Hats are now being chosen to or to contrast with the hair, but time to match the costume. hat may only be appropriately an all-white costume, or one

A white hat may only be appropriately worn with an all-white costume, or one which in effect is all white. White collars and cuffs of lace, fine or heavy embroidery with sometimes an edge of lace ruffling, are much worn this season. They make a dark suit look fresh and smart, but are not worn on the very light colored suits. One of the novelties in jewelry is that jeweled bugs are coming back into favor. Upon a brooch which consists of two tiny gold bars are perched in the center three enameled lady bugs is quite perfect coloring. Another brooch set with pearls has an erquisite-ly enameled dragon fly with diamond studded wings mounted in the center. Sieeves are still worn elbow length and for card parties and dinners they with two or three wide lace ruffles. The very short sleeve is usually of white lace, chiffon or some other deli-cate material with a ruffle set under-ment to make it keep its place. The very quaintest of today's trim-mings are the narrow knife pleatings of tulle, taffets or chiffon or fine ribbon, which are sot on the edges of the other-wise flat ruffles or folds. Tulle pleat-ings as a finish to ribbon, lace or em-proidery edges as well as those of plain cloth. The jumper dress which has been in-

As a whole, to make it, in truth, a scheme, a picture in which there is har-monious quality and color. And until our women consider their costumes in antirety-from hat to heels, we shall not be relieved of mongrel mixtures. Thench methods in dress are ever-ting proof that unity of purpose is the primary essential. Good dressing is never happens. It is born out of natural sifts and great labor. The coal left here by the Consumers' Coal Co. is as good as any coal we have burned since we have lived in Portland. If there is plenty of that coal it will be a great boon to Port-land. MRS. R. D. RECTOR, Ivanhoe Station, Portland, Or.

Consumers' Coal Co. The 40 100 - pound sacks of coal from your mine arrived at 11:00 a. m. Wednesday, June 26, 1907, at our plant, and 32 sacks of the coal were tried in one of our 150-horse-power bollers, running a period of six hours during the heavy part of our days operation, and found the coal to burn freely and give its re-quired heat, and proved satisfactory. The balance of the coal was called for by different parties in the city, who used it in cook stoves and pro-nounced it as good as any coal they ever used. FRANK SCHMITZ, Supt. WALTER VIVIAN, Chf. Engineer, Star Brewery, Vancouver, Wash.

from your mines on the Cowlitz River, Wash. Have used a portion of it in kitchen range for cooking meals. It is a very satisfactory coal for domestic pur-poses, burns freely, is exceptionally free from smoke and soot; produces a hotter fire than the best old growth fir wood, lasts well, and burns to a brown ash with almost no "clinkers." I shall be ploased to secure a supply of this coal for family use. H. E. DICKINSON. Atty, 408 Commercial Bldg., City.

The coal sent from your mine is re-ceived, and will say it burns up clear and bright and makes a splendid heat. It is O. K. J. W. LOGAN, Ivanhoe Station, Portland, Or.
