

GRAIN MARKETS

CRISPER WEAKER

Receipts Are More Liberal and With Lower East North Is Slow.

Today's market features: Creamery butter is easier. Egg market not so firm. Chickens carried over street. Dressed meats remain firm.

Old potatoes are in the market in every part of the country. From the middle west one of the largest quantities are being accumulated.

T. S. Townsend, of the Townsend creamery, says that the situation is easier owing to the larger supplies.

Mr. Mortensen of the Hanswood says: "The market is easier, but I do not look for lower prices in the immediate future."

Along Front street and among other city creameries the idea is general that the market is easier and that the present situation justifies a lower range.

Whether this will occur tomorrow has not yet been definitely settled, but it is generally believed that the ultimate course of values will be downward.

The tone of the egg market is not so firm as it was previously quoted. Receipts are more liberal and the general quality of the stock is keeping the trade from buying in large quantities.

Chickens have arrived so freely of late and so little demand has resulted in a reaction in the market.

Market for old potatoes remains very firm with prices steadily quoted. Two more cars are due from Minnesota the latter part of the week.

New potatoes are slightly lower, although the tone in the south remains quiet.

Strawberries are coming very freely and prices are fractionally shaded.

Market for dressed meats remains very steady at former quotations.

Spot prunes are showing a very liberal market. The past few days have been most liberal.

Another car of cantaloupes is due from the Imperial valley tomorrow.

String beans are firmer with best selling at 10 a pound.

California steamer stuff unloaded this morning. Regular assortment of fruits and vegetables.

EASIER POTATO TONE

The potato market will remain firm in all probability for about two weeks.
