THIS PRISONER LIKES VACATION

Elza Coon, Alleged Counterfeiter, Insists That Court Read Indictment.

Elza R. Coon, leader of the famous Coon counterfeiting gang, likes vacations from the county jail, where he has been residing for a year, even though they last but a few hours. His latest one was this morning, but he arranged his affairs so that he will get another brief one Thursday morning. Coon was brought into court last week with Williams and Johansen, two of his confederates, to be arraigned and plead to the charges in the indictment returned against the gang by the federal grand jury. Williams and Johansen pleaded not guilty. Coon asked for time in which to get a lawyer. He was given until yesterday. Not appearing in court on time his case was set down for this morning. He appeared and stated that he was too poor to hire an attorney, but hoped to have one by the time his case comes up for trial. Then Coon asked that the indictment be read to him, after which he would enter a plea. The indictment covers 21 closely typewritten pages of folio and Judge Wolverton stated that he was too busy this morning with other cases to grant the time required in reading the indictment. He accordingly set Thursday morning as the day on which Coon can listen to the charges of conspiracy to counterfeit against him. It will give Coon a few more hours out of his cell at the county jail. Coon is the first defendant who has insisted upon the reading of the indictment since they were returned by the grand jury which was discharged about a month ago. He has been in prison before and knows all the rights of a defendant, but even members of the post-office gang waived the reading of their indictment which is a mere form that is not carried out very often.

NOTED PHARMACIST GUEST AT DINNER

Professor Remington, Dean of Philadelphia College, Tendered Honors by Alumni.

Alumni of the Philadelphia School of Pharmacy tendered a dinner to Professor Joseph P. Remington, dean of the school, at the Portland hotel last night. Professor Remington is in Portland visiting friends on his tour of the Pacific coast. He is one of the leading authorities on pharmacy. There are five graduates of the Philadelphia school in Portland, all of whom are leading pharmacists. At the table last night they carried out a color scheme of the college colors of blue and white. The evening was delightfully spent in recounting stories of college days and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Joseph P. Remington.

Professor Remington arrived in Portland Saturday night and has been taking in the sights since. This is his first visit to the coast and he is delighted with his trip. He is a member of the class of 1868 of the Philadelphia school and has been connected with the college since graduation. The school is one of the oldest in the country, having been established by Benjamin Franklin. Professor Remington leaves for California tonight.

IRISH FACTORY IS CLOSED DOWN

British Home Office Forces Explosive Works to Suspend Operations.

(Journal Special Service.) Dublin, June 25.—District of the present British government's protestations of friendship for Ireland has been intensified by the action taken by the home office in closing the explosive works of Messrs. Kynochs (Ltd.) at Arklow. Messrs. Kynochs are an English firm, but they have shown practical sympathy with Ireland by establishing a great industry which has been employment to 800 people and spent $2,000 a week in wages alone. In the town, the explosive factory has been running since 1851 and there has never been an accident. There has been no change in the method of manufacture, yet a few weeks ago the English government discovered that the process was dangerous and ordered the factory to be closed. Precisely similar processes are used in English factories which are not disturbed by the English officials. Herbert Gladstone, the home secretary, is simply applying to the explosives industry in Ireland the same methods which killed the Irish woolen industry in the reign of William III, and it would seem, for the same reason—to build up and protect the industries of England. That he is not disposed to listen to reasonable argument is shown by the fact that he has stubbornly refused to receive a deputation from Messrs. Kynochs and from the people of Arklow. That this is no fancy picture is borne out by Arthur Chamberlain, the chairman of Kynochs, who declared plainly that the action of the home secretary was dictated by hostility to Ireland.

KING DENIES WILD RUMORS

English Ruler Is Indignant Over Tales of Rupture With the Kaiser.

London, June 25.—In the bitter campaign which is being waged against Germany the king's name has been taken in vain more than once. His majesty has been represented as giving the cold shoulder to the kaiser on several occasions, and only the court officials know how angry the king has been over this attempt to provoke a quarrel. As a matter of fact, the king's one ruling thought is for peace. He does not pretend to have any great personal affection for his imperial nephew, but he is determined to put an end to a campaign which is already bearing evil fruits. It is an open secret that three great London newspapers declined the invitations to send their editors to Germany to return the visit which the German editors paid here last year, so that the visit of the remaining editors was not exactly a success. The king has now practically decided to meet and spend two days with the kaiser on his way to Marienbad next August, so as to put an end to all the dangerous gossip which is being indulged in. After the Marienbad "cure" the king will visit Count and Countess Festetics at their home in the Tyrol.

PECULIAR LITIGATION IN FEDERAL COURT

Judge Wolverton and Jury to Decide Complicated Legal Questions in This Case.

The case of the Oregon Round Lumber company against B. D. Straubel, administrator of the estate of Otto Pannier, the O. R. & N. Railway company, and the Portland & Astoria Steamship company, was begun before Judge Charles E. Wolverton in the United States district court this morning. The case is a peculiar one. The lumber company brought suit to recover $2,500 for the loss of its barge Monarch which sunk while engaged in loading coal on the steamer Arizonia. In return a cross bill was filed in which damages were asked against the lumber company for the death of Pannier, who was drowned while working on the barge. Straubel originally brought suit for $2,000 for Pannier's death against the railway and steamship company in the state court. The lumber company filed an answer asking that its liability for Pannier's death be limited to the value of the barge.

CLOUDBURST RUINS CROPS IN MONTANA

(Journal Special Service.) Billings, Mont., June 25.—A cloudburst did damage to the extent of $100,000, sweeping out five big bridges across the Billwater river north of here and drawing out miles of crops.

Don't Miss Your Astoria Train.
