

BLACK HAND BEHEADS BOY HELD FOR RANSOM

Remains of Kidnaped Child Found in Swamp Above New Orleans and Arrest of Members of Italian Black-mailers Follows—Lynching Threatened.

(Journal Special Service.)
New Orleans, June 24.—The fate of the Italian child, Walter Laman, kidnaped by the Black Hand, was disclosed yesterday when the dead body of the boy was found in a swamp back of St. Rose, 15 miles above New Orleans. The boy's head had been cut off, and the body, chopped into pieces, was wrapped in a blanket and packed in a box which floated on a cane raft, anchored in the swamp. The discovery was due to the vigorous searching of the suspect, Ignazio Campicciolo, in the Jefferson parish woods by the sheriff's posse and members of the Italian vigilance committee.
The prisoner weakened and promised to lead the party to the place where the body was concealed. But for his guidance, the body might not have been discovered for years. It was a tramp of nearly two miles through an almost impenetrable swamp, the slimy water reaching to the waists of the officers.

The child evidently had been strangled 10 days ago when the pursuit of the Black Hand became so hot that it looked as though the kidnapers would be caught. Fearing that the child would betray them, the kidnapers murdered him on June 13, after they had held him five days.
They cut off the head, and chopped up the body, intending to send it a piece at a time to the father to prove that the Black Hand had kept its promise to return the child in pieces in case they did not get the $5,000 demanded, but the pursuit had grown hotter and hotter, and the murderers dared not carry out their purpose.
The police continued their arrests today, raiding the Monteleone houses where they got nine more members of the Black Hand. It is thought that the whole gang will be caught now that the woman has begun to talk. There were threats of lynching today, and Sheriff Long swore in 70 extra deputies armed with rifles to guard the prisoners. The boy's funeral at the St. Louis cathedral this afternoon was attended by 2,000 persons, mostly Italians.

BLANKET OF FOG ON CONEY ISLAND

Merrymakers Chilled and Sunday Complexions Spoiled.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, June 24.—A heavy blanket of fog, thicker than that which visits San Francisco, drifted over Coney Island Sunday afternoon and caused the crowd to rush homeward early. The fog was so thick that the motormen and trolley drivers had to let their cars creep back to the city. Fearing accidents, the motormen picked their way cautiously.

Trips took twice as long as usual, and the congestion at the stations was great. The hotels and restaurants at Manhattan Beach, Brighton and Coney Island suffered. Many persons who had ordered tables reserved on the veranda were balked when they came to face the wet, chilling veil that had rolled in from the ocean. Starched shorts and waists, Marcel waved coiffures, Sunday complexions, and men's straw hats showed the effects of the moisture. It was a limp, bedraggled crowd that returned from the pleasure resorts.
In the heavy fog which hung over Jamaica Bay the Barron Island ferry boat, Frank and Helen McAVOY, grounded on a sand bank three miles from Coney Island on the evening trip from Barron Island. They had 150 passengers aboard. They were rescued by the police boat.

PRINCE IS GIVEN UNWRITTEN LAW ROYAL SALUTE LONG'S DEFENSE

Future King of England Is Public Opinion Changes—Allowed But a Shilling Girl Will Take Stand and Tell Story.

(Journal Special Service.)
London, June 24.—Prince Edward, eldest son of the Prince of Wales, received today the first formal recognition of his royal blood since he entered the Naval college. It was his thirteenth birthday, and it was marked by the playing of the National anthem before the whole college, followed by a royal salute.
The young prince, who has won the approval of his schoolmates by avoiding "snobs" is generally popular. He joins in all the sports, and is regarded as a sportsman. By special order all letters addressed to him are opened by the commander, the object being to prevent him receiving remittances of money, which sympathetic relatives might send to him. He is allowed a shilling a week as pocket money, and he gets nothing more. He is financially, probably, the poorest of all students.

RUSSIA COMPLIMENTED FOR HOSPITAL WORK

(Journal Special Service.)
The Hague, June 24.—Russia received a high compliment for its methods of treating the wounded in battle from President Bernsart of the Land War Commission. In an address upon the subject the president referred to the methods employed in the Russian army as tending toward the modern desire to soften the usages of war. After the address the commission was divided into two sections. The first section will be the improvement of the international law determining the usages of war along the lines suggested by Bernsart. The second section will discuss the rights and obligations of neutral nations in time of war.

Second Trial of Alleged Briber.

(Journal Special Service.)
Little Rock, Ark., June 24.—The case of A. W. Covington, the former state senator under indictment for alleged bribery in connection with the state capitol bill, is to come up for its second trial this week. The first trial was held last April and resulted in a disbarment of the jury.

to have the case go over for some time, making the trial for the first part of October. The court has made all preparations for the trial, however, and it is believed that Judge Hawksdale will order it proceed without further delay, unless good reasons are given for a postponement.
The line of defense is something of a mystery, and not the slightest indication has been given as to what it will be. Since the killing public sentiment in regard to the case has undergone a considerable change. Many persons are now of the belief that the young victim was guilty of no mortal offense. Nevertheless, the so-called unwritten law will in all probability be made the basis for the defense. It is expected that Judge Loving will plead that at the time of the shooting he was honest in his conviction that his daughter had suffered at the hands of Estes. It will be necessary for Miss Loving to take the stand in such a defense, and the community is on the qui vive to learn how far she will go in her testimony to shield her father. She is depended upon to at least demonstrate that she gave him cause to believe the worst, however unwittingly it was given.

While visiting a friend in the country Miss Loving went buggy-riding with Estes. According to the story now generally believed she became faint and her escort gave her a drink of liquor to revive her. The doctor, however, had made her ill. Hearing of her illness, her father hurried at once to the home of her friend, where she was staying, and got a father-in-law's statement from her which led him to believe that young Estes had been guilty of a mortal crime. He went at once to where the young man, unconscious of what was impending, was unloading a freight car. Having two negro helpers out of the way, Judge Loving shot down the young man and then marched himself off to jail to announce that he had wiped out the stain on his family name.

MEXICAN ROUTE FOR VANDERBILTS

(Journal Special Service.)
Mexico City, June 24.—The Mexican government is said to have offered liberal inducements to the Vanderbilt system to route their transcontinental traffic over the National Tehuantepec railroad. It is stated here on good authority that the Vanderbilt interests will establish a line of steamships to ply between New York, Boston and the Atlantic terminus of the National Tehuantepec line, and between Salina Cruz, the Pacific terminus, and California and oriental points. The proposed arrangement is said to be the outcome of failure of negotiations by government endeavorers to have the Pacific Mail steamship line give its transcontinental traffic exclusively to the Tehuantepec route instead of dividing with the Panama line.
R. C. Couple, who is investigating the situation on behalf of the Vanderbilt lines, is now in the city of Tehuantepec for the purpose of obtaining a personal knowledge of the facilities afforded by the National Tehuantepec in handling the traffic.

Dr. Edwin F. Pades, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

The Biggest Kind of a Change that Ever Happened to Any Magazine Has Happened This Month to

THE SCRAP BOOK for July is issued in two sections—two complete magazines, each with its own cover and its own table of contents. One of these sections is an ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine; the other is an ALL-FICTION magazine. Each is a month's magazine in itself. The one presents an overwhelming array of human interest articles and illustrations; the other an enormous tonnage of fiction—100 pages of absorbing stories.

Ten years ago I created a new type of magazine—the ALL-FICTION magazine. Now I am creating another distinct type—the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine. This is the age of specialization. The conventional magazine, with its smattering of illustrations and its smattering of fiction, doesn't contain enough of any one thing to make it satisfying. The ALL-FICTION magazine and the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine, joined together as a unit, strengthen each other, and make something really big and forceful and convincing.

The Only Way to Know a Thing is to Try It

The two-section magazine idea is brand-new to the world. It is not quite new to me, however, as I have given it, at odd times, four or five years of thought. It first came into my mind in response to a desire to couple, in some way, the strength of the all-fiction magazine with the illustrated features of the conventional magazine. It has been a difficult problem to work out. Now that the idea is perfected, I wish to see what there is in it. It looks to me to be very good, but the only way to know a thing is to try it.

Two Magazines for a Quarter—Easy Money

The price of this two-part magazine is twenty-five cents, which is equal to twelve and one-half cents a magazine. Most magazines which were selling at ten cents have been advanced to fifteen cents. THE SCRAP BOOK in two parts means two magazines for twenty-five cents against thirty cents for two fifteen cent magazines.
