppner are guests at the Portland. They were members of the Phil Bates party that recently toured the east, and are perhaps the most prominent society people of Heppner.

Mrs. Warren F. Houghton is now the guest of her sister, Mrs. Flower in New York city and is being extensively entertained. She will not return home for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Fieschner entertained last week at their pretty Seaside cottage.

Miss Elsie Davis has arrived from San Francisco to spend a few weeks at the guest of Miss Flora Fieschner.

Mrs. Harriet Sheldon and her sister, Miss Maud Hahn, have gone to San Francisco for a few weeks' visit.

Mrs. Walter V. Smith is to entertain at luncheon next Tuesday with two tables of bridge to follow.

Mrs. Henry Hugh O'Reilly has invitations out for an afternoon of cards tomorrow.

Mrs. L. Allen Lewis has cards out for a large bridge party next Friday afternoon.

The parlors assistants were Mrs. F. A. Ball, Mrs. M. J. Bolland, Mrs. L. C. Bonnett, Mrs. G. W. Dickson, Mrs. H. M. Haller, Mrs. W. J. Hoffman, Mrs. M. L. Kline, Mrs. E. M. Mallory, Mrs. B. H. McComb, and Mrs. R. W. Price Jr. The decorations were roses and the color scheme of pink and white was sustained in the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Oliver celebrated their crystal wedding anniversary on Saturday evening, June 8, at their home, 324 East Eighteenth street. The house was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns and made a very pleasing picture. Music, games and dainty refreshments made a delightful evening.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Werschul, Mr. and Mrs. Pates, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Kary, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Cheeley, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wheeler, Mrs. Fairfowl, Mrs. C. A. Oliver, Mrs. Baltimore, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Grace Welton, Miss Ina Warner, Miss Wheeler, Miss Mamie
