soon as they shake New York's dust from their boots exchange the side saddle for a man's saddle. A leading tailor of Gotham says: "The popularity of riding astride can't be judged by Central Park. I have orders for twice as many riding habits this spring as I had two years ago, and instead of making only the divided skirt I have two other styles equally popular. Both of these have breeches. One is worn with a short skirt and with a long-tailed coat—at least a long-tailed coat is ordered with the breeches, but often the breeches are worn with a short jacket or only a shirtwaist. The long coat is for dress up." The breeches displayed by the tailor were cut a trifle fuller perhaps than those worn by a man, a puckering of the material at the inner-seam giving an increased looseness over the knee, but with this exception they were a facsimile of another pair displayed which will be worn by a man rider. The long coat to match the breeches made also of a very dark brown habit cloth crossed with fine stripes of mixed green, was not unlike a man's long double-breasted frock coat fitted smoothly at the back and sides, the skirts attached about three inches below the waist line. This coat reaches to within six or seven inches of the floor when the wearer is standing and when she is on the horse the tails reach the stirrups. The short skirt to be worn with the breeches is novel. It is about the length of the skirt usually worn in playing golf and is somewhat circular in cut, with pleats back and front. It buttons from top to bottom, back and front under a fly when worn off the horse. When riding it becomes a loose short divided skirt by unbuttoning the two parts. The divided skirt most in favor at this tailor's establishment is bloomers and skirt combined formed of deep straight pleats, which suggest pleated trousers more than a skirt.

A New Way of Preserving Fruit.

A new process of preserving fruit which does away with much of the trouble and heat attendant on the old methods is described by a writer in the June number of the Ladies' World. The method is so simple and so little trouble that it deserves passing on to other housewives. In the first place, one should have on hand a quantity of clear, heavy syrup made by combining seven pounds of sugar with five pints of cold water. Stir and heat slowly over the fire, but without allowing it to come to the boil. This syrup should then be set away and is ready for use at a moment's notice. The fruit to be put up should be neither too ripe nor at all damp. It should be clean, so that it does not need washing. Sterilize the jars, tops and rubbers as usual. Fill the jars with fruit and pour in the heated syrup to overflowing; adjust rubbers and screw on the tops, then place in a large crock, which is better than a boiler, as it retains the heat longer. Pour boiling water around the jars, which should be so placed that they do not touch each other, until the jars are submerged. Put the cover of the crock in place and throw over it a large rug or carpet, or even a comfortable will answer. Let stand for 24 hours or until the water is cold; tighten the jar tops if it is necessary to do so, while they are under water; wipe off and place in store-room.

Silver in Vogue.

That French duke who said American women wore too many jewels in the daytime and were too fond of pearls and diamonds should be interested in hearing there is a strong liking for ornaments in silver. They are worn in the morning with simple attire. Miss Gladys Vanderbilt is especially fond of silver and has a beautiful belt buckle of that metal, with a brooch to match. They are lace-like in effect and of exquisite workmanship. Many persons have old-fashioned silver trinkets which were stowed away many years ago. These should be got out at once to take the place of ornaments that have lost their luster.

SALESMEN MAKE MERRY AT BANQUET

Jacobs-Stine Company Royally Entertains Guests at Portland Hotel.

Wishing to show appreciation for services rendered, the Jacobs-Stine company tendered a banquet to its corps of salesmen and a few other invited guests last evening at the Portland hotel. In all 30 participated, Fred Jacobs acting as host in the absence of Mr. Stine, who is in San Francisco. The affair was informal and each salesman present was called upon during the evening to relate his experience in disposing of lots in the rapidly selling Berkeley subdivision placed on the local market about three months ago by the firm. It developed that of 1,200 lots offered for sale all have been purchased save 300. Perhaps the talk of the evening which created most enthusiasm was that of A. E. Butterworth, a prominent real estate operator of Los Angeles. Mr. Butterworth was at one time deputy warden of San Quentin penitentiary, California, and later removed to

Los Angeles to engage in the real estate business. So impressed has he become with Portland and its future he announced last night he would soon return to California, close out his interests there and remove here.

JURORS FEAR THAT CONVICT WILL KILL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Boise, Idaho, June 25.—It is reported that Andrew Gilbert, who escaped from the penitentiary here about three weeks ago and for whom the penitentiary guards have since been scouring the country, is in hiding in the vicinity of Grangeville, the place from which he was sent to prison. It is thought he is in the section for the purpose of killing some of the jurors who sat on his case. Before he left Boise he stated that if he was ever released from the penitentiary he would do so, and there is considerable apprehension on the part of the jurors lest he carry out his threat. Several officers are now on his trail and are following him closely.
