Teaching the Young Indian to Speak English

Line of Indian Boys Attending School on Umatilla Reservation.—Photo by Moorehouse.

By Lulu R. Lorenz.
FROM the earliest colonial times, from the days of Elliott and Pere Marquette to the present, the Christian bodies of the country have manifested great interest in the Indian. Early in the field, devoted missionaries pushed on with the pioneers, and frequently in advance, in their earnest, self-sacrificing devotion to the cause of spreading the gospel among the Indians. With the bible and the school book they dotted the west with churches and mission schools, from which the beginning of civilization reached the savage Indian.

Frequently taking their lives in their hands, they braved the rigors of northern winters and the burning deserts of the southwest in fervent zeal for the cause they represented.

After the government began seriously and intelligently to develop the work of civilizing and educating the Indians some of the religious bodies gradually dropped out of the ranks of educators and devoted their efforts and funds more strictly to the preaching and teaching of the gospel. A number, however, remained in the field and labored earnestly among the young in schools, which were usually auxiliaries of the particular church supporting them. These schools are valuable assistants in uplifting the Indian race.

On the Umatilla Reservation.
On the Umatilla reservation in Oregon there are now two schools—a government school, which is attended by from 40 to 100 Indian children yearly, and the Catholic mission school, which is attended by from 40 to 60 Indian children. The schools have terms of eight months, and the government school has eight instructors, and the mission school usually has as many. From both these schools a number of students are annually being sent to the big Indian schools—Carlisle, Haskell and Chilocco.

Teaching the young Indian child to speak English is essentially the first step in his training, and special attention has been directed in the different schools to giving him a working knowledge of the language in the shortest possible time. This is being done by teaching objectively. Agricultural and industrial training are also practiced, such as carpentry, sewing, cooking, etc. Thus many of the Indian children have all the advantages of a white child.

Adoption of Reservation System.
As the west developed the reservation system became more and more a necessity from the humanitarian and police standpoints. By gradually confining the roving bands of Indians to limited areas vast territories were added to the public domain, and the tide of immigration poured in an irresistible wave from the east. Culture and refinement followed in the blazed trails of pioneers, and of late years Indian reservations have been surrounded by sturdy white citizens, and encompassed by lines of railroads. Two decades ago the great majority of agencies were situated in remote sections. They were distant from railroads and telegraph.

In 1882 congress tardily recognized the importance of educating the young Indian in the ways of civilization by the appropriation of $15,000. This meagre sum was gradually increased until the last appropriation was $5,000,000. Effort has been made to give the Indian "a white man's chance." While many may fail to attain a high degree of culture and refinement, the whole will not discredit the earnest desires of the friends of the American-Indian.

DISAGREEMENT IN DR. FULLER CASE

Tried for Manslaughter at Baker City—His Alleged Victim Was Mrs. Dave Gover.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Or., June 22.—The case against Dr. Roy Fuller, charged with manslaughter, which had occupied the circuit court since its convening on June 14, resulted in a disagreement after a deliberation of a day and a night. Dr. Fuller, Dr. Myers and Dave Gover were jointly indicted, but there was a separate charge of manslaughter against Dr. Fuller, which case was tried first. The attorneys for the state were Lomax and Anderson; for the defense, Hyde, Rand, Cochran and Strayer. The charge was that Dr. Fuller, assisted by Dr. Myers, caused the death of Mrs. Dave Gover by means of a criminal operation, last September. The Govers lived in Eagle Valley near Richland. Gover was charged with manslaughter with the others.

Good Location for a Doctor.

From the Youth's Companion.
Two young physicians were exchanging news for the first time since their graduation from the medical school. "I was surprised when I heard you'd settled at Beech Hill," said one to the other laughing. "I've always heard it spoken of as such a healthy suburb. I wondered if you'd find any patients there."
"My dear man," said his classmate, earnestly, "it is a healthy suburb, but it's also the stronghold of football; every family has its automobile, and there never was such a place before for giving children's parties. I'm doing splendidly, thank you."

IS ACCUSED OF SLAYING SPOUSE

Case Very Similar to Aggie Myers Murder Develops in Oklahoma.

J. R. MEADOWS IS VICTIM OF PLOTTERS

Believed Wife of Dead Man Aided Rudolph Tegeler and Mrs. Nora Keith in Putting Her Husband Out of the Way.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Oklahoma City, June 22.—A case very similar to the famous murder case of "Aggie Myers" has developed in Oklahoma. Mrs. J. R. Meadows, Rudolph Tegeler, her alleged lover, and Mrs. Nora Keith, a trained nurse, are under arrest charged with the murder of J. R. Meadows, a construction superintendent of the Pioneer Telegraph & Telephone company. Meadows disappeared from his home on the night of June 4, with the expressed purpose of going to Capitol Hill, a southern suburb of Oklahoma City, to business. He failed to appear at his office the following morning or the following afternoon, and the officials of the company, wishing to consult him, telephoned to his home and his wife reported his absence.

Police Take Trail.

His absence on June 6, without word from him aroused the suspicions of the telephone officials who called upon the police to search for him. A search was begun by the police in which the detective force finally took a hand and numerous clues were followed as long as they held hope.

No tangible clue was struck until yesterday when Chief of Police Charles Post received a letter addressed to Mrs. Meadows of Elk City, Oklahoma, from an unknown source. The letter referred to Mrs. Meadows as "mother" and referred in an obscure way to the murder of Meadows and the place of burial.

Following this clue Chief Post traced the origin of the letter to Rudolph Tegeler, who claimed that the letter had been sent to him to be copied and mailed to Mrs. Meadows.

Find Meadows' Body.
The police took Tegeler in hand and after three hours "sweating" he finally consented to show the police where Meadows' body was buried, but maintained his own innocence of the crime. Meadows' body was found a short distance west of St. Mary's academy on Capitol Hill in a shallow and hastily made grave. A bullet wound in the center of the forehead and one in the left breast, and a fracture of the skull, apparently with a heavy stick, told the tale of brutal murder. The features were so decomposed that identification was possible only by the clothing, which were identified positively as those worn by Meadows when last seen.

It is claimed that Tegeler had been mixed up in the domestic affairs of Meadows ever since his marriage six years ago, and that he is an old lover of Mrs. Meadows, having courted her before her marriage to Meadows.

Mrs. Meadows has all along maintained a very indifferent and suspicious attitude regarding the disappearance of her husband and from the first refused to see newspaper reporters and other callers.

"When called from her bed and arrested this morning she was not in the least agitated, and when asked by the police if she had expected to be arrested said: "After the way you folks have hounded me for the past two weeks I am not surprised at anything."

The three suspects have been given into the custody of the county authorities, the police. It is expected that the authorities that Tegeler will make a complete confession within the next 24 hours.

Gyroscope Potentialities.
To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: I have read with great interest the reports of the marvelous work of Mr. Brennan in applying the gyroscope to railroads. You will, I am sure, pardon me for pointing, but isn't that what a certain personage appertaining to the White House has been trying to do? And isn't Mr. Brennan's apparatus an infringement?

On the other hand, do you consider that the application of said gyroscope to the certain personage would tend to increase his ability to maintain a more perfect balance? H. P. Wilmington, May 11.

CAR STRIKERS FIGHT BATTLE WITH POLICE

Believed Two Rioters Are Dead at San Francisco as Result of Attempt to Carry Out Plot for Series of Three Assaults Upon Non-Union Men.

IS ACCUSED OF SLAYING SPOUSE

San Francisco, June 22.—A bloody battle between the police and eight men who attempted to board a Chutes-bound car tonight for the purpose of beating up the non-union conductor and motor-man, took place on Fulton street opposite the park about 8:30 o'clock. Revolvers were used on both sides. It is believed that two of the men who attempted to board the car were killed. The police are searching the brush close to the track for their bodies.

Three of the men were arrested and locked up in the police station. They are R. Schmidt and J. Kyle, striking carmen, and George Peterson, a teamster. The non-union conductor and motor-man, J. F. Ashley and J. C. Patterson, were badly injured and were taken to the Park hospital. The police are on the trail of the members of the gang who escaped into the darkness of the park. Captain Gleason, Captain Colby and Detectives T. Gibson, E. Gibson, Bunker, Free and Hamilton were the police in the fight. Although they were fired upon by the eight men, they escaped injury.

Each man in the squad emptied his revolver at the gang.

Desperate Fight.
The police believe that this attack was one of three deliberately planned attempts to seriously injure non-union car men during the night. They claim to have proof of a desperate plot which involves several well-known men.

Are Well Armed.
Two others of the gang boarded the car. Each of them carried a loaded piece of gas pipe. One rushed at the motor-man and the other at the conductor, beating the non-union men about the head with the deadly weapons.

The police saw this and charged upon the gang. Suddenly one of the eight opened fire on the police. The rest followed quickly and emptied their guns. They were not 20 feet away at the time, but every bullet went wild. At the first shot the gang turned and ran toward the protecting bushes in the park. The police fired after them and ran in on them. Schmidt, Kyle and Peterson were captured and disarmed. As the men darted into the darkness of the trees, two of them were seen to fall. The police believe that they were shot.

A force was put to work early this morning hunting for the bodies.

Partridge Dashes Into Car

From the St. Paul Dispatch.
While the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic passenger train was bowling along at the rate of 40 miles an hour, a partridge flying at full speed dashed through the car window, breaking a double thickness of glass. The bird fell dead on the floor. A traveling man seated in the place by the window was covered with shattered glass, but escaped serious injury. A man sitting in the seat behind him was struck by a piece of the flying glass and an artery in the rear part of his neck was cut.

For Better or Worse.

From Harper's Weekly.
A Baltimore woman who had a perfect treasure of a cook was horrified recently when Maggie came to her saying: "P lease, mum, I'm givin' ye a w ake's notice."
"Why, Maggie!" exclaimed the lady of the house, "this is a surprise! Aren't you satisfied here? Do you hope to better yourself?"
"Well, no mum," responded Maggie. "Tis not exactly that. The fact is, mum, I'm goin' to get married."

W. J. Riblin of Halsey has utilized six acres of land and the sheds of an abandoned tile factory, and converted it into one of the most successful poultry yards in Oregon says the Salem Journal. He has 800 hens (no males) and at an expense last year of $400 he turned off $390 cash, besides considerable in the way of living. He buys yearling hens at 80 cents each, and keeps them laying until they are old and fat, and then sells them dressed.

RAILROAD TO FIGHT NEW TWO-CENT LAW

(Publishers' Press by Special Leased Wire.)
Lincoln, Neb., June 22.—Following the lead of the Union Pacific railway, the Burlington and Rock Island systems today filed motions asking removal to the federal courts of all the state's injunction suits against Nebraska railroads. The attorney general seeks to prevent, by injunction, the railroads from violating the two-cent fare and freight rate laws. It is announced that the Chicago & North-western railroad will not fight the new laws.
